CARDINAL PACELLI ELECTED PONTIFF

Papal Secretary Of State Takes Highest Office In Roman Church

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2.

CARDINAL EUGENIO PACELLI, former Papal Secretary of State, has been elected Pope in succession to the late Pius XI.

It is announced that he will be called Pope Pius XII.

His election to-day was announced by Caccia Dominioni, one of the Curial Cardinals.

A few minutes later, Cardinal Pacelli himself appeared on the balcony to the sound of the Papal March played on silver trumpets, while the crowd in the square shouted "Long Live The Pope."

Three lines of soldiers kept the crowd away from the steps of St. Peter's, but there were several accidents, and in the rush many women fainted and were lifted to the back over the shoulders of the crowd.

FIRST BENEDICTION

The new Pope imparted his first Papal benediction and the crowd cheered him wildly.

EXCITED CROWD

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2. White smoke, indicating the election of a new Pope, emerged from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel at 5.30 p.m. to-day, and caused tremendous excitement among the huge crowd which had gathered on Piazza San Pietro, more so since it was without precedent that a new sovereign Pontiff had been elected on the first day of the Conclave, and such an early result was wholly unexpected.

The announcement of the name of the new Pope was awaited with intense eagerness, but over half an hour elapsed before Cardinal Caccia Dominioni, in his capacity as senior Cardinal, appeared on the balcony of St. Peter's to proclaim the election of Cardinal Pacelli.

The announcement was received with thunderous applause by the dense crowds in the square.—Trans-Ocean.

As he retired from the balcony, the great bell of St. Peter's began to peal, the lights in the square were lit, and the crowd began to disperse. The conclave of 62 Cardinals had elected the Pope with their third ballot.—Reuter.

INVESTING NEW POPE

As soon as the necessary two-thirds majority had been obtained in the Vatican Conclave, the ceremony of investing the new Pope with his robes of office began.

Cardinal Dean Granito di Belmonte advanced to the throne occupied by Cardinal Pacelli, and asked him in Latin whether he accepted the election, to which Cardinal Pacelli replied in the affirmative.

Cardinal Pacelli was then asked what name he had selected, to which the Cardinal replied without hesitation that it was Pius Twelfth, and presented, in a short Latin address, his reasons for choosing this name.

In the meantime, two Cardinals on either side of him had withdrawn from the throne as a sign of reverence, and at the conclusion of the Pope's address, the Cardinals left their places to group themselves around him and to offer congratulations.

BURNING THE BALLOT

Cardinal Dean then opened the door of the Sistine Chapel and admitted the Secretary of the Sacred College, Monsignor Santorio, and the Prefect of Ceremonies, Monsignor Resphigi, who accompanied the new Pontiff to the sacristy of the Chapel, where three sets of white robes had been laid out.

During this time the balloting cards and straw were being burned in the Chapel to announce that a new Pope had been chosen. The Sistine Chapel, Pope Pius XII was conducted to the provisional altar beneath the central tapestry where he ascended to the Prelate throne. Led by Cardinal Dean, the Cardinals then filed past him each kissing his right foot, and then embracing him, this being the first act of veneration for the new Pontiff.

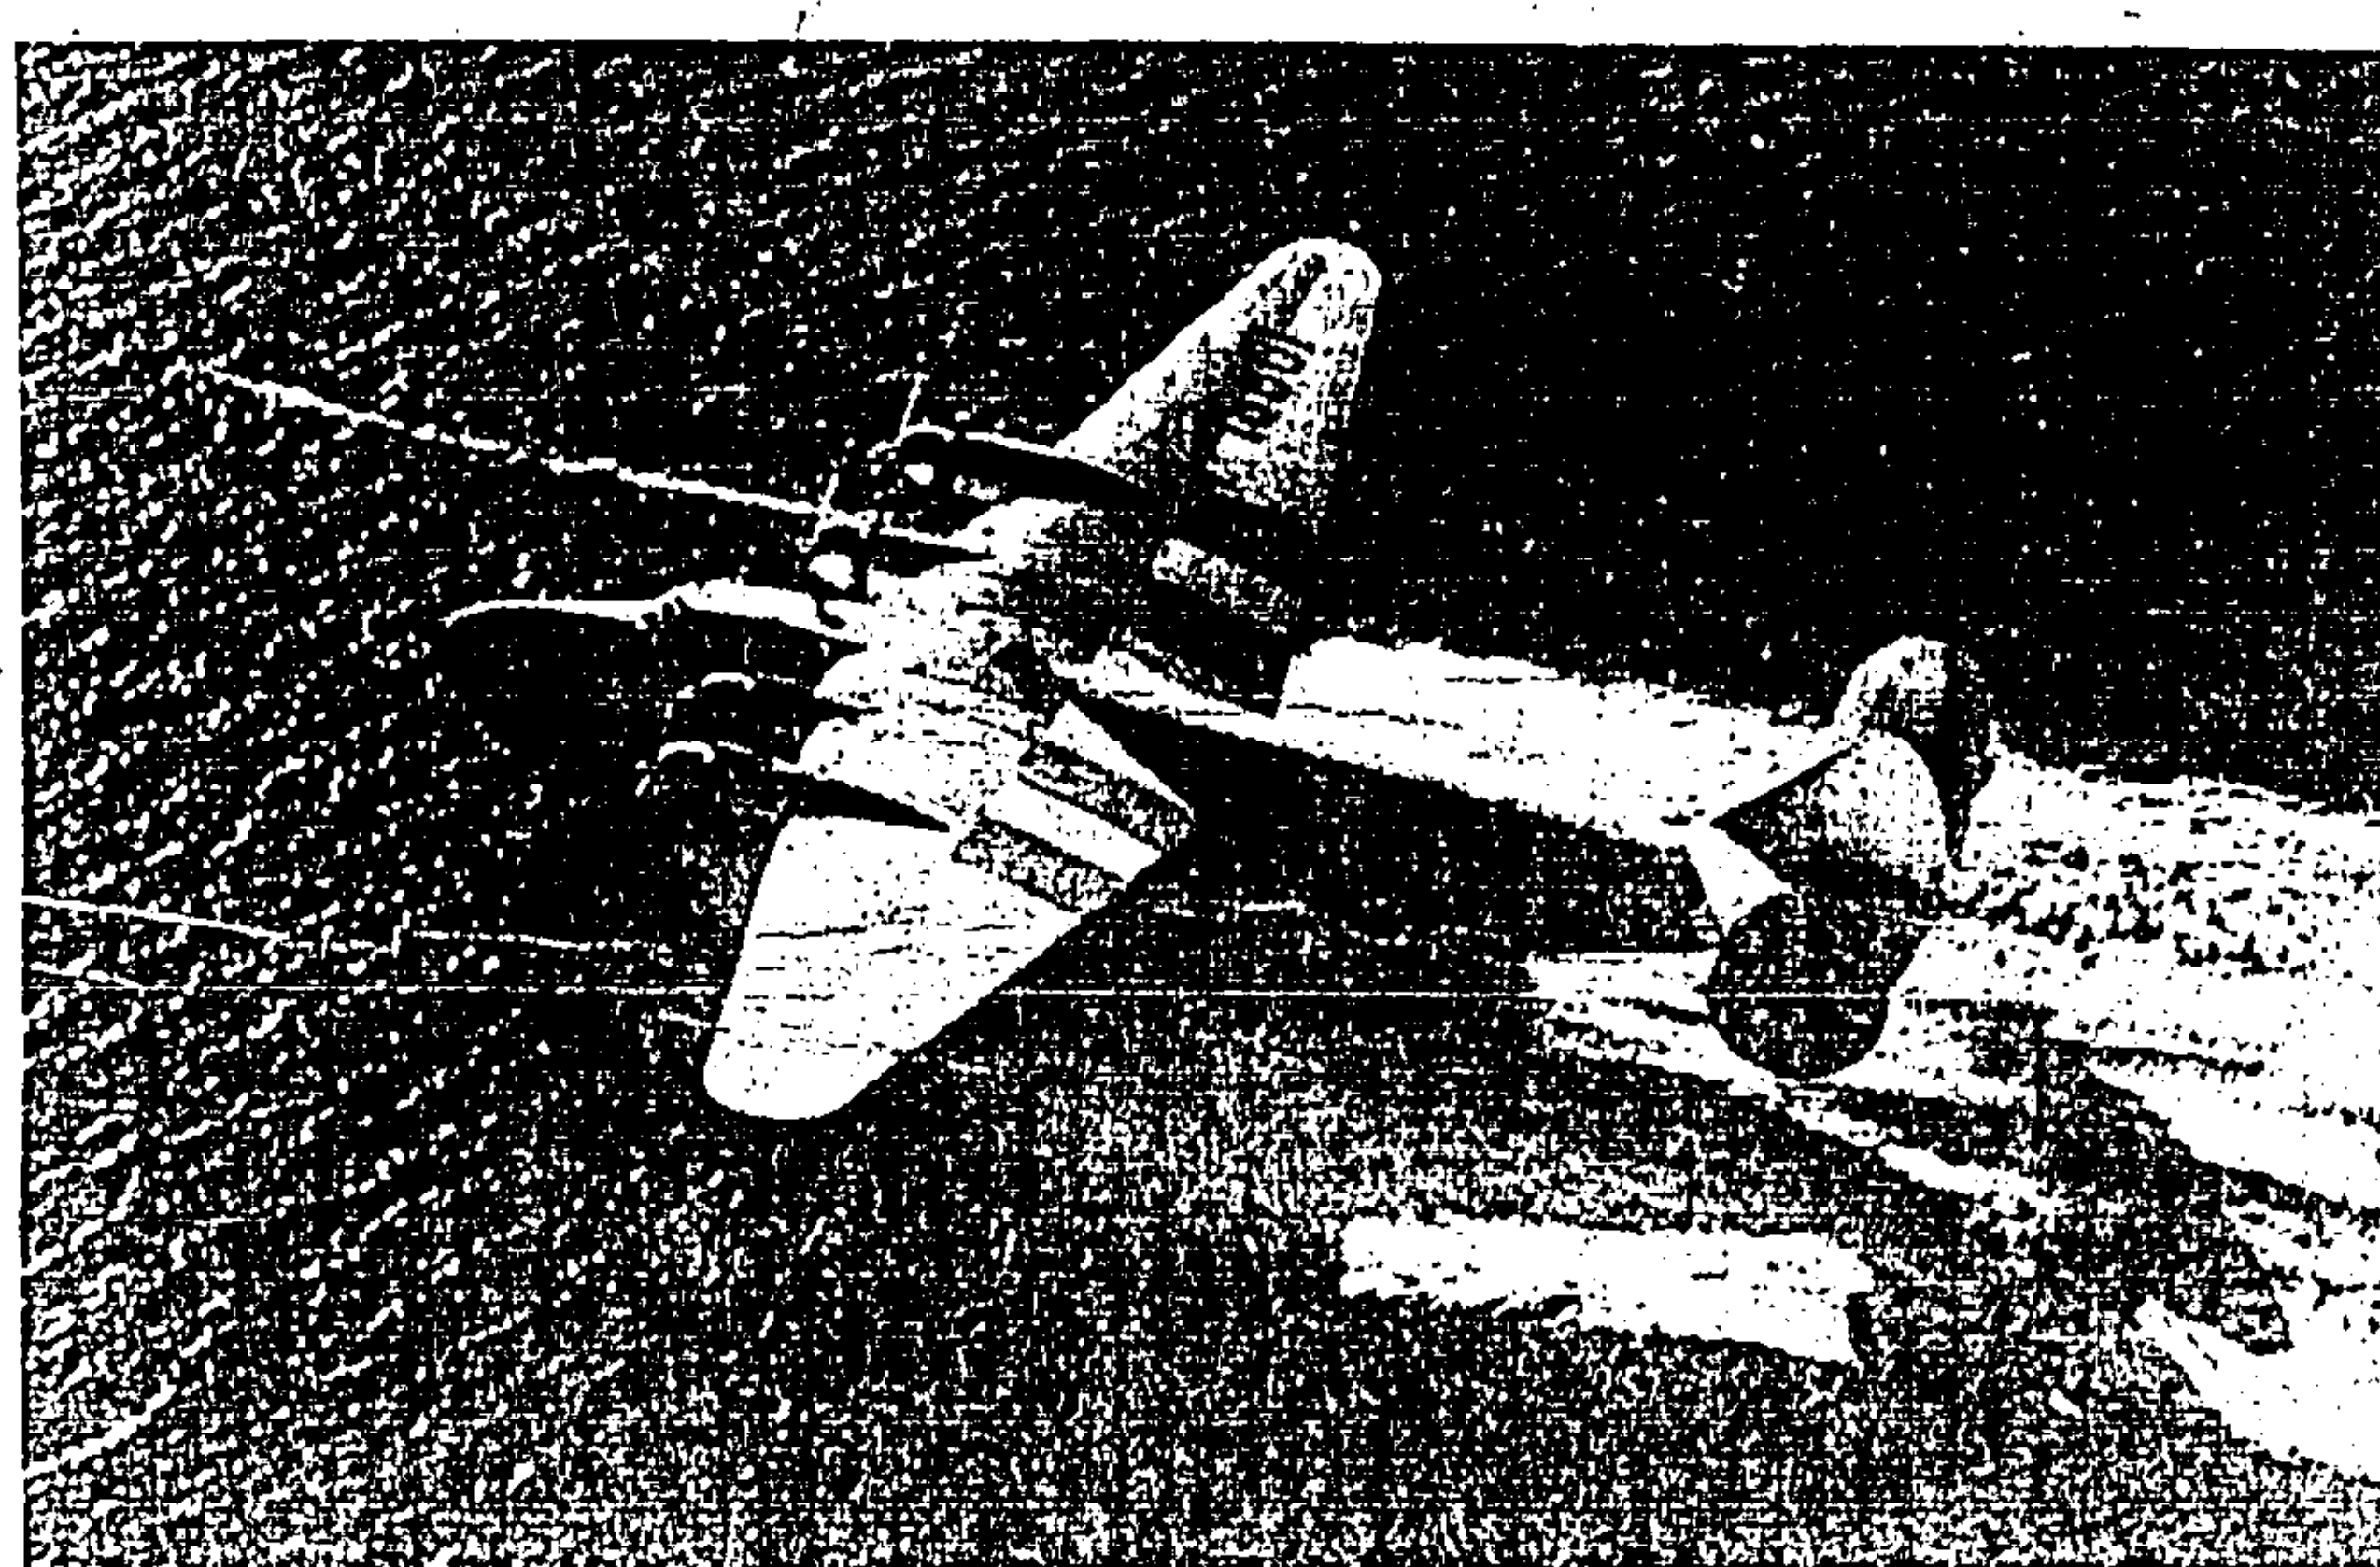

This concluded, Cardinal Caccia Dominioni preceded with two Masters of Ceremony to the Benediction Loggia of St. Peter's to announce the name of the new Pope.

APOSTOLIC BLESSING

THE NEW BOEING CLIPPER

40-Ton Clipper Leaves Manila For Hongkong: Due Here Midday

Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong, Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong.

In this dramatic fashion and with all the elements of a Hollywood aviation picture, one man to-day is telling the world of one of the most amazing flights of all time.

J. E. Weesner, First Radio Officer of the Boeing Clipper, is flashing out news from the 40-ton steel monster as it charts its way through the air towards Hongkong at 176 miles an hour.

The plane hopped off from Manila at 7.39 a.m. and should circle the city of Hongkong at about 11.30 a.m.

The world's largest commercial transport plane, on completing its 11,000 mile test flight from the Treasure Island base in San Francisco will be handed over to a small army of mechanics, experts, greasers. Careful checking and calculating will be made of the plane's performance.

The following is a list of the crew and technical experts aboard, there being no passengers:

Captain W. A. Gathe, Captain F. J. Leland as First Officer, Second Officer E. C. Bierer, Third Officers S. T. Peters and R. C. Howard, First Engineer J. E. Prunty, Second Engineer J. C. Smyser, Second Radio Officer S. Cummings, First Steward R. Donham, Second Steward I. Tier, Third Steward H. Chenco.

Technical Experts: Mr. H. D. Panettier, Boeing Service Representative, W. E. Beall, Boeing Project Engineer, F. W. Weigand, Wright Aeronautical Company Engineer, J. Caffrey, Wright Service Engineer, A. Gray, Pan American Airways Communications Officer, T. Ramsey, P.A.A. Assistant Operations Manager, Pacific Division, Andre E. Priester, P.A.A. System Chief Engineer, W. Miller and J. Boudwin, Civil Aeronautics Authority, and Messrs. F. Stenham and J. G. Lossow.

Before landing at Kai Tak the plane will circle the harbour. It is understood that none other than the 250 invited guests will be allowed to look over the plane this trip, though opportunity will always be available for members of the public to see over the machines at the end of other flights.

GOVERNOR TO SEE PLANE

The Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, and other government officials will be shown over the plane at 2.45 p.m. and invited members of the public will be shown through afterwards.

COLOSSAL BRITISH DEFENCE EXPENSES

Peace Time Budget Record

LONDON, Mar. 2. SIR JOHN SIMON, the Chancellor of the Exchequer will be faced with an unprecedented peace-time total expenditure exceeding £1,250,000,000 to be found in the coming year when he introduces the budget next month.

As the Government has decided to raise £350,000,000 of the sum under the Defence Loans Act, the amount for which the taxpayers will be responsible will be reduced to something over £900,000,000, or, in all probability, rather less than the total ordinary expenditure for the current year, which is estimated at £945,000,000.

For this reason, it is regarded as certain that there will be income-tax increase in 1939.

With the Royal Air Force estimates published to-day, the total for the fighting services has reached £516,000,000, but the total for defence services, including civil defence for the coming year is estimated in a White Paper on defence at £680,000,000. Civil expenditure totals £535,000,000, or about £445,000,000 after half-balance items have been excluded, while an additional £10,000,000 may be required for supplementary civil estimates.

If to this is added debt charges, which may total £230,000,000, the total budget of £1,255,000,000 is reached.—Reuter.

ANOTHER PROTEST

Britain Objects To Tientsin Barricades

LONDON, Mar. 2. THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT has instructed its Consul-General in Tientsin to lodge a protest with the Japanese authorities against the erection of barbed wire fences, charged with electricity, around the international Concession.

It is stated that similar protests have been made by the United States and French governments.

The British Consul has also been instructed to ask for information concerning the reason for this measure.

Reports from Tientsin have created a certain amount of nervousness in political circles, which believe it possible that the alleged flight of certain anti-Japanese elements into the international Concession may furnish a pretext for Japanese intervention.

The Japanese are said to be building a new wide route around the Concession, and also a new bridge over the Peiho River with, it is assumed, the object of isolating the Concession.—Trans-Ocean.

WHEN IS A WAR NOT A WAR?—COURT QUERY

LONDON, Mar. 2.

"IS THERE A WAR between Japan and China?"

The question was raised by a case in which the Court of Appeal gave its decision.

Planes Can Lay Mines Now

GERMANY'S latest sea weapon is the minelaying airplane. Two types of planes have been perfected in this new duty, big aircraft that lay mines into the sea while they taxi, just like normal mine layers, and special type bombers that drop mines while they fly. The latter type, it is claimed, can lay a mine field while travelling at more than 100 m.p.h.

Last May, Mr. Justice (now Lord Justice) Goddard, held that a state of war existed in the sense in which the ordinary commercial man would use the word war, "without going into the niceties of international law."

The court heard an appeal by the Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd., of Kobe, against the judgment of Lord Justice Goddard that the Bannan Shipping Company of Cardiff was entitled to cancel the chartering of the steamship Naalsen Meadow to the Japanese company in September, 1937, because a clause in the charter-party permitted cancellation "if war breaks out involving Japan."

NO WAR, SAYS BRITAIN

Sir Stafford Cripps, for the Japanese company, said that the Foreign Office, in a letter answering a query by the company's solicitors, declared that "His Majesty's Government was not at present prepared to say that in its view war exists."

In giving judgment for the respondents and dismissing the appeal, the Master of the Rolls said that Lord Justice Goddard was manifestly right.

"War might break out without the British Government recognising it," he said.

"Nobody in these days would have the temerity to suggest that war cannot exist without a declaration of war,"—Reuter.

£250,000 Hongkong Deal

Entire Ore Stocks Said Purchased

LONDON, Mar. 2.

THE RECENT GRANTING of wolfram agency rights by the National Resources Committee of the Chinese Government to a Peking syndicate is the chief topic of conversation among London dealers.

The arrangement strikes them as particularly interesting because last autumn, Japan openly avowed her intention of pressing on to China's antimony mines.

The entire stock in Hongkong is reported to have been purchased by the syndicate, which, if a fact, would involve well over £250,000.

It is pointed out that the German barter agreement will automatically expire, and therefore the recently reported suspension of operations by the "Hapag" German trading agency in China for wolfram, tung oil, etc., would appear to be in the nature of intelligent anticipation.

Reports that the Chinese are producing in areas which have passed under Japanese control are believed to be erroneous, though transport to Hongkong will probably prove difficult.—Reuter.

Dublin's Move To Suppress Seditious

Dublin, Mar. 2. Moving the second reading in the Dail of the Offences Against the State Bill, designed to deal with the Irish Republican Army, Mr. Rutledge, Minister of Justice, said that it was well-known that the I.R.A. possessed arms, and were trained to use arms, and got money from outside the country.

The country was quiet now, but in view of past history, and certain evidence they had, it might not remain quiet, and whilst the Government did not fear that force, they wanted to deal with it should the necessity arise.

"They would permit nobody to use force to secure political or social aims, and the Bill was aimed at preventing the country from drifting into civil war,"—Reuter.

No More Czech Arms For Russia

Prague, Mar. 2. Arms and munitions are not allowed to leave Czechoslovakia for Soviet Russia after April 1, according to reliable information.

Czechoslovakia is at present sending supplies to the Soviet under contracts concluded before September last.

Armaments factories are working at great pressure day and night, and even on Sundays, in order to fill the contracts as completely as possible.—Reuter.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Mar. 2.

Twenty-four persons are reported to be missing as a result of a fire which completely destroyed a hotel here to-day.

The number of dead is not known, but 25 people were taken to the hospital.—Reuter.

SPOKE TO TEN JURORS ABOUT HIS CASE

A LITIGANT who admitted that after a case was over he talked to every member of the jury except two was rebuked in the Court of Appeal.

The court dismissed an appeal in person by Mr. Lawrence William Worden, of Lammack-road, Blackburn, who suggested that £5 awarded to him in his action at Manchester Assizes against the Midland Bank was inadequate.

Mr. Worden alleged that the bank had committed a breach of contract and libelled him by sending back a cheque which he drew for £2 15s. 3d., endorsed "refer to drawer."

BANK DENIED MALICE

The bank admitted that when it returned the cheque there was sufficient in Mr. Worden's account to meet it, but denied malice.

The bank made a payment into court, and Mr. Worden got judgment for £5, with costs up to the date of payment in, and the bank was given costs after that date.

Mr. Worden suggested to the Court of Appeal that the jury's verdict for £5 was arrived at as a compromise.

Lord Justice Scott: You must not say that. You can't know that, unless you have been talking to members of the jury, and that would be very wrong.

Mr. Worden: I have, but it was started by other people talking first.

Lord Justice Scott: Have you talked to every member of the jury?

Mr. Worden: Yes, all except two.

"VERY IMPROPER"

Lord Justice Scott: That was a very seriously improper thing to do. No litigant has a right to talk to members of the jury after the case is over and ask what they did as jurors.

Lord Justice Goddard: You have no right to know what goes on in the juryroom. Judges have no right to know, and no one has any right to know. That is the beauty of the jury system.

Libel Suit Against K.C.

A libel action against Mr. E. G. Hemmerde, K.C., Recorder of Liverpool, and Miss Eileen MacDonald, a Manchester barrister, is pending in the High Court at the suit of Mr. Wilfred John Clark, managing clerk to Messrs. T. H. Hinchcliffe & Sons, solicitors, of Manchester.

It has been set down for hearing in the King's Bench Division special jury list.

Mr. Hemmerde and Miss MacDonald appeared for Mrs. Lovick, a young ex-typist, who was the central figure of the Lovick v. Lazarus "malice" case.

A retrial at Manchester Assizes ended on March 11 last year with a settlement in favour of Mrs. Lovick for £5,000 damages and £4,200 costs.

Dead Three Minutes, Given Life

NEW YORK.

MRS. Bella Sutterman, aged 57, of the Bronx, "died" for three minutes recently.

Two days later she was resting comfortably, very much alive and likely to recover from the illness which "killed" her.

HELPED BY POLICE

Dr. Maurice Goodwin, a graduate of the University of Graz (Austria), who accomplished this modern miracle with the aid of a police emergency squad, was called in when Mrs. Sutterman collapsed after an asthmatic attack.

"The woman was dead," Dr. Goodwin asserted afterwards. "There was no heart action and no pulse. She was not breathing and was cold and rigid."

Dr. Goodwin applied artificial respiration and administered adrenalin chloride and yergolin. After four minutes he detected breathing.

OXYGEN USED

He summoned the police, who used an oxygen apparatus for three hours, consuming three tanks of oxygen, as the patient gradually returned to life.

Dr. Goodwin said he thought Mrs. Sutterman suffered from paralysis of the respiratory centre of the brain, caused by drugs prescribed for asthma.

New Arms Seen By The King

Some of the secret armaments which are being developed for the Royal Air Force and for some branches of the Army were seen by the King recently in the course of a visit of two hours' duration paid by his Majesty to the experimental and development works of Nash and Thompson, Limited, at Tolworth, Surrey.

A number of power-operated gun turrets fitted with one, two, or more guns and set in representations of aircraft fuselages were shown to the King and were worked by mechanics in his presence. In one case a pencil was placed in the barrel of one of the guns protruding from the turret, and while the King watched, the operator worked the turret so that the pencil wrote the King's name on a piece of paper held in front of it by one of the mechanics. The King took charge of this exhibit afterwards and carried it away with him.

A number of developments of various kinds of guns were also exhibited and his Majesty later walked through the works, examining the apparatus of production, among which were some diamond turning tools, some special machine tools developed by the firm for particular kinds of work, and the X-ray apparatus. Subsequently the adaptation of a gun turret for use in a tank was also seen by the King.

SHE WEARS 20,000 FROCKS A YEAR

"SOME women are sorry for me because I have to wear 20,000 frocks a year," said Helen Mac Paul, a 19-year-old mannequin who arrived in London from New York recently with a trunkful of clothes.

She is the girl who shows wholesale gown-buyers the kind of frocks that women in New York, London and Paris want to wear.

"I never see the women who buy the gowns that I model," she said, flicking the fringe of a white silk frock that she wore under an ermine coat.

"But this I will say: Hundreds of those gowns are worn by women who shouldn't look at them. I shudder to think of a stout woman struggling into this gown, for instance."

Miss Paul, being 5ft. 7½ in. tall, with a waist measurement of 24½ in., can wear any kind of frock.

"This one," she said laughingly, "will cost any other woman £40 to buy, and the cost would cost £200, but I get them wholesale."

"I have to spend at least a third of my salary on clothes. Tell the other girls that."

"I have some worrying times when showing frocks to sweethearts and husbands of women customers. The men all want to know if their wives and girl friends will look like me. Well, I ask you."

Miracle Drugs Start "A New Era"

A NEW group of drugs which will cure in a few days patients suffering from such diseases as pneumonia, scarlet fever, puerperal fever, erysipelas, and septicaemia is revolutionising medical science.

The method is known as Chemotherapy and is totally different from the old system of antiseptics and serums.

The drugs belong to the sulphonamide group, and the possibilities of further research are enormous. According to a Harley-street doctor, bacterial infection should hold no terrors for anyone in the future. "They introduce a new era in medicine," he said.

Most important of the three drugs is M and B 693, which has been proved to be a specific against pneumonia and meningitis. The lives of 200 people suffering from pneumonia have been saved by this drug, which is now in routine use in London hospitals. During clinical tests only eight cases out of 100 died, while out of 40 children on whom it was tried there were only two deaths.

YOU MAY TURN BLUE

Next in importance to M and B 693 is Penicillin, which was discovered by a German. It is said to cure immediately such diseases as scarlet fever.

A curious feature of this drug is that a patient who is taking it will turn blue if he eats anything containing sulphur, such as eggs or saline aperients. This condition, which at first gave medical men a shock, is temporary, and harmless.

The third drug in the sulphonamide group is Uteron, which is a specific against certain skin diseases which cause softening and destruction of the bones, and are frequently fatal.

At present the drugs are not obtainable by subscribers to the National Health Insurance scheme.

Cook Summons Her Mistress — And Loses

THE Hon. Mrs. Joan Meager, of Welbeck-avenue, Hove, and her daughter Elizabeth, gave evidence at Hove Police Court recently when Mrs. Meager was summoned by her former cook, Mrs. Mabel Singleton, for an alleged assault on Christmas Eve. The magistrates dismissed the case.

Mr. A. J. Jenkins, for Mrs. Singleton, said that when she went into the dining-room for luncheon Mrs. Meager threw down a 10s. note on the table and said: "There's 10s. of your wages; you can whistle for the rest."

Mrs. Meager, he said, then hit Mrs. Singleton, breaking her glasses. Mr. Leslie Bunker, for Mrs. Meager, said she gave Mrs. Singleton 10s. promising her the rest later. Mrs. Singleton then picked up her fur coat, and said she would take it until all her wages had been paid. Mrs. Singleton later seized Miss Elizabeth Meager by the throat. In separating them Mrs. Meager pushed Mrs. Singleton away, and her glasses were knocked off.

She's Rich But Wants £60,000

Some of the world's wealthiest art dealers called recently on Lady Widdie-Griffiths, widow of the multi-millionaire Sir Richard Widdie-Griffiths, at her Kensington flat—to see six pictures which she wanted to sell from her collection of 400.

She estimated that the six—which include a self-portrait by Rembrandt—are worth about £60,000.

FIGHTING FOR RIGHTS

"Before the war my husband owned the mineral rights of thousands of square miles of territory now in the Sudetenland and Czechoslovakia," she said.

"But when he died, his mines had been absorbed into Germany and Czechoslovakia."

"I am still fighting to get my claims in those countries recognised."

"I am not forced to sell these pictures, but I find the insurance on them a very heavy charge."

"I shall not sell them unless the prices are worth while."

White Man in Africa

"HISTORY looking back in retrospect on the part played by Imperial Powers in Africa will be more concerned with the nature of the contribution which the European occupation will have made to the future of the African peoples, than with the profit or loss which the African connection may have brought to Europe."

These words appear in a comprehensive study of African conditions written by Lord Hailey, a distinguished ex-Indian Civil Servant, under the auspices of those authoritative institutions, the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London. They are words which have special application to Germany's now pressing demand for colonies in the African continent. They suggest a criterion that has not always been remembered by white folk in their relations with the 150,000,000 Africans.

This criterion is how would any concession to the Reich of the kind that is asked for, affect the people who would thereby be placed under German guardianship?

It may be that what has happened to the Jews in Germany is not a standard whereby to judge the issue involved. Nevertheless, expectation of the future can only be based upon consideration of what is past. In considering the future of races which have not yet reached the stage of ability to rule themselves, all applicable facts no doubt will be taken into account by those responsible for colonial readjustments.

Language and Learning

SPEAKING recently at a meeting in London, Mr. L. A. G. Strong, author, put forward reasons for more and better teaching of English. It is a plea that one hopes will not go unheeded by those concerned; for it happens too frequently in the schools that the child's mother tongue is not regarded as the chief foster parent of his learning; and that there is a tendency to see in the classic, or the foreign language, in natural science, or "maths," or history, a fairy godmother who is able, somewhat inexplicably, to do more for him.

It is understandable that there should be controversy over the relative emphasis to be laid on the various aims of education, and, consequently, over the relative importance of the subjects on the syllabus; but it ought to be recognized that the study of English transcends such controversy. For the English-speaking child can reach the Pierian spring only through a well of English unclouded. If he has inadequate command of his native tongue, he cannot express his thoughts clearly, and will find it difficult to progress in nearly every subject; while what knowledge he does acquire must remain, for the most part, as "loads of learned lumber in his head."

S P A I N

"No one would help them." From Goya's "Disasters of the War," which illustrate what he saw during Napoleon's campaign in Spain (1746-1828) was one of Spain's greatest painters and cartoonists

With fortitude the Spanish people endure the tribulation which the policy of non-intervention has brought upon them. But it would be sentimental folly to close our eyes to the fact that courage alone cannot prevent the passage of a mercenary army equipped with all that is best from the factories of Germany and Italy.

Death rains from the skies upon the civilians who flee before the advancing troops; and it rains because the Spanish people have no means of preventing it from so raining. Rebel troops enter Spanish towns because there are no weapons to bar their way.

ITS population, swollen by refugees who prefer the discomforts and near-starvation of Government Spain to the "Christian" nobility of Franco, central Spain still remains intact, beneath the leadership of Minja, its popular commander-in-chief.

Appeals to "save democracy" will avail nothing with the present rulers of Britain: it is not ideology but hard facts that they might yet make the British Government see sense.

More and more people in this country—Tories, Service men, reactionaries and Imperialists—are coming to see the imminent peril of letting Franco win.

The sacred force of "non-intervention" has brought the guns and aeroplanes of the dictators into positions of deadly danger to the democracies of Britain and France.

The French now have a third frontier to defend—the Pyrenees. Their communications with their African armies are threatened from Barcelona and Majorca. Their camps and industries in the south of their country have come within easy reach of totalitarian bombers operating from Spanish aerodromes.

AS for Britain and the Empire, a glance at the map indicates the tremendous threat to our communications a Fascist regime in Spain must mean—both in the Mediterranean and even on the long sea route.

The safety of the British people is quite literally at stake in the Spanish struggle, and the British people are being forced by their Government to stand by impotently while that safety is destroyed.

Philip Jordan

IS NOT BEATEN

FOR more than 30 months the people of Spain have endured a ruthless war of invasion, designed by tyrants to wrest from them such democratic liberties as those which we enjoy as a matter of course.

For more than 30 months the people of Spain, abandoned by those who, for no more than selfish reasons, should have succoured them, have stayed the march of tyranny. And they have stayed it at a cost in human life and human suffering which no man can yet compute.

THE war is not yet ended. Over and over again in the last 30 months it has seemed as though nothing could prevent a final subjugation of that proud people; and over and over again, drawing strength from the spiritual certainty that their cause is just, the Spanish people have renewed their strength to resist; and have made their enemies to halt. Because they have done that, the rest of Europe is at peace.

In July, 1936, upon the suggestion of Leon Blum, then Socialist Prime Minister of France, the system of so-called "non-intervention" was adopted, although it must have been obvious to all the Governments who subscribed to it that no arrival in Spain of the more powerful weapon could national Brigade.

From the beginning of the conflict, which, without inter-ventions, the Spanish Government could soon have ended, of right and justice sent them Italy and Germany laid their military resources at the disposal of the rebels, demanding comrades.

At no time throughout the whole war did their number ever exceed 36,000; and for the greater part of the time their maximum strength was 10,000. How many gave their lives we do not yet know; but when they were finally withdrawn from battle, under the auspices of a League of Nations commission, it was found that out of about 2,000 men who went from Great Britain 543 had given their lives.

In Great Britain, as in other democratic countries, popular feeling throughout the war has been at variance with Government policy, just as to-day the "jitter-bugs" are to be found not among the common man but in the ranks of the governing classes and the Cabinet.

But because of Government policy it has been possible for the British people to do no more than send food to Spain.

More than 130 British ships carrying food to the women and children of Spain have been attacked by German and Italian airmen, flying in the service of their rulers. Such attacks, many of which an impartial commission has drawn down as deliberate, have drawn from the British Prime Minister the statement that "it is not nice" to hear of such attacks on the British flag and on British subjects, but nothing more vigorous than that.

TO-DAY the greater part of Spain is under German and Italian control; but the spirit of those who still defend the country is as strong as ever.

"We had a magnificent view here till they tore down the theatre across the street!"

Closing Down

"SAYS the Berliner Tageblatt . . ."

You won't see that in the news columns again; for the famed, much-quoted German newspaper has gone off the news stands in Berlin.

So the second best known newspaper in Germany ceases publication. Perhaps you have already forgotten the other one—Vorwärts, once, quoted throughout the world as the mouthpiece of German democratic opinion. Then Hitler came.

It was with Hitler, too, that there came really the end of the Berliner Tageblatt. Under its famous editor, Theodor Wolff, the newspaper was the champion of Liberalism in Germany, quoted nearly every day in Britain as the expression of opinion in the old German Republic.

In 1933 it ceased to be important and was brought into the line with the Nazi point of view.

So the old newspapers go, others take their place. Most quoted now of the German newspapers as you know is the Volkischer Beobachter, because it is the official paper of the Nazi Party. Do you know who its first editor was? Adolf Hitler.

Next in importance now stands the angry Angriff, which is smartly written, but extravagant in tone and opinion. It is important because it is the mouthpiece of Dr. Josef Goebbels, Hitler's strident Minister of Propaganda.

In France there have been changes too, but there it is the newspapers which continue and the proprietors who change. Paris has about 40 newspapers, and of 30 of them you may say that nobody knows who is paying them to express the opinions they do.

In the United States we can recall two or three well-known names now among the dead, such as the World, the New York American, and the New York Herald.

Most quoted New York newspapers are now the Herald-Tribune and Times, both expressing balanced opinions on foreign affairs.

But among the most widely read New York journals are the News and Mirror, small sized newspapers, ex-

Record

All preparations have been completed by the Superintendent of Kai Tak airport, Mr. A. J. R. Moss, for the handling of the Boeing Clipper, the world's largest plane, which is expected to arrive here between 11 a.m. and 11.30 a.m. to-day.

The Clipper left Guam at 4.30 a.m. Hongkong time yesterday, and completed the 1,760 miles journey to Manila in 9½ hours at an average speed of 175 miles an hour, a record for the crossing. The plane landed at Manila at 2 p.m.

The plane is bringing a crew of twelve, and twelve technical experts are aboard studying the progress of the flight.

Members of the public who have been invited by Pan American Airways to view the plane have been requested not to reach Kai Tak before 3.30 p.m., as immediately after arrival the plane will be handed over to the mechanical staff.

The plane will leave on the return flight to California at 8.30 a.m. on Saturday.

Reception at Manila

Manila, Mar. 2. Completing the first trans-Pacific crossing, the Boeing Clipper landed here at 1.55 p.m. after circling the city and enabling hundreds on the rooftops to see her.

Scores of people made the hour's motor trip to Cavite to inspect the world's largest transport plane, which was escorted to the landing area by a squadron of new U.S. Army bombers. The plane leaves for Hongkong to-morrow.—United Press.

Arrival at Manila

Manila, Mar. 2. After flying over the city, the Pan-American Airways' new 64-passenger "Boeing 314" landed at Cavite air base at 2 p.m. to-day on the penultimate lap of the shake-down flight from San Francisco to Hongkong, to which place she will take off at dawn to-morrow.

Thousands of spectators were turned away from Cavite and only a few hundred invited were present to welcome the 11 members of the crew and 11 observers. They stated that the ship behaved splendidly, but they were held up two days at Wake owing to the weather.

Bringing mail to the Far East, the Boeing is the first of six 83,000-lb. machines shortly to be acquired by Pan-American Airways.—Reuter.

AIR FRANCE ARRIVES

The Air France plane Ville De Bangkok reached Hongkong at 1 p.m. yesterday with passengers, mail and freight from Hanoi.

Those aboard the plane included Mme. Syrejel, fine arts dealer from Paris, on a return business trip, M. de la Touche and M. Souhaitte, business-men from Hanoi.

Fresh Bomb
Outrages

London, Mar. 2. An explosion, audible for a radius of ten miles, occurred early this morning at the aqueduct over one of London's most important arterial roads at Willesden.

The aqueduct carries the Grand Union Canal over the road. A large hole was torn in the aqueduct wall, but the steel casing remained almost intact and prevented a disastrous flood.

Only a slight stream of water is running into the road. No personal injuries were caused. The nature of the explosion suggests another of the series of recent Irish Republican Army outrages.—Reuter.

Spain Developments

BRITISH INTEREST IN
RE-HABILITATIONWithdrawal Of Italian Troops
Requested By Franco

The rehabilitation of war-torn Spain is receiving the attention of British industrialists who are making preparations to receive big orders from the Franco Government, following the recognition of the regime by Great Britain.

Soviet comment on Anglo-French recognition is made in the Pravda which says that the decision marks a new stage in the development of a second Imperialist war directed primarily against Britain, France and the United States.

The insurgent command is finalising the offensive against Madrid, but it is believed in some quarters that the city will surrender.

Following the resignation of President Manuel Azana, Senor Martinez Barrio, President of the Cortes, has been elected President of Loyalist Spain.

London, March 1. British industrialists, hopeful of big orders from General Franco for the rehabilitation of war-torn Spain, are already visiting the offices of Franco's bankers, Messrs. S. Kleinwort & Sons, and the Spanish merchant house next door, the Juan March Co.

In addition three organisations, the British Federation of Industries, the London Chamber of Commerce, and the Institute of Exports, have already assigned experts or have appointed committees to study the possibilities and difficulties of a huge expansion of trade with Spain.

Indicative of the feeling of urgency it is announced that the British Federation of Industries will submit specific recommendations in the next few days to the Board of Trade.

The total trade, both exports and imports, with Spain last year amounted to £29,844,000, compared with £13,732,103 before the Spanish war reached the semi-blockade stage, but forthcoming trade should vastly surpass this in view of the acute shortage of houses, farm implements and other essentials, as well as the wholesale destruction of factories, shops and other buildings in Catalonia. The obstacles are admitted to be serious. Franco's financial position is considered serious even when the Bank of Spain's gold is restored to him. There is also the "inside track" enjoyed by Germany and Italy and their willingness to trade on barter terms which are not welcome to British traders.

Already one of the two Chambers of Commerce has drawn the attention of the Government to the necessity of resuming operating of the Anglo-Spanish clearing office, which was suspended in December 1936.—United Press.

RUSSIAN COMMENT

Moscow, March 1. The Pravda, giving the first official reaction to the British and French recognition of General Franco says: "The recognition marks a new stage in the development of a second imperialist war directed primarily against British, French and United States capitalist interests with the object of re-dividing the world to favour the aggressive countries at the expense of the so-called democratic Powers."

"The world is again witnessing a second Munich agreement, a monstrous go-between for British and French diplomacy and Fascist aggressors, through the mediation of the Burgos government, the adventurer and lackey of the Rome-Berlin axis."—United Press.

ASKED TO WITHDRAW FROM SPAIN

Paris, Mar. 2. General Franco has asked Signor Mussolini to withdraw his Italian legation, according to information given to the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber, by M. Georges Bonnet. The request is said to have been conveyed to M. Duce by the Italian commander, General Gambara, who flew to Rome from Cadix after the recent victory parade in Barcelona.

Members of the Commission state that M. Bonnet declared Franco had told General Gambara, that the Barcelona parade should be considered as the Italian farewell appearance. They say they gathered from M. Bonnet that the request is opposed by certain Italian leaders who hope the civil war will continue in order to justify keeping their troops in Spain. The French Government, M. Bonnet is said to have added, is re-

Chungking, Mar. 2. A Chinese military report states that the total Japanese casualties on Hainan Island since the landing are over 5,000. Battles were taking place every day with guerrillas who have bases in the mountains. Over 1,000 Japanese troops have been sent to hospital in Hainan owing to the tropical climate to which the Japanese are not accustomed. New Air Route

Rangoon To China
Test Flight

Kunming, Mar. 2. An Imperial Airways plane is expected to arrive here from Burma at 11 a.m. to-day.

This will be the first time a foreign civil plane has flown over Chinese territory.

The plane, an Atalanta type machine, was originally scheduled to fly here from Rangoon to-day. It is, however, embarking on the flight one day ahead and arrived at Lashio at 12.40 p.m. yesterday. It is continuing its journey to Kunming this morning.

No passengers are carried on the plane. Only the captain and three other members of the crew are on board.

The Far Eastern manager of Imperial Airways has arrived here from Chungking to discuss with the local authorities the inauguration of a regular air service between China and Burma.—Central News.

It is learned that Lt. Commander A. D. S. Murray, Far East Manager of Imperial Airways, left Hongkong on Tuesday, though his name was not included with those of other passengers.

It is understood he has gone to Kunming and Chungking to complete arrangements for the Burma-China service, and to receive the pilot's official report on the completion of the present test flight from Rangoon to Kunming.

Lashio Airport

Chungking, Mar. 2. Aviation circles here say that despite the successful trial flights by the China National Aviation Corporation and Imperial Airways with a small type of plane, the inauguration of the Chungking-Rangoon regular service must be delayed at least until the Lashio aerodrome is completed.

Hundreds of Burmese labourers have been engaged to expand the landing field, which is small and does not permit the manoeuvres of giant transports.—Trans-Ocean.

Palestine

Proposals

London, Mar. 2. It is learned in authoritative quarters that the Arab counter-proposals do not involve rejection of the British Government's suggestion. It is understood that the Arab delegation will accept the idea of an independent Palestine State as the basis of discussion, but criticise the preliminary stages envisaged by the British Government as a means to this end.

It is believed that the delegates of the neighbouring Arab States completely agree with the views of the Palestine Arabs.—Reuter.

New Triple Alliance
Is Rumoured

London, Mar. 2. A number of Japanese Ambassadors and Ministers will meet in Berlin to-morrow to discuss whether the still unsigned triple alliance of Italy, Germany and Japan is to be so framed as to be directed against Britain and France (possibly the United States) as well as against the Soviet, according to the News Chronicle.

The paper says that the Japanese are increasingly active in an effort to protect themselves from the consequences of the reckless adventure in China, by the formation of an iron front against Russia and the democracies, but the European axis Powers are again wavering on the advisability of an alliance.

As the result of inquiries made by the paper in London, there is nothing to support the idea that a conference, if it is to be held, to have special significance. Neither the Japanese Embassy nor other quarters have knowledge of such a conference, and Mr. Shigemitsu is not going. In view of his importance in the Japanese diplomatic world it is unlikely that

Air Estimates

Huge
Increase
RevealedExpenditure Totals
£220,626,700

London, Mar. 2. The air estimates show a gross total of £220,626,700 as against £134,403,000 in 1938.

The net amount is £60,561,000 (a decrease of £2,940,000) reached after taking into account the issues to be made from defence loan as appropriations in aid, namely £142,000,000.

An accompanying memorandum explains that excluding loan elements, the resulting figure is £205,950,000, an increase of over 50 per cent. on the corresponding figure of 1938 when account is taken of the supplementary estimates.

The estimates provide for a subsidy of £2,000,000 for external air services in connection with civil aviation.—Reuter Special.

1,750 PLANES

London, Mar. 2. In a memorandum accompanying the estimates, Sir Kingsley Wood states it is proposed to raise the numerical strength of the air force personnel to 110,000, an increase of 22,000 as compared with last year.

At the close of the financial year 1938-39 the air force stationed in Great Britain will consist of 1,750 front line planes, to conform with the programme drawn up in 1936. The memorandum confirms that an experimental mail service by means of flying-boats will be organised over the North Atlantic in the summer of 1939.—Trans-Ocean.

CANADIAN DEFENCES

Ottawa, Mar. 2. The Prime Minister, Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, intervened sharply in a protracted defence debate to urge the need for haste.

"We may be called upon at any moment to consider questions far larger than any we have discussed yet," he said.

"I pray that will not come to pass, but every newspaper reader knows of the situation and we would be well advised to get along with our parliamentary business as rapidly as we can."—Reuter Special.

Gorin Said To Have Stolen
Information

Los Angeles, Mar. 1. During the spy trial to-day it was revealed that the United States Naval Intelligence reports which Mikhail Gorin is alleged to have stolen dealt with information concerning the reported co-operation of German, Japanese and Mexican agents.

The reports mentioned a powerful German raid which ate through the hull of a Japanese midget boat in Hawaii before the crew were able to dump it. It described a Japanese fishing craft with a radio so strong that it was able to communicate with Tokyo from California and which, it was asserted, carried acid in glass-lined drums. The acid, when mixed with salt water, was able to eat all metal, such as cables.

The Chief of the Naval Intelligence at San Pedro, Lieut. H. Clayborne, in a written account said that two Japanese arrested in 1937 were caught dumping acid near Terminal Island.—United Press.

ANNUAL RACE MEETING TO TERMINATE TO-MORROW

NINE EVENTS IN AN ATTRACTIVE BUT SHORTER PROGRAMME

(By "Captain Foster")

The Annual Race Meeting of the Hongkong Jockey Club will terminate to-morrow at Happy Valley. Racegoers are reminded that the first saddling bell will be rung at 1.30 p.m., instead of the usual eleven o'clock.

An attractive programme of nine races, including four handicap contests, will be presented to the racing public and chief interest will undoubtedly be centred on the two main events, the Professional Cup and the Australian Ponies' Championship.

It is almost certain that a strong battalion of children will be turning out to-morrow and although they are permitted in either enclosure, they will only be admitted in the company of their parents. Attention of the public is drawn to the fact that no animals will be allowed. Kiddies are reminded that there are several nasty ladders among the Australian and China ponies and the Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club will not be responsible for any accidents. As a warning, boys and girls are asked to keep clear of all ponies that are adorned by a piece of red ribbon on the tail near the dock.

MR. EU'S SUCCESS

Congratulations are due to Mr. Eu Tong-sen for capturing the most classic events. The outstanding feature was the brilliant performance of Rose Elect, the champion of the Hongkong Derby and the Champion Stakes. This success was a certain means, due to the fine handling of the chestnut mare by Mr. C. Encarnacao.

It was Mr. Eu Tong-sen's first Hongkong Derby.

Rugby

Volunteers To Play The Army

There will be two games of Rugby Football at the Hongkong F.C. ground at Happy Valley on Saturday, March 4. At 3 p.m. a Club side will play H.M.S. Birmingham, and this game will be followed at 4.15 by one between the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps and the Army.

Club and Volunteer sides have been selected as follows: Hongkong F.C.—M. W. MacGrath; C. J. Powell, H. D. Bidwell (captain); G. S. Wilson, H. van Leeuwen; J. Hutchison, R. Rutherford; E. W. Stout, J. F. Burford, K. A. Watson, C. M. Stark, O. A. Searle, W. B. Richardson, K. H. G. White and H. W. E. Heath.

H.K.V.D.C.—J. G. Day; G. K. Chadwick, M. G. Carruthers, W. E. Grieve (captain), D. H. Stewart, A. H. R. Butcher, E. Taverner, W. E. Peers, K. W. Satter, J. S. Dunnell, E. A. Bonpas, A. F. Walkden, A. G. Dalziel, G. M. Morris and J. Redman.

The Rugby Football season will close next week with the annual Seven-a-Side Tournament organised by the Club, part proceeds of which are donated to local Service and Civilian charities. Sixteen teams have entered, and preliminary rounds will be played off on Monday and Wednesday, leaving four quarter-final games, two semi-finals and the final to be decided on Saturday, March 11. The game on Monday and Wednesday will commence at 4.30 p.m., whilst Saturday's play will after two years of abortive attempts. Rose Evelyn eventually captured the Garrison Cup for the Singapore millionaire.

The most successful jockey at the Annual Meeting was Mr. C. Encarnacao, who is at the head of the list with nine wins, four seconds and a couple of thirds. Four track records were established and Mr. Encarnacao had the pleasure of piloting all the winners.

UNCHALLENGED

Owing to an attack of colic, Silky-light could not step in the ring to fight it out with Rose Elect in the Champion Stakes to decide whether "Miss" Champion of the Carnival was a better race. It must have been a bitter blow to Mr. Eric Molloy, the Shanghai owner of Silky-light.

The owners of Celtic Star had to have the spurs of the Sports Club and Hongkong Stakes with the owners of Marksman owing to the fact that the judges could not separate the two ponies after a distance of 112 miles. However, the spin of the coin gave the Sports Club Cup to the Koot Bee, the owner of Celtic Star and I presume the two brothers will also make use of the coin.

This was not the first occasion that owners had to toss for a trophy, for in 1935 Mr. T. E. Pearce's King's Jubilee and Mr. Eu Tong-sen's Rose Queen were locked together in the St. George's Plate and the latter called right in the spin.

KOWLOON C. C. TEAMS

The following teams will represent the Kowloon Cricket Club in league cricket matches against the Club de Recreio to-morrow:

1st XI (home).—F. Goodwin (Capt.), D. J. N. Anderson, K. J. Baxter, R. T. Broadbridge, G. C. Burnett, E. C. Fincher, P. E. Fincher, S. V. Gilting, H. E. Lee, N. A. E. Mackay and G. A. White. Umpire, J. P. Robinson.

2nd XI (away).—W. Muleahy, R. Baldwin, F. A. Broadbridge, G. A. Goodban, S. A. Gray, B. D. Lay, J. R. Luke, T. A. Madar, W. L. McKenzie, R. A. J. Simpson and G. E. Taylor. Umpire, H. Brokenshire.

Start at 3 p.m. Admission to all stands on Monday and Wednesday will be 50 cents, and on Saturday the charge for the centre of the Covered Stand will be $1 with the remainder at 50 cents. Service men in uniform will be admitted at half-price.

Seven-a-Side football is a lively, fast and open game, giving spectators plenty of thrills throughout. This year's entries are fairly well matched, and some close games will be seen. The Police have entered a strong "A" team, which stands a good chance of winning the Tournament, but they will have stern opposition from the Fortress R.E.'s, winners of the Army Seven-a-Side Tournament, and the Hongkong Bank team. Many Club players are turning out for Hong and the Police sides, and their "A" seven is in consequence rather weaker than in previous years. They also have the disadvantage of being without a regular scrum-half, as J. R. Henderson injured himself in last Saturday's game and will not be playing any more rugby this season.

The draw for the Tournament will be published to-morrow.

FINAL CRICKET TEST COMMENCES TO-DAY: PLAY TO A FINISH

Durban, Mar. 2.

Eddie Paynter, the Lancashire left-hander, is fit again and has been included in the M.C.C. team to play South Africa to-morrow in the Fifth and Final Test. But Wilkinson, the young English slow bowler, has not completely recovered and has been dropped from the team.

At one time there was doubt about Paynter's fitness, following his retirement from the game against Natal with a pulled leg muscle, but after running round Kingamead Ground several times to-day, he declared himself satisfied.

Wilkinson's omission may be due to the recent removal of a boil on his bowling hand, which is still bandaged. Perks, the Worcestershire bowler, has been included and will be playing in his first Test match of the present tour.

The teams, therefore, are as follows:

M.C.C.

W. R. Hammond (Capt.)
B. H. Valentine
P. A. Gibb
K. Farnes
Edrich
Hutton
Paynter
Perks
Verity
Wright
Ames
Twelfth Man: N. W. D. Yardley

There was a steady drizzle this morning, thus preventing practice. It also rained yesterday, but the wicket is protected.

The weather is dull at the moment, but shows indication of clearing up.

The first and second Tests were drawn, the third was won by the M.C.C. and the fourth was drawn.

The fifth match will be played to a finish.—Reuter.

The curtain raiser to-morrow will be the Nil Desperandum Stakes, over a mile, for non-winning China sub-griffins of this meeting that have started at least twice, and the Stewards of the Club will determine by lot in which section the ponies will start. At the time of writing I have not a list of the draw but my selections will appear to-morrow.

Attention of owners is drawn to the fact that the result of the draw does not relieve them of the responsibility of declaring their ponies as starters in the usual manner.

The weights for the Griffins Spring Handicap over a mile have not as yet been announced and in the circumstance I cannot discuss the prospects of any ponies. The conditions of this race are for Derby ponies that have started and have not won and it seems strange, to say that only six ponies are barred from the list of 41 entries. These are Comqueering Time, Eye of Harvest, Eye of Heaven, Galaxy, Hyndford Bridge, and Naylorlight. The owner of Blue Express and Rose Elect was so cocksure of the success of his ponies that they were not nominated for this handicap event. A good few nominations are ineligible owing to the fact that they did not weigh out, but from the list of non-winners it looks that we shall see a good contest.

The first leg of the "Daily Double" is on the Flemington Plate, confined to Australian ponies, over a scramble from the 112 mile post (about half mile 170 yards). Australian subgriffins of this meeting, that have started and won, are ineligible and we shall therefore see a good tussle between the non-winners and those old timers classified as "C" class. I have my doubts as to whether the youngsters of this season will have a show in the security as we have a good number of speedy merchants such as a Great Time, Bredon, Macquarie River, Stratherrick and Violet Queen. The best, in my estimation, is Bredon who will be ridden by the star short distance jockey, Mr. Proulx.

The Professional Cup and Subscription Griffins' Champions, over 1 1/4 miles will draw a good field, but we need not go very far to look for the winner. On his performance, Celtic Star, the property of Kong Bros., must pass the post first provided of course the jockey will not try another stunt of only making a run in the home stretch. It is reported that Musketeer is under a cloud, but I cannot get this confirmed and furthermore I do not think that the pony has a chance of turning the tables on Celtic Star over a distance trip. Orange Boven with Mr. Encarnacao in the saddle, will no doubt give Celtic Star a good run and Marksman will be the other contender ridden by Mr. T. L. Wong. The Professional Cup is to be won two years in succession and the owner, Mr. S. W. Tang, of last season's winner (Louis XIV) has not a candidate eligible to represent his colours. This means that the Law Society will be quite safe for another year.

There is no ban for winners in the Phaedon Handicap for "C" class China ponies and under. This race has attracted no less than 22 entries. The run is over a mile. The allotment of weights will be published by the time these notes appear and without seeing the list of handicap, I cannot find a pony to beat Tampa Bay, the winner of Curragh Handicap, on the first day. He was run with a limit load of 168 lbs. and can be relied upon to let us have a carbon copy of his success. Rose Evelyn, if started, may prove a danger.

The penultimate event, the Australian Ponies' Champions, will be interesting as it has been represented to me on good authority that Triumphant Day will weigh out for the classic with the same jockey, Mr. H. L. Tao. With due respect to his triumph in the Footy-Hill Derby, Triumphant Day is up against a tough proposition in Lucky Lad (Mr. V. V. Needon) and Lancashire Chips (Mr. D. Black) in the Australian champions. Lucky Lad has my vote.

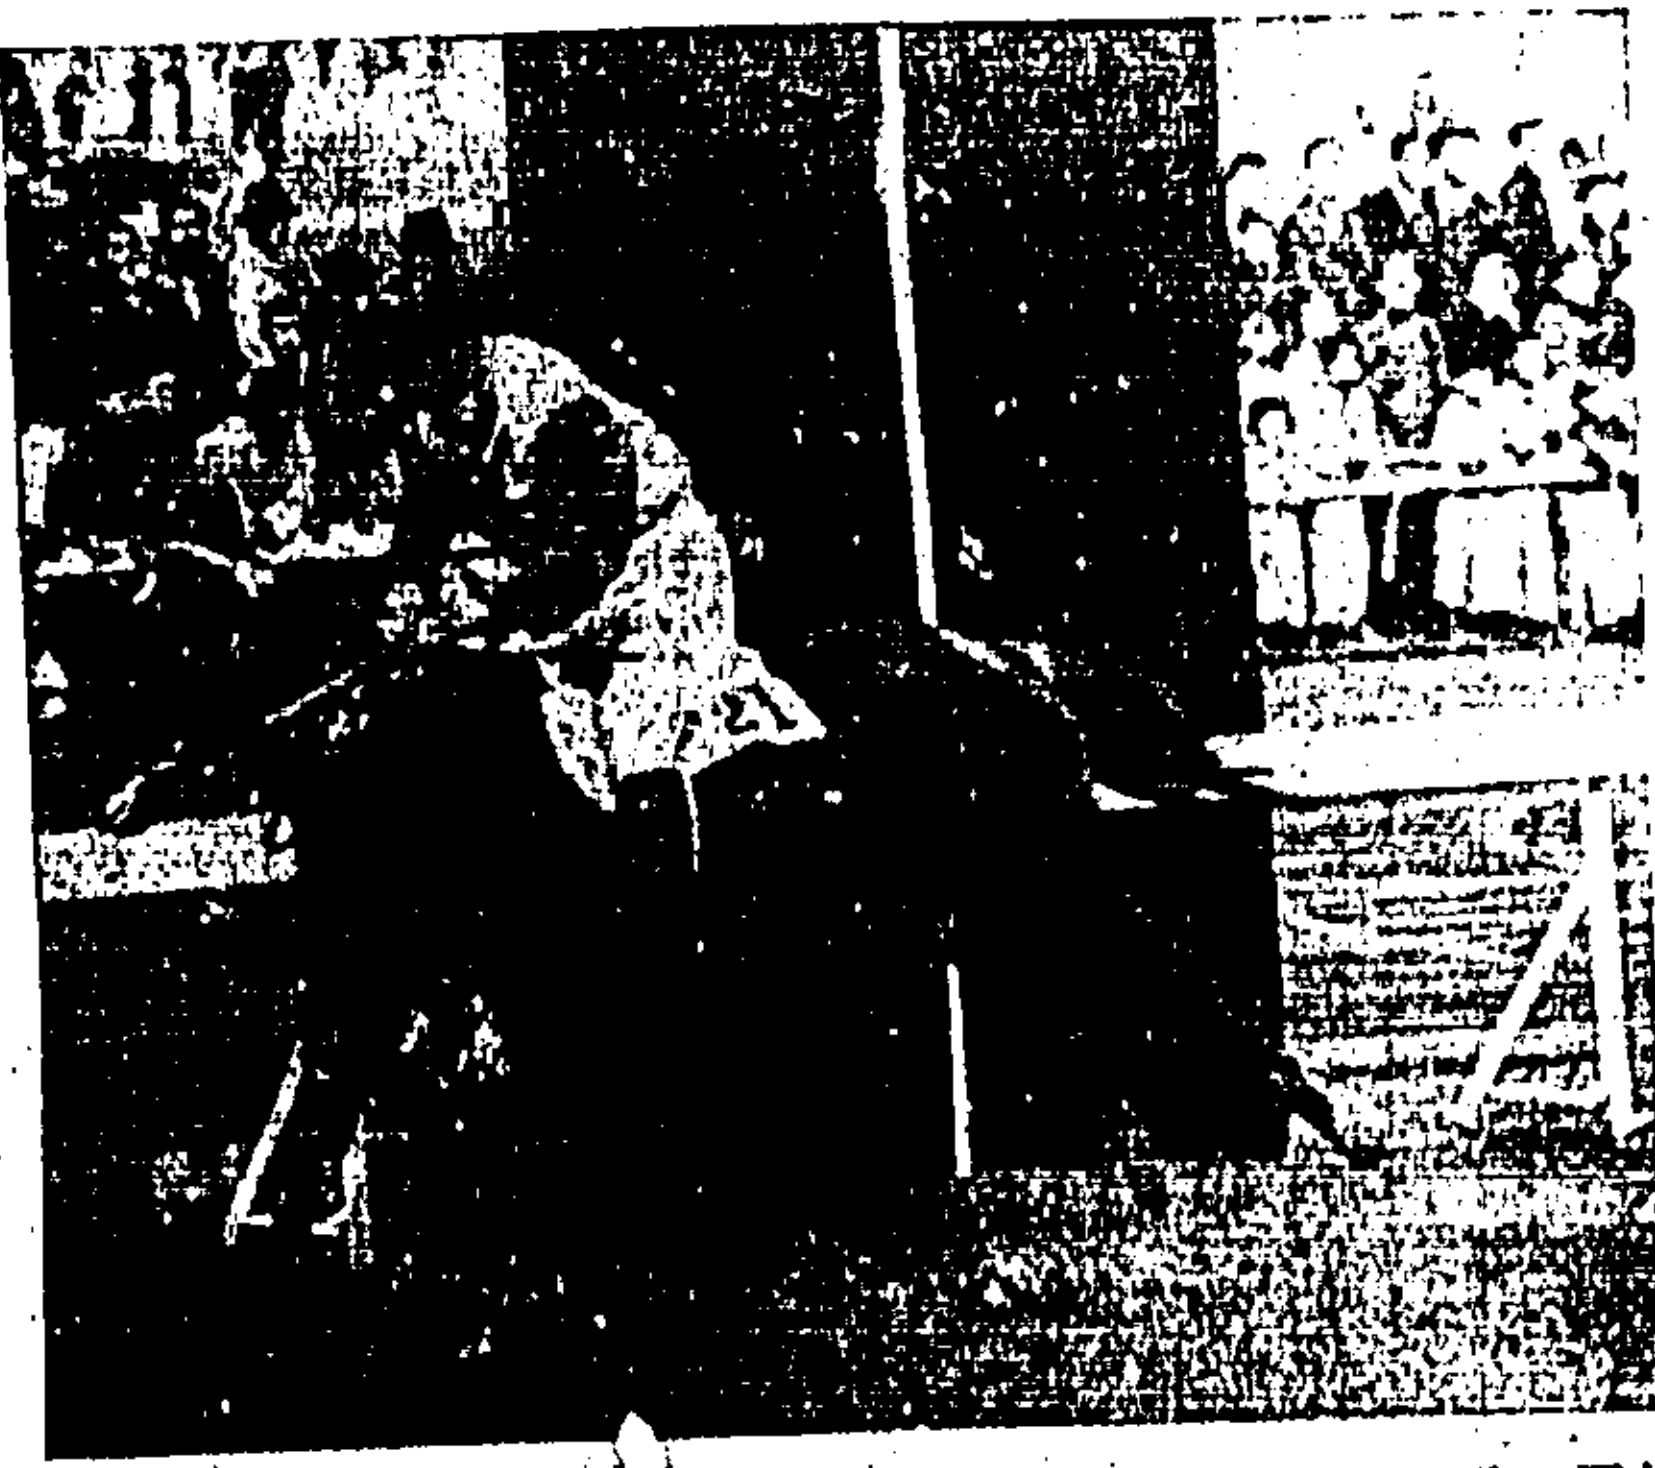

The Happy Valley Spring Handicap is for China ponies that have started at this meeting and have not won, and the entries are to be divided into "A" and "B" divisions at the discretion of the Handicapper, Mr. C. M. Alves. With no data available, I cannot therefore make any comments.

Tommy Farr, the Welsh heavyweight boxer and one-time British champion, has signed a contract to fight the American, "Red" Burman, in London during April.

By Ernie Bushmiller

The Inter-State matches played so far this summer in Australia have been generally of a heavy scoring nature, and while this might suggest a bowling weakness, the greater responsibility must be carried by the run of perfect wickets, which, in Adelaide, Melbourne, and Brisbane, have been of a slow and easy character, absolutely heart-breaking to bowlers of all classes.

Now that E. S. White, a member of the 1938 Australian team to England, has retired from first-class cricket, Christ is his logical successor. But he is a better bowler than White, and would be much more effective unit in an attack, where variety means so much.

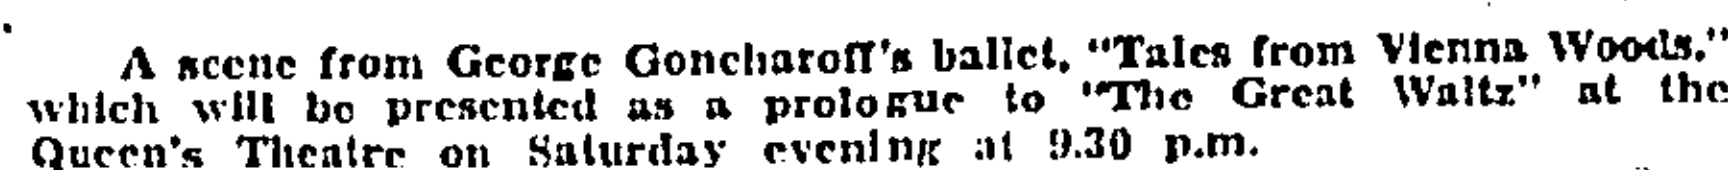

The Queenslander is not a batsman of quality, although he is said to meet with reasonable success in Brisbane club matches, but he is a reliable fieldman. One can foretell the future, but I see in this bowler a distinct "and," and one who will improve as he gains experience.

Another bowler Queensland has around, who promises this summer's cricket, experience and calibre of the batsmen opposed to them, so that heavy punishment damps their ardour, and is only to be expected.

The purpose and courage connected with the work of men like Armstrong, Grinnett, and Mallett, for instance, were such that sooner or later was certain; and this is the evidence of those same characteristics in the Queenslander, Christ which inspires one with bright hopes for his future.

F. Groves, with a score of 34+4 38, won the Stableford competition of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club played on the Old Course, Fanling during February 25 to March 1. His score included four "birdies"—at the 3rd, 5th, 8th, and 15th holes.

STUDY YOUR BACK VIEW

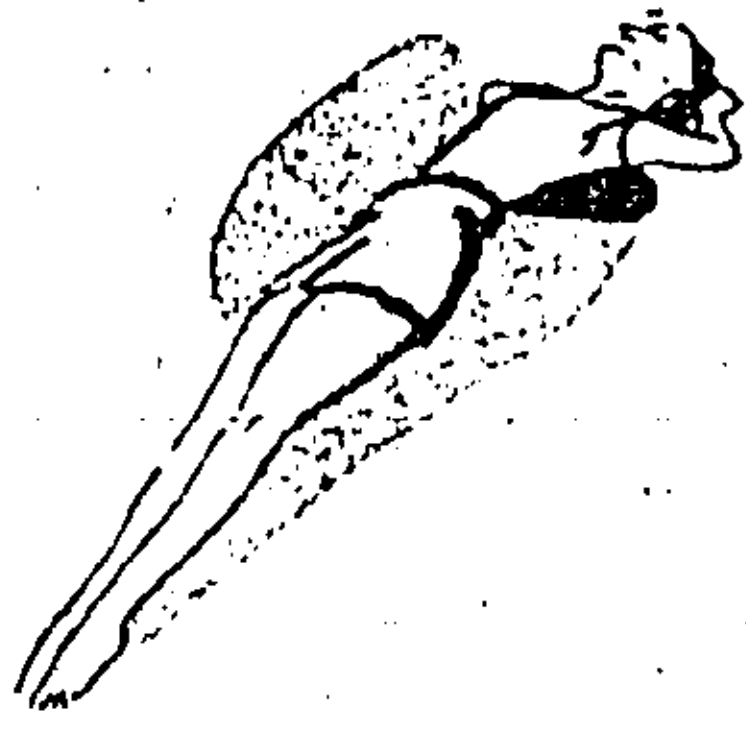

The mirror mostly shows you a smiling face—but the new evening dresses put backs to the fore

DO you give as much thought to beautifying your poor back as you do to making up your face? Unless you're one of the notable exceptions, you don't. Yet bare back beauty is easy if you're prepared to exert a little patience, spend a little time.

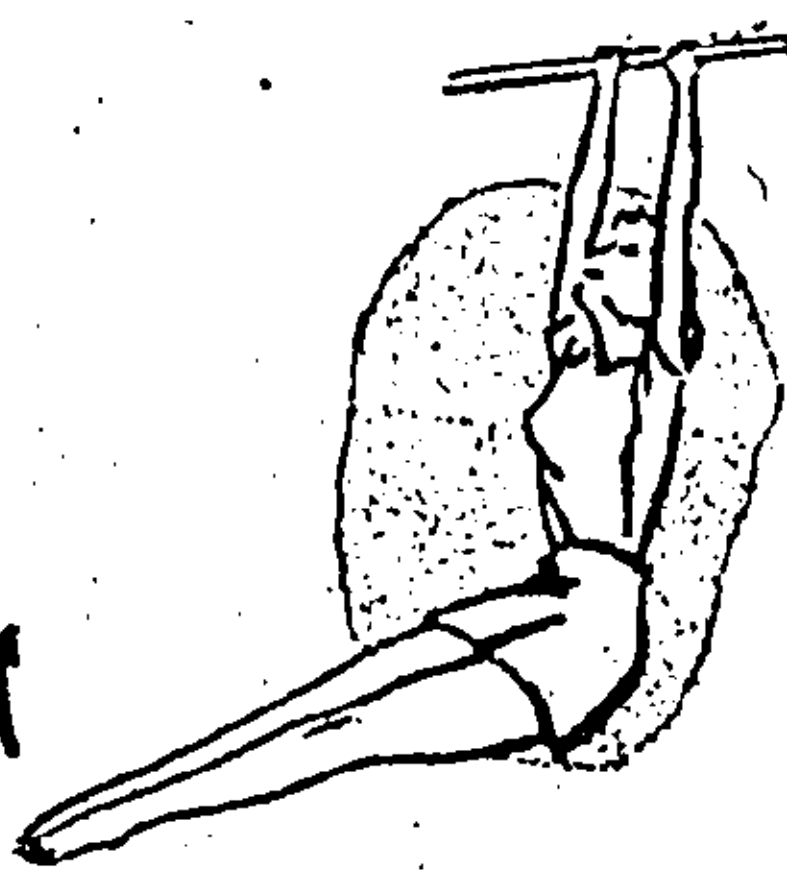

The back in the photograph is lovely because it is neither too podgy nor too muscular, the shoulders are broad, the shoulder blades are well covered, the skin is smooth and satiny and it is a uniform tone all over. That's the ideal to make for. Try out these hints and see how you do.

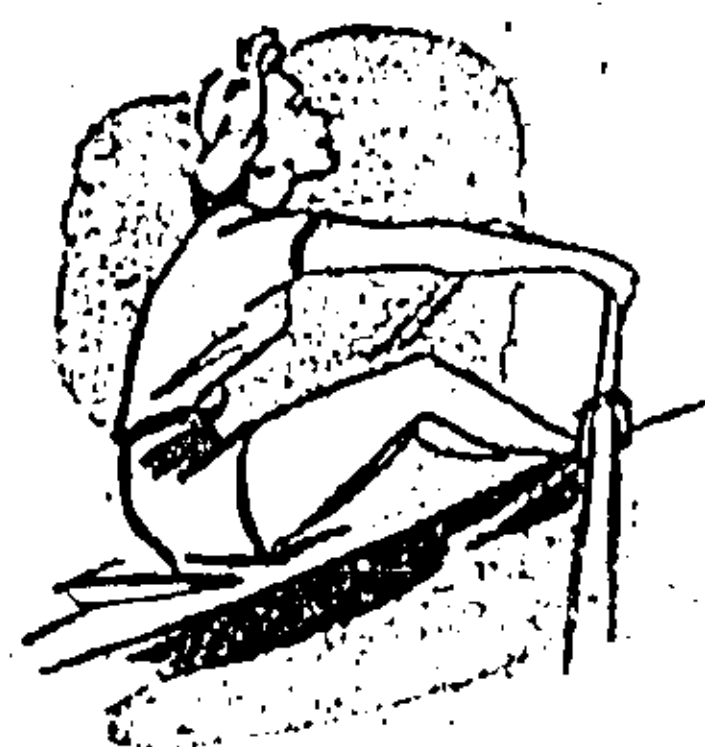

One of the first rules to follow when you want to acquire a lovely back is to sleep flat on a fairly hard mattress, without either a bolster or pillow.

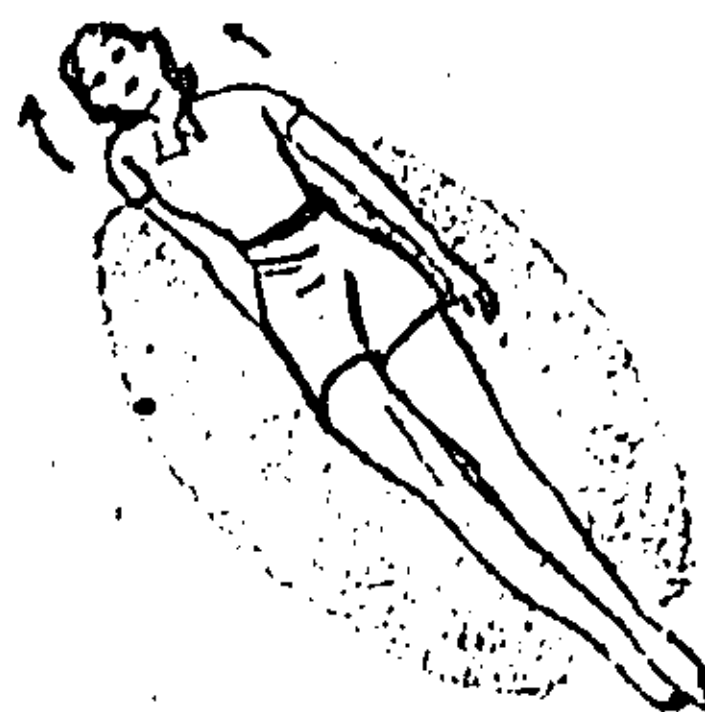

To correct a round back and protruding shoulder-blades, lie stretched out on your back on the floor for a quarter of an hour a day, and slip between your body and the ground—under your armpits—a sausage-shaped pillow.

Instead of doing your "daily dozen" lying on the ground, do them hanging from a bar, which your local carpenter can fix up in your bedroom. Excellent for your back muscles—and you'll be doing your "tummy" muscles some good, too.

If you have protruding shoulder-blades you're sure to be round-chested, too. Insufficient breathing is the chief reason for these two figure faults. Practice breathing exercises regularly, and go in for outdoor sports.

If you're ashamed of the size of your seat, give yourself a sort of vibro-massage every day by wriggling along the floor on your back, legs stretched out in front of you. The picture shows you how.

As well as exercising your back, you must take special care to keep the skin always clean and smooth—and therefore youthful. Stimulate it with a brisk rub with a dry loofah after your bath.

It's Good Fun If A Girl Learns Her Hair Treatment With Resultant Soft Tresses

Upper left—A ready prepared shampoo combining an olive oil treatment with a thorough cleansing is easy for the child to use.
Upper right—A simply tailored bow and loose brushed-in curls supply the "party touch" every young girl loves.

Footwear Fashions

TWO popular new colours in footwear will be wine and shades of violet.

Very attractive too is marine blue, which tones with many outfits. In fact all shades of blue will be fashionable for footwear during the coming months.

Another useful and quite attractive colour is Cotswold grey, as it acts as a foil to brightly coloured dresses and suits. It is really a much more attractive colour than the name implies.

Shoes modelled on the sandal style will combine two colours such as sunshine yellow and white, or a deep rose and white.

Advance news of styles show that a high cut gusset court shoe, with a cut-out design on the front will be popular. Some have rosettes and swathed trimmings—delightfully feminine touches. The shoe will also be very strongly favoured.

Watch your heels—it is this part of your shoes which will denote whether you are really up-to-date.

What is called the new Dutch Boy heel has appeared. It is comfortable, and is usually featured in suede walking shoes.

Heels, generally speaking, will be lower and larger, and altogether very much more comfortable for women who find it difficult to walk comfortably in the old type of spindle heels.

And by-the-way there will be fewer all-white shoes during the coming seasons; instead we shall have white combined with bright colours. Finally, for warmer days there are wooden soled clogs.

citing and sensational, though politically not very important.

For the Soviet speak Izvestia and Pravda, both voicing merely official opinions—no others allowed, following the German and Italian pattern.

Italy, as a nation, of course, speaks with one voice, although through many well-known newspapers. It issues from the mild, charming, and amiable Virginio Gayda—in the Giornale d'Italia—always quoted as the mouthpiece of Mussolini. Which he is.

Italy, however, has another voice, not directed by Mussolini. It is called L'Osservatore Romano.

That is the voice of the Pope—from Vatican City.

Take it that what these newspapers say is what—within limits—the countries that read them think.

Twenty Australian mules, all in splendid condition, arrived aboard the E. and A. steamer Nankin yesterday afternoon. They are intended for the stables of the Hongkong Mule Corps, members of which were present, armed with bridles, to take charge of the animals when the sling landed them over the side. Major C. W. INSURANCE CLAIM

China Underwriters Sued By Fire Victims

Hearing of the $30,000 insurance claim against China Underwriters, Ltd. was resumed before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, in the Supreme Court yesterday, after an adjournment of nearly a month. Plaintiffs are the Cheong Shing Hong firm, and the claim arose out of a fire in their godown in January, 1938.

They claim $30,000.23 from the defendants, being the rateable proportion to be borne by them for the loss of a quantity of sea-food through the fire.

The defence is that out of the 137 items set out in the claim, 127 are fraudulent, and benefits under the policy are, therefore, forfeited. They further allege that some of the goods had been charged higher than the market price and that the weight and price book had been altered.

Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. H. C. Macnamara appear for the plaintiffs, and the instructions of Mr. E. Davidson, of Hastings and Co. The defendants are represented by the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jnr., and Mr. D. J. N. Anderson, instructed by Mr. O. E. C. Marton of Deacons.

Wong Yun-tong, managing partner of plaintiff firm, was cross-examined by Mr. D'Almada on a number of items in the weight and price book, which the defence alleged had been altered. He admitted there were alterations in some but denied that the changes were made for the purpose of putting up the price and weight.

Numerous Entries

Witness expressed disagreement when told by Counsel that the description of goods, shipment numbers and other particulars, apart from prices and weights, were comparatively free from alterations.

Counsel: I put it to you there are roughly 1,500 to 2,000 entries begin on page 24; that entries did not begin till page 29; that the total number of weight entries is 34, of which 24 are claim items; and that the total price entries are 98, 77 of which relate to the claim items. Although I have not counted them one by one, I do not believe there are so many.

Witness was then questioned on items relating to various kinds of sea-food, after which he was asked to explain why the altered entries showed prices above the average.

He said that this was because of the quality being superior, and the fact that the market price was higher at the time. He admitted there were no side notes in the weight and price book showing the different qualities, but said they were mentioned in the godown book, which had been destroyed by the fire.

The case was adjourned until 10 a.m. on Monday.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

Extension of Local Air Raid Precautions

In extension of the Air Raid Precaution work in the Colony, it is proposed to augment the fire service by inviting volunteers to form an "Auxiliary Fire Service." Volunteers will be supplied with one suit of drill uniform and one suit of serge uniform, top boots and accoutrements, and numbers and distinctive badges and numbers of the "Auxiliary Fire Service." The aim is to have 100 trained men before the end of this year, and more may be trained in the following year.

The Chief Officer, Fire Brigade, wishes to enlist 50 men forthwith, twenty-five of whom will be trained on the Hongkong Island side and the remaining twenty-five in Kowloon. During training it is proposed to hold two drills a week, each to last not more than one hour. The course of training will include escape drill, extension ladder drill, pump drill, trailer pump drill, care of hose, methods of dealing with incendiary bombs, and anti-gas precautions. Full training will take about four months.

Applicants will be required to give their services without remuneration. When the first 50 men have been trained, training of the second 50 will be started; hence it may be selected amongst the first 50 but he may be selected in the second 50.

Applicants must be between 25 and 45 years of age, minimum height 5 ft. 6 in., and of good physique. Applicants will be required to undergo, with charge, medical examination before enlistment. Preference will be given to British subjects, but other nationals resident in Hongkong may apply. Applicants must be able to read and write English.

Applications cannot be entertained from members of either of the Volunteer Services or from those who have already volunteered for service as Air Raid Wardens, under the Air Raid Precautions Scheme; nor can applications be entertained from men who have already been earmarked for special "Essential Services" in an emergency.

Forms of application for enlistment can be obtained at any Fire Brigade Station. When completed, they should be returned to the Superintendent, Fire Brigade Central Fire Station.

REFUGEE CAMP

New Settlement at Fan Uk Ling Ready

The additional refugee camp which Government has been compelled by the further refugee influx to establish at Fan Uk Ling, between Sheung Shui and the border, has been rushed to completion and is filling rapidly.

Work on the sheds began on Saturday and was completed on Wednesday night. Before the place was ready people were already entering, though there was no food for them. Food provision commenced with the formal opening yesterday.

By last night there were 600 people in the camp and the number is expected to reach 2,000 very quickly.

These refugees have been bivouacked along the border. Some have their cattle with them and the authorities are trying to persuade the men to take their cattle back to their homes across the border and resume work, leaving their women and children on this side. To meet the reluctance shown it has been suggested that the men might return to Hongkong territory each night to sleep with their families, but so far there has been little response.

CARDINAL PACELLI ELECTED PONTIFF

Papal Secretary Of State Takes Highest Office In Roman Church

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2.
CARDINAL EUGENIO PACELLI, former Papal Secretary of State, has been elected Pope in succession to the late Pius XI. It is announced that he will be called Pope Pius XII. His election to-day was announced by Caccia Dominioni, one of the Curial Cardinals.

A few minutes later, Cardinal Pacelli himself appeared on the balcony to the sound of the Papal March played on silver trumpets, while the crowd in the square shouted "Long Live The Pope."

Three lines of soldiers kept the crowd away from the steps of St. Peter's, but there were several accidents, and in the rush many women fainted and were lifted to the back over the shoulders of the crowd.

FIRST BENEDICTION
The new Pope imparted his first Papal benediction and the crowd cheered him wildly. As he retired from the balcony, the great bell of St. Peter's began to peal, the lights in the square were lit, and the crowd began to disperse. The conclave of 62 Cardinals had elected the Pope with their third ballot.—Reuter.

EXCITED CROWD
VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2. White smoke, indicating the election of a new Pope emerged from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel at 5.30 p.m. to-day, and caused tremendous excitement among the huge crowd which had gathered on Piazza San Pietro, not so since it was without precedent that a new sovereign Pontiff had been elected on the first day of the Conclave, and such an early result was wholly unexpected.

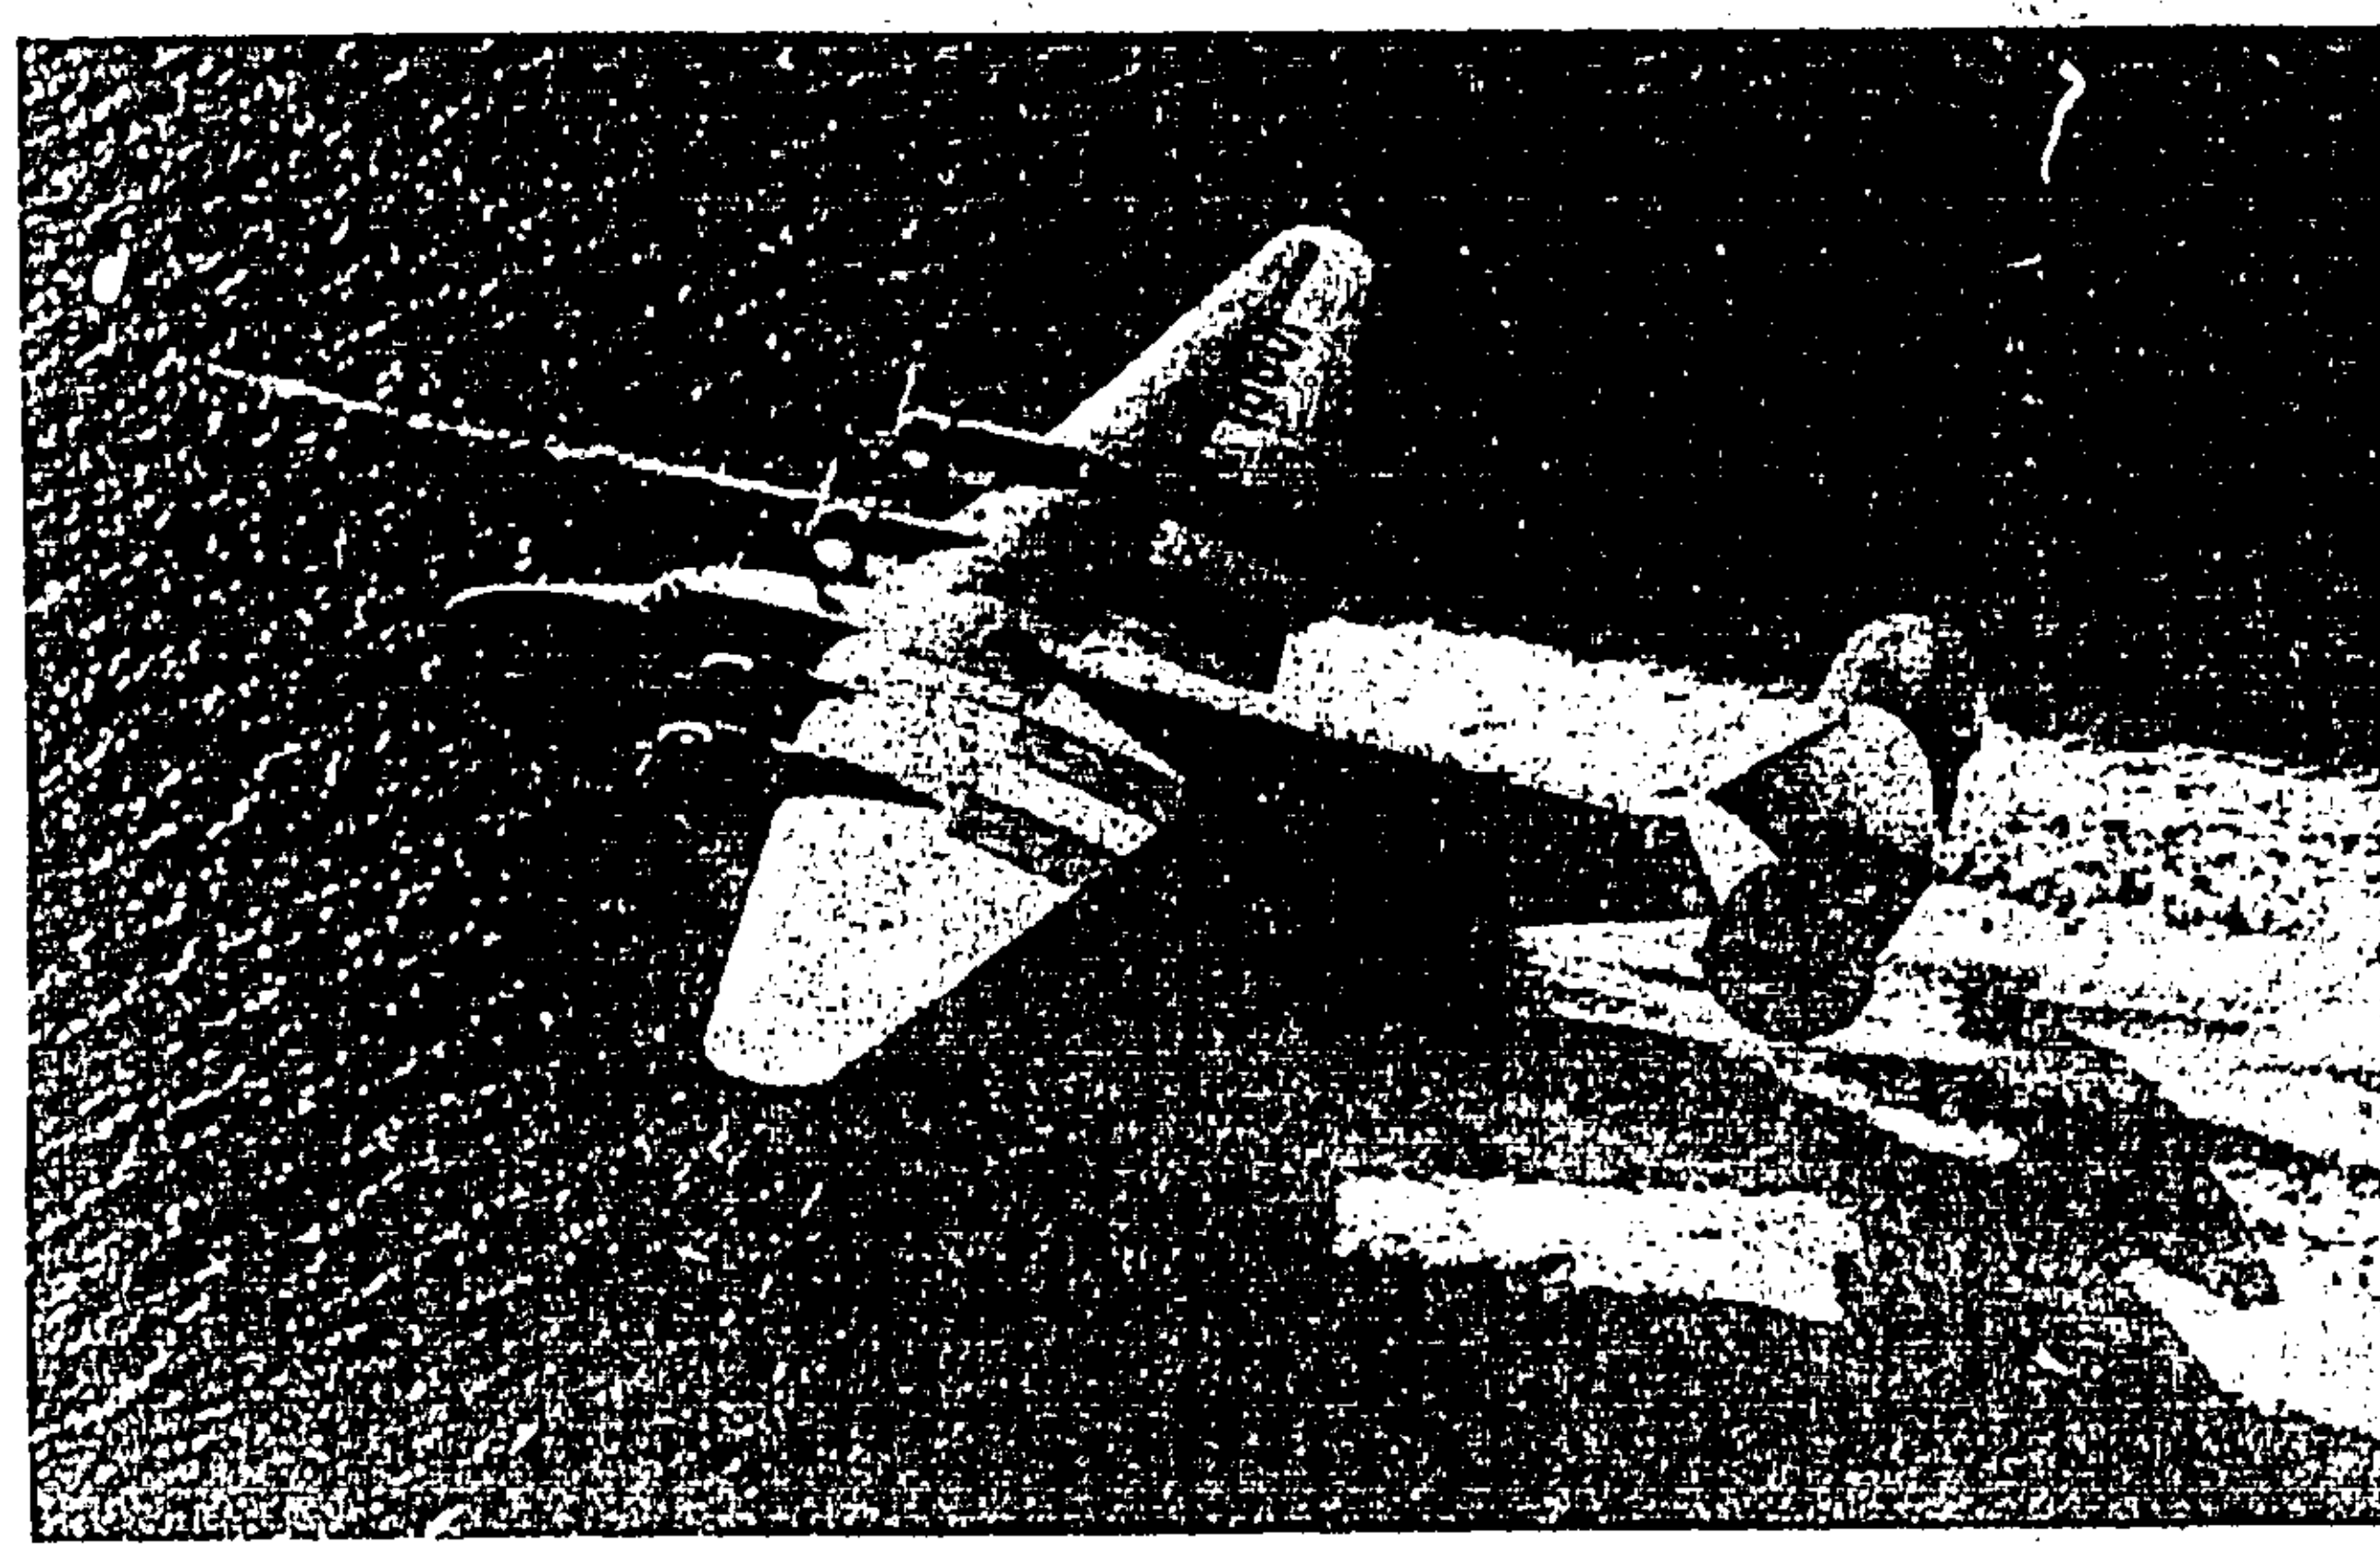

The announcement of the name of the new Pope was awaited with intense eagerness, but over half an hour elapsed before Cardinal Caccia Dominioni, in his capacity as senior Cardinal, appeared on the balcony of St. Peter's to proclaim the election of Cardinal Pacelli.

The announcement was received with thunderous applause by the dense crowds in the square.—Trans-Ocean.

INVESTING NEW POPE
As soon as the necessary two-thirds majority had been obtained in the Vatican Conclave, the ceremony of investing the new Pope with his robes of office began.

Cardinal Decan Granito di Belmonte advanced to the throne occupied by Cardinal Pacelli, and asked him in Latin whether he accepted the election, to which Cardinal Pacelli replied in the affirmative.

Cardinal Pacelli was then asked what name he had selected, to which the Cardinal replied without hesitation that it was Pius Twelfth, and presented, in a short Latin address, his reasons for choosing this name.

THE NEW BOEING CLIPPER

40-Ton Clipper Leaves Manila For Hongkong: Due Here To-day

Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong, Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong....

In this dramatic fashion and with all the elements of a Hollywood aviation picture, one man to-day is telling the world of one of the most amazing flights of all time.

J. E. Weener, First Radio Officer of the Boeing Clipper, is flashing out news from the 40-ton steel monster as it charts its way through the air towards Hongkong at 176 miles an hour.

The plane hopped off from Manila at 7.39 a.m. and should circle the city of Hongkong at about 11.30 a.m.

The world's largest commercial transport plane, on completing its 11,000 mile test flight from the Treasure Island base in San Francisco will be handed over to a small army of mechanics, experts, greasers. Careful checking and calculating will be made of the plane's performance.

The following is a list of the crew and technical experts aboard, there being no passengers:
Captain W. A. Cuthie, Captain F. J. Leland as First Officer, Second Officer E. C. Bierer, Third Officer S. T. Peters and R. C. Howard, First Engineer J. E. Truitt, Second Engineer J. E. Weener, First Radio Officer J. C. Smyser, Second Radio Officer S. Cummings, First Steward R. Donham, Second Steward I. Tier, Third Steward H. Chance.

COLOSSAL BRITISH DEFENCE EXPENSES

Peace Time Budget Record

LONDON, Mar. 2.
SIR JOHN SIMON, the Chancellor of the Exchequer will be faced with an unprecedented peace-time total expenditure exceeding £1-250,000,000 to be found in the coming year when he introduces the budget next month.

As the Government has decided to raise £350,000,000 of the sum under the Defence Loans Act, the amount for which the taxpayers will be responsible will be reduced to something over £900,000,000, or, in all probability, rather less than the total ordinary expenditure for the current year, which is estimated at £945,000,000.

For this reason, it is regarded as certain that there will be income-tax increase in 1939.

With the Royal Air Force estimates published to-day, the total for the fighting services has reached £510,000,000, but the total for defence services, including civil defence for the coming year is estimated in a White Paper on defence at £580,000,000.

Civil expenditure totals £253,000,000, or about £445,000,000 after half-balancing items have been excluded, while an additional £10,000,000 may be required for supplementary civil estimates.

If to this is added debt charges, which may total £230,000,000, the total budget of £1,265,000,000 is reached.—Reuter.

ANOTHER PROTEST

LONDON, Mar. 2.
THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT has instructed its Consul-General in Tientsin to lodge a protest with the Japanese authorities against the erection of barbed wire fences, charged with electricity, around the international concession.

It is stated that similar protests have been made by the United States and French governments.

The Japanese are said to be building a new wide route around the Concession, and also a new bridge over the Peiho River with it, assumed, the object of isolating the Concession.—Trans-Ocean.

WHEN IS A WAR NOT A WAR?—COURT QUERY

LONDON, Mar. 2.
"IS THERE A WAR between Japan and China?" The question was raised by a case in which the Court of Appeal gave its decision.

Planes Can Lay Mines Now

GERMANY'S latest sea weapon is the minelaying airplane. Two types of planes have been perfected in this new duty, big aircraft that tip mines into the sea while they taxi, just like normal mine layers, and special type bombers that drop mines while they fly.

The latter type, it is claimed, can lay a mine field while travelling at more than 100 m.p.h.

$250,000 Hongkong Deal

Entire Ore Stocks Said Purchased

LONDON, Mar. 2.
THE RECENT GRANTING of wolfram agency rights by the National Resources Committee of the Chinese Government to the Pekin syndicate is the chief topic of conversation among London dealers.

The arrangement strikes them as particularly interesting because last autumn, Japan openly avowed her intention of pressing on to China's antimony mines.

The entire stock in Hongkong is reported to have been purchased by the syndicate, which, if a fact, would involve well over £250,000.

It is pointed out that the German barter agreement will automatically expire, and therefore the recently reported suspension of operations by the "Hapro" German trading agency in China for wolfram, tung oil, etc., would appear to be in the nature of intelligent anticipation.

Reports that the Chinese are producing in areas which have passed under Japanese control are believed to be erroneous, though transport to Hongkong will probably prove difficult.—Reuter.

CHILDREN KILLED

School Roof Pins - 100 Victims

TOKYO, Mar. 3.
OVER 100 school children were pinned under debris when the school building suddenly collapsed while they were sitting in classrooms at Higashimagi.

Three children were killed and 10 injured, eight of them seriously, but all others were safely extricated, the message adds.—Domel.

Stock Market Unsettled

LONDON, Mar. 2.
The Stock Exchange was generally easier to-day owing to end of account considerations, though the actual selling was small.

The market showed unsettled developments. Among commodities, chief interest was centred in the Shellac market, where the morning's dealings were suspended owing to the financial difficulties of outside interests, but they resumed in the afternoon, when it was authoritatively stated that the sum involved was small, and that a satisfactory settlement was likely. Wall Street was steady.—Reuter Special.

Last May, Mr. Justice (now Lord Justice) Goddard, held that a state of war existed in the sense in which the ordinary commercial man would use the word war, "without going into the niceties of international law."

The court heard an appeal by the Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd., of Kobe, against the judgment of Lord Justice Goddard that the Bantam Shipping Company of Cardiff was entitled to cancel the chartering of the steamship Nilsen Mendow to the Japanese company in September, 1937, because a clause in the charter-party permitted cancellation "if war breaks out involving Japan."

NO WAR, SAYS BRITAIN

Sir Stafford Cripps, for the Japanese company, said that the Foreign Office, in a letter answering a query by the company's solicitors, declared that "the British Government was not at present prepared to say that in its view war exists."

In giving judgment for the respondents and dismissing the appeal, the Master of the Rolls said that Lord Justice Goddard was manifestly right.

"War might break out without the British Government recognising it," he said.

"Nobody in these days would have the temerity to suggest that war cannot exist without a declaration of war."—Reuter.

The "Telegraph" is informed that a conference was held on board H.M.S. Kent at 10.30 a.m. to-day to discuss matters relating to Hongkong's position vis-a-vis South China.

Those present were: Major General K. Tanaka, Lieut.-Col. Ohira, Mr. T. Oda, Acting Japanese Consul General in Hongkong, and Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, Major General A. E. Grassett and Col. A. G. Neville.

General Tanaka is the guest of Admiral Noble on board H.M.S. Kent to-day. He will then prolong his stay in Hongkong until Sunday or Monday before returning to Canton.

Garden Rd. Mishap Holds Up Traffic

A line of more than half a dozen trams were held up at the busy hour of 8 a.m. to-day through a mishap between one of their number and a car driven by Mme. C. Renet at the bottom of Garden Road.

Mme. Renet was driving from the left of Queen's Road Central across the road to Garden Road and the tram, the conductor of which apparently thought she was continuing along Queen's Road, collided with the back of the car.

Little damage was done and no injuries were caused but traffic was considerably delayed.

24 Die In Big Halifax Fire

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Mar. 2.
Twenty-four persons are reported to be missing as a result of a fire which completely destroyed a hotel here to-day.

The number of dead is not known, but 20 people were taken to the hospital.—Reuter.

SPOKE TO TEN JURORS ABOUT HIS CASE

A LITIGANT who admitted that after a case was over he talked to every member of the jury except two was rebuked in the Court of Appeal.

The court dismissed an appeal in person by Mr. Lawrence William Worden, of Lammack-road, Blackburn, who suggested that £5 awarded to him in his action at Manchester Assizes against the Midland Bank was inadequate.

Mr. Worden alleged that the bank had committed a breach of contract and libelled him by sending back a cheque which he drew for £2 16s. 3d., endorsed "refer to drawer."

BANK DENIED MALICE

The bank admitted that when it returned the cheque there was sufficient in Mr. Worden's account to meet it, but denied malice.

The bank made a payment into court, and Mr. Worden got judgment for £5, with costs up to the date of payment in, and the bank was given costs after that date.

Mr. Worden suggested to the Court of Appeal that the jury's verdict for £5 was arrived at as a compromise.

Lord Justice Scott: You must not say that. You can't know that, unless you have been talking to members of the jury, and that would be very wrong.

Mr. Worden: I have, but it was started by other people talking first. Lord Justice Scott: Have you talked to every member of the jury?

Mr. Worden: Yes, all except two. "VERY IMPROPER" Lord Justice Scott: That was a very seriously improper thing to do. No litigant has a right to talk to members of the jury after the case is over and ask what they did as jurymen.

Lord Justice Goddard: You have no right to know what goes on in the juryroom. Judges have no right to know, and no one has any right to know. That is the beauty of the jury system.

Libel Suit Against K.C.

A libel action against Mr. E. G. Hemmerde, K.C., Recorder of Liverpool, and Miss Eileen MacDonald, a Manchester barrister, is pending in the High Court at the suit of Mr. Wilfred John Clark, managing clerk to Messrs. T. H. Kinschcliffe & Sons, solicitors, of Manchester.

It has been set down for hearing in the King's Bench Division special jury list.

Mr. Hemmerde and Miss MacDonald appeared for Mrs. Lowick, a young ex-tylist, who was the central figure of the Lowick v. Lazarus "malice" case.

A retrial at Manchester Assizes ended on March 11 last year with a settlement in favour of Mrs. Lowick for £5,000 damages and £4,200 costs.

Dead Three Minutes, Given Life

NEW YORK.

MRS. Bella Sutterman, aged 57, of the Bronx, "died" for three minutes recently.

Two days later she was resting comfortably, very much alive and likely to recover from the illness which "killed" her.

HELPED BY POLICE

Dr. Maurice Goodwin, a graduate of the University of Graz (Austria), who accomplished this modern miracle with the aid of a police emergency squad, was called in when Mrs. Sutterman collapsed after an asthma attack.

"The woman was dead," Dr. Goodwin asserted afterwards. "There was no heart action and no pulse. She was not breathing and was cold and rigid."

Dr. Goodwin applied artificial respiration and administered adrenalin chloride and vitamin. After four minutes he detected breathing.

OXYGEN USED

He summoned the police, who used an oxygen apparatus for three hours, consuming three tanks of oxygen, as the patient gradually returned to life.

Dr. Goodwin said he thought Mrs. Sutterman suffered from paralysis of the respiratory centre of the brain, caused by drugs prescribed for asthma.

Napoleon Bonaparte knows what's in a name, especially in a name like that. The court sent him to the library.

New Arms Seen By The King

Some of the secret armaments which are being developed for the Royal Air Force and for some branches of the Army were seen by the King recently in the course of a visit of two hours' duration paid by his Majesty to the experimental and development works of Nish and Thompson, Limited, at Tolworth, Surrey.

A number of power-operated gun turrets fitted with one, two, or more guns and set in representations of aircraft fuselages were shown to the King and were worked by mechanics in his presence. In one case a pencil was placed in the barrel of one of the guns protruding from the turret, and, while the King watched, the operator worked the turret so that the pencil wrote the King's name on a piece of paper held in front of it by one of the mechanics. The King took charge of this exhibit afterwards and carried it away with him.

A number of developments of various kinds of guns were also exhibited and his Majesty later walked through the works, examining the apparatus of production, among which were some diamond turning tools, some special machine tools developed by the firm for particular kinds of work, and the X-ray apparatus. Subsequently the adaptation of a gun turret for use in a tank was also seen by the King.

SHE WEARS 20,000 FROCKS A YEAR

"SOME women are sorry for me because I have to wear 20,000 frocks a year," said Helen Mae Paul, a 19-year-old mannequin who arrived in London from New York recently with a trunkful of clothes.

She is the girl who shows wholesale gown-buyers the kind of frocks that women in New York, London and Paris want to wear.

"I never see the women who buy the gowns that I model," she said, flicking the fringe of a white silk frock that she wore under an ermine coat.

"But this I will say: Hundreds of those gowns are worn by women who shouldn't look at them. I shudder to think of a stout woman struggling into this gown, for instance."

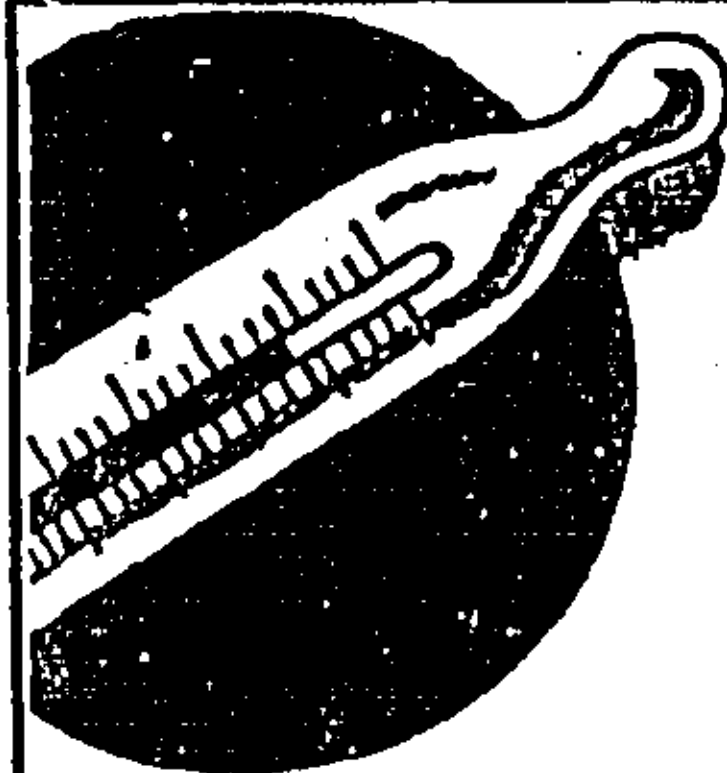

Miss Paul, being 5ft. 7½ in. tall, with a waist measurement of 24½ in., can wear any kind of frock. "This one," she said laughingly, "will cost any other woman £40 to buy, and the coat would cost £200, but I get them wholesale."

"I have to spend at least a third of my salary on clothes. Tell the other girls that."

"I have some worrying times when showing frocks to sweethearts and husbands of women customers. The men all want to know if their wives and girl friends will look like me. Well, I ask you."

IN MEMORY OF GREATEST COACHMAN

Fifty years ago Jim Selby, the coachman who won a £1,000 wager by driving from London to Brighton and back in less than eight hours, died at his home in Edgware-road, Marble Arch. Mr. Bernard Mills, a member of the Coaching Club, drove the original coach from Selby's starting place in Piccadilly to the Edgware-road stables and unveiled a tablet to the coachman's memory.

Miracle Drugs Start "A New Era"

A NEW group of drugs which will cure in a few days patients suffering from such diseases as pneumonia, scarlet fever, puerperal fever, erysipelas, and septicæmia is revolutionising medical science.

The method is known as Chemotherapy and is totally different from the old system of antiseptics and serums.

The drugs belong to the sulphonamide group, and the possibilities of further research are enormous. According to a Harley-street doctor, bacterial infection should hold no terrors for anyone in the future. "They introduce a new era in medicine," he said.

Most important of the three drugs is M and B 693, which has been proved to be a specific against pneumonia and meningitis.

The lives of 200 people suffering from pneumonia have been saved by this drug, which is now in routine use in London hospitals. During clinical tests only eight cases out of 100 died, while out of 40 children on whom it was tried there were only two deaths.

YOU MAY TURN BLUE
Next in importance to M and B 693 is Prontosil, which was discovered by a German. It is said to cure immediately such diseases as scarlet fever.

A curious feature of this drug is that a patient who is taking it will turn blue if he eats anything containing sulphur, such as eggs or saline aperients. This condition, which at first gave medical men a shock, is temporary, and harmless.

The third drug in the sulphonamide group is Uleron, which is a specific against certain skin diseases which cause softening and destruction of the bones, and are frequently fatal.

At present the drugs are not obtainable by subscribers to the National Health Insurance scheme.

Cook Summons Her Mistress — And Loses

Hove (Sussex).
THE Hon. Mrs. Joan Meager, of Welbeck-avenue, Hove, and her daughter Elizabeth, gave evidence at Hove Police Court recently when Mrs. Meager was summoned by her former cook, Mrs. Mabel Singleton, for an alleged assault on Christmas Eve. The magistrates dismissed the case.

Mr. A. J. Jenkins, for Mrs. Singleton, said that when she went into the dining-room for luncheon Mrs. Meager threw down a 10s. note on the table and said: "There's 10s. on your wages; you can whistle for the rest."

Mrs. Meager, he said, then hit Mrs. Singleton, breaking her glasses. Mr. Leslie Bunker, for Mrs. Meager, said she gave Mrs. Singleton 10s., promising her the rest later. Mrs. Singleton then picked up her fur coat and said she would take it until all her wages had been paid. Mrs. Singleton later seized Miss Elizabeth Meager by the throat. In separating them Mrs. Meager pushed Mrs. Singleton away, and her glasses were knocked off.

He did—and got it right.

QUICK RECOVERY AFTER ILLNESS

Very often a period of convalescence is much more critical than the actual illness that preceded it. Your whole body is left in a state of complete exhaustion. You have no strength to combat any renewed attacks.

Doctors and nurses realize the importance of a speedy recovery after illness. In Horlicks they have found a highly nourishing food that can be easily digested when all other foods cause nausea.

Horlicks rebuilds your exhausted body. Convalescence is shortened. You feel full of vigour and vitality. Always keep Horlicks ready at hand.

In these difficult times of anxiety and worry, the task of carrying on and doing work which must be done is a doubly difficult one which must tend to exhaust one's nervous energy.

Horlicks builds up strength, vitality and prevents that listlessness and tiredness caused by constant nervous strain. H. M. Hodges, 400-408, Asia Life Building, Hong-kong.

Poppy Day Appeal

To The Editor,
 Hongkong Telegraph

Sir,—I shall be very grateful if you will publish the following letter which I have to-day received from the Organising Secretary, Appeal Department of the British Legion in London:

"I beg to acknowledge with very grateful thanks receipt of the sum of £1,111.14.10d. representing the very excellent and record result of the 1938 Remembrance Day Appeal and sale of Poppies in Hongkong and Districts for the benefit of Italy's Fund, and send my warmest congratulations to the Members of your Committee on this magnificent effort.

"This very welcome contribution provides the clearest possible proof that the sacrifices of the Great War, even after the passing of twenty years, are still remembered gratefully and the generosity with which Poppies have again been bought is, I can assure you, of the greatest encouragement to the British Legion in its work for War's survivors.

"I shall be glad if you can find some means of expressing our gratitude to all who have supported our Appeal so generously, particularly considering the difficult conditions through which you are all passing, and the many calls which must be made on your individual purses at the present time, and of assuring these valued contributors that their practical sympathy will be the means of bringing added comfort and happiness into the homes of many of those ex-Service men and their families who are still, so unfortunately, in need.

"May I, in conclusion, express my own very sincere thanks to the Members of your Committee, and all other helps for the important work of local organisation which has again been so ably carried out.

"With best wishes to you all,"
 F. G. MAUNDEN,
 Secretary,
 Earl Hall's Fund, Hongkong.

HERR HITLER'S NAME

Sir,—I would respectfully refer you to the tabloid extract on the

Volunteer Corps For Samoa

Wellington, Mar. 2.

The Government is making provision to establish a Volunteer Defence Force for the protection of Western Samoa.

It is explained that the Government is merely extending to Western Samoa an organisation now existing for the New Zealand territorial force. This is declared to be in accordance with the provisions of the mandate. Only white members of the inhabitants will be enrolled in the beginning.—Reuter.

PRINCE FRANZ JOSEPH SEES HITLER

Berlin, Mar. 2.

Prince Franz Joseph of Liechtenstein arrived to-day and was received at the Chancellery by Herr Hitler. It is understood they discussed purely private matters, leaving talks of an economic nature to take place between the Prince's Prime Minister and German officials.—Reuter.

front page of yesterday's "Final Edition" under the caption "80 Million Nazis 'Hell' Hitler but it should be 'Hell' Schickelgruber."

In this extract, an American Sociologist, Professor Kirkpatrick, is cited as having remarked that Hitler's grandfather changed his name from Schickelgruber to Hitler because he thought it sounded better. In point of fact it was Hitler's father, not his grandfather, who changed his name. Hitler's paternal grandfather's name was Schickelgruber, but when his father, by persistence and determination, obtained an appointment to a minor post in the Customs service at the frontier village of Braunau-on-the-Inn, he took the name of his own father, Johann Hiedler or Hitler.

The reason for the change given by Professor Kirkpatrick is not borne out by the facts of the case, and History does not appear to shed any light on the true cause. Incidentally, the name is Schickelgruber and not Schickelgruber as you published.

"POLITICAL POPE" SAYS "TRANS-OCEAN"

A "Trans Ocean" (German News Agency) message received at 10 a.m. refers to the new Pontiff as "a political Pope."

"Trans-Ocean" adds that the election of Cardinal Pacelli has been received in political circles with considerable surprise.

"The impression gained was that the Sacred College would not elect a political Pope, but one who would concentrate on the spiritual aspects of the Faith," the message adds.

"The new Pontiff is regarded as definitely a political personality, and the fact that he was so closely associated with his predecessor, as well as his action in choosing the name Pope Pius XII, is regarded as an indication that he will continue the policy of Pope Pius XI, particularly in connection with the totalitarian States."

"Trans-Ocean" adds that the appointment has made a deep impression in Paris, where Cardinal Pacelli is highly regarded, while in Washington Mr. Cordell Hull, in commenting on the election, declared that he was highly pleased.

Reactions in the various capitals to the election of Cardinal Pacelli as the new Pope are given in Reuter messages as follows:

Paris: The election of Cardinal Pacelli is welcomed in France where he had many friends and is generally admired for his strong character and his tactful handling of many difficult situations.

A Papal Secretary of State is most unusual and is regarded as indicating continuance of the late Pope's firm and independent policy. The choice is also regarded as excellent in view of the necessity of having at the helm of the church in the present difficult times, a man well-versed in the international situation, and who is regarded here as the Church's best

Oil Companies Seek Mexican Concession

Mexico City, Mar. 2.

Mr. Donald Richberg, representing the Standard Oil Corporation, arrived here to-day to begin talks with the Government with a view to settling the oil crisis resulting from the expropriation of the property of foreign oil companies.

It is reliably learned that Mr. Richberg has also been retained by British interests.

Pessimism prevails here regarding the outcome of the talks, as it is considered that a solution of the points at issue between the parties is unlikely.

According to latest indications, Mr. Hurley, another representative of the company, will not participate in the talks.—Reuter.

Gandhi's Ultimatum To Rajkot Ruler

Rajkot, Mar. 2.

It is understood that Gandhi has sent an ultimatum to the ruler of Rajkot, giving him 24 hours in which to reply to proposals for an amicable settlement.

It is believed that if Gandhi does not receive a satisfactory reply, he will take a drastic step, which will probably take the form of a prolonged fast.—Reuter.

diplomat. Political circles believe that Cardinal Pacelli is anti-Fascist, and his election is regarded as a setback to Hitler.

Rome: Romans are particularly delighted that the new Pope was born in Rome, whom they hail as a Roman Pope. As a recent article in the "Religion International" said that it would appear difficult for Cardinal Pacelli to receive the votes of the Italian Cardinals, it is not certain whether Pacelli's election is entirely gratifying in Fascist circles. It is believed that Cardinal Pacelli obtained nearly enough votes to give him a two-thirds majority in the first ballot.

Washington: Cardinal Pacelli's visit to the United States, and the friendships he made at Washington will ensure the popularity of his election here. It is felt that Cardinal Pacelli's diplomatic skill will be employed in the critical tasks confronting the Church in Spain, Germany, and particularly Austria.

Burgas: The election of Cardinal Pacelli has given satisfaction in Spain. His wide experience of international politics is considered here to be a great asset at a time when the Church is involved in politics in so many fields.—Reuter.

BERLIN REACTION

Berlin, Mar. 2.

All comment on the election of Cardinal Pacelli as the new Pope was withheld in authoritative circles to-night, it being merely declared that the result was no sensation, although surprise was expressed that tradition should have been broken to the extent that a Vatican Secretary of State should be elected.

The general inclination here seems to be to regard the election as an incident of religious significance, and not to associate it with politics unless the new Pontiff delves into political matters in a manner that affects Germany.

The German press also reflects this neutral attitude, revealing at the same time, some slight shade of coolness.

Catholic circles are inclined to welcome the election of Cardinal Pacelli, because he was active in Germany from 1917 to 1929, first in Munich and then Berlin, and is thoroughly conversant with the German language and country.

Hope is expressed that during his regime, he will guard against a further increase in tension between the Vatican and the Reich, and that his knowledge of German conditions will be utilised for smoothing out present difficulties.—Trans-Ocean.

NEW POPE'S CAREER

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, born of a simple middle-class Roman family March 2, 1876, six years after the Italians had captured Rome ending the temporal power of the Church, rose to be Papal Secretary of State before his election as Pope yesterday.

He was educated in the Eternal City. At the age of 18 he was put through the hard school of diplomacy at the Pontifical Academy of Rome where he was graduated at 24. He immediately started to work as a clerk in the Holy Congregation of Ecclesiastical Affairs and steadily rose through the ranks until he was finally promoted general secretary of that important Catholic congregation.

His brilliant career had been carefully watched by Pope Benedict

A Look Through The "Telegraph"

50 YEARS AGO

March 3, 1889.

The western quarter of the island is to-day celebrating the marriage of the Emperor of China in great style. At the Man Mo Temple and elsewhere arches have been erected, lighted by numerous lamps, and decked out with flowers, images, &c., whilst in every street thousands of crackers have been going off all day.

Mr. Chamberlain delivered a speech on the federation question. He admitted that the federation of the Empire was not beyond the reach of statesmen, and would be the first step towards perfecting the means of mutual defence. If it was understood that any insult or attack upon any other member of the federation should be resented by the whole, it would tend to greater security and the maintenance of peace than all the arms and forts now supporting the Empire.

If a Municipal Council was necessary before, it seems to be necessary now, suggests the author of a letter of protest from a well-known Kowloon resident, who insists that public rights and liberties are involved.

SENT TO SEE KAISER

It was Archbishop Pacelli who presented to the Kaiser of Imperial Germany the famous "Peace Plan" of Pope Benedict XV which never brought about concrete results and remained an effort of the Vatican's desire for peace.

Pope Pacelli held his important German post during the troubled after-war days of Bavaria and even suggested the author of a long series of concordats with Germany and Prussia. In June, 1929, he was transferred to Berlin as Papal Nuncio. In 1925 he was also accredited to the Prussian Government and negotiated an important concordat with that government which was signed June 14, 1929.

After 12 years of successful diplomatic work in Germany, Pope Pius XI called Pacelli back to Rome and after elevating him to the purple in the consistory of December, 1929, substituted the aging Cardinal Gasparri with the youthful cardinal in the most important post of the Catholic Church: that of Papal Secretary of State.

DELEGATE ON MISSIONS. Cardinal Pacelli was chosen by the Pontiff to travel to Buenos Aires as non-official legate to the Eucharistic Congress of 1934. He also was sent by Pius to Lourdes, France, in April, 1935, for the ceremony of the closing of the Holy Year.

After Pacelli was appointed to the Papal post, the church encountered difficult times in Germany, Spain, Mexico and Soviet Russia. But the "all secretary of state carried on. Whenever possible he journeyed to Switzerland for vacations. There, high in the dry, bracing air, Cardinal Pacelli gathered strength anew to face the arduous problems arising.

The Pope strictly observes a carefully planned diet. He never smokes. Pacelli is an author. His legal writings are used as textbooks in law courses of the Holy See.

White Man in Africa

"HISTORY looking back in retrospect on the part played by Imperial Powers in Africa will be more concerned with the nature of the contribution which the European occupation will have made to the future of the African peoples, than with the profit or loss which the African connection may have brought to Europe."

These words appear in a comprehensive study of African conditions written by Lord Hailey, a distinguished ex-Indian Civil Servant, under the auspices of those authoritative institutions, the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London. They are words which have special application to Germany's now pressing demand for colonies in the African continent. They suggest a criterion that has not always been remembered by white folk in their relations with the 150,000,000 Africans.

This criterion is how would any concession to the Reich of the kind that is asked for, affect the people who would thereby be placed under German guardianship?

It may be that what has happened to the Jews in Germany is not a standard whereby to judge the issue involved. Nevertheless, expectation of the future can only be based upon consideration of what is past. In considering the future of races which have not yet reached the stage of ability to rule themselves, all applicable facts no doubt will be taken into account by those responsible for colonial readjustments.

Language and Learning

SPEAKING recently at a meeting in London, Mr. L. A. G. Strong, author, put forward reasons for more and better teaching of English. It is a plea that one hopes will not go unheeded by those concerned; for it happens too frequently in the schools that the child's mother tongue is not regarded as the chief foster parent of his learning; and that there is a tendency to see in the class, or the foreign language, in natural science, or "maths," or history, a fairy godmother who is able, somewhat inexplicitly, to do more for him.

It is understandable that there should be controversy over the relative emphasis to be laid on the various aims of education, and, consequently, over the relative importance of the subjects on the syllabus; but it ought to be recognized that the study of English transcends such controversy. For the English-speaking child can reach the Pierian spring only through a well of English undefiled. If he has inadequate command of his native tongue, he cannot express his thoughts clearly, and will find it difficult to progress in nearly every subject; while what knowledge he does acquire must remain, for the most part, as "loads of learned lumber in his head."

"No one would help them." From Goya's "Disasters of the War," which illustrate what he saw during Napoleon's campaign in Spain (1796-1808) was one of Spain's greatest painters and cartoonists

With fortitude the Spanish people endure the tribulation which the policy of non-intervention has brought upon them. But it would be sentimental folly to close our eyes to the fact that courage alone cannot prevent the passage of a mercenary army equipped with all that is best from the factories of Germany and Italy.

Death rains from the skies upon the civilians who flee before the advancing troops; and it rains because the Spanish people have no means of preventing it from so raining. Rebel troops enter Spanish towns because there are no weapons to bar their way.

ITS population, swollen by refugees who prefer the discomforts and near-starvation of Government Spain to the "Christian" nobility of Franco, central Spain still remains intact, beneath the leadership of the Mija, its popular commander-in-chief.

Appeals to "save democracy" will avail nothing with the present rulers of Britain: it is not ideology but hard facts that do not yet know; but when they might yet make the British Government see sense.

More and more people in this country—Tories, Service men, reactionaries and Imperialists—are coming to see the imminent peril of letting Franco win.

The sacred farce of "non-intervention" has brought the guns and aeroplanes of the dictators into positions of deadly danger to the democracies of Britain and France.

The French now have a third frontier to defend—the Pyrenees. Their communications with their African armies are threatened from Barcelona and Majorca. Their camps and industries in the south of their country have come within easy reach of totalitarian bombers operating from Spanish aerodromes.

AS for Britain and the Empire, a glance at the map indicates the tremendous threat to our communications a Fascist regime in Spain must mean—both in the Mediterranean and even on the long sea route.

The safety of the British people is quite literally at stake in the Spanish struggle, and the British people are being forced by their Government to stand by impotently while that safety is destroyed.

TO-DAY the greater part of Spain is under German and Italian control; but the spirit of those who still defend the country is as strong as ever.

Philip Jordan

IS NOT BEATEN

FOR more than 30 months the people of Spain have endured a ruthless war of invasion, designed by tyrants to wrest from them such democratic liberties as those which we enjoy as a matter of course.

For more than 30 months the people of Spain, abandoned by those who, for no more than selfish reasons, should have succoured them, have stayed the march of tyranny. And they have stayed it at a cost in human life and human suffering which no man can yet compute.

THE war is not yet ended. Over and over again in the last 30 months it has seemed as though nothing could prevent a final subjugation of that proud people; and over and over again, drawing strength from the spiritual certainty that their cause is just, the Spanish people have renewed their strength to resist; and have made their enemies to halt. Because they have done that, the rest of Europe is at peace.

In July, 1936, upon the suggestion of Leon Blum, then Socialist Prime Minister of France, the system of so-called "non-intervention" was adopted, although it must have been obvious to all the Governments who subscribed to it that no arrival in Spain of the Inter-mountain powerful weapon could national Brigade.

From the beginning of the conflict, which, without intervention, the Spanish Government could soon have ended, of right and justice sent them Italy and Germany laid their military resources at the disposal of the rebels, demanding comrades.

THE second factor was the who subscribed to it that no arrival in Spain of the Inter-mountain powerful weapon could national Brigade.

From the beginning of the conflict, which, without intervention, the Spanish Government could soon have ended, of right and justice sent them Italy and Germany laid their military resources at the disposal of the rebels, demanding comrades.

"We had a magnificent view here till they tore down the theatre across the street!"

"SAYS the Berliner Tageblatt . . ."

You won't see that in the news columns again, for the famed, much-quoted German newspaper has gone off the news stands in Berlin.

So the second best-known newspaper in Germany ceases publication. Perhaps you have already forgotten the other one—Vorwarts—once, quoted throughout the world as the mouthpiece of German democratic opinion. Then Hitler came.

It was with Hitler, too, that there came really the end of the Berliner Tageblatt. Under its famous editor, Theodor Wolff, the newspaper was the champion of Liberalism in Germany, quoted nearly every day in Britain as the expression of opinion in the old German Republic.

In 1933 it ceased to be important and was brought into the line with the Nazi point of view.

So the old newspapers go, others take their place. Most quoted now of the German newspapers as you know is the Volkischer Beobachter, because it is the official paper of the Nazi Party. Do you know who its first editor was? Adolf Hitler.

Next in importance now stands the angry Angriff, which is smartly written, but extravagant in tone and opinion. It is important because it is the mouthpiece of Dr. Josef Goebbels, Hitler's strident Minister of Propaganda.

In France there have been changes too, but there it is the newspapers which continue and the proprietors who change. Paris has about 40 newspapers, and of 30 of them you may say that nobody knows who is paying them to express the opinions they do.

In the United States we can recall two or three well-known names now among the dead, such as the World, the New York American, and the New York Herald.

Most quoted New York newspapers are now the Herald-Tribune and Times, both expressing balanced opinions on foreign affairs.

But among the most widely read New York journals are the News and Mirror, small sized newspapers, ex-

CLIPPER

TO-DAYBoeing Sets New Record

All preparations have been completed by the Superintendent of Kai Tak airport, Mr. A. J. R. Moss, for the handling of the Boeing Clipper, the world's largest plane, which is expected to arrive here between 11 a.m. and 11.30 a.m. to-day.

The Clipper left Guam at 4.30 a.m. Hongkong time yesterday, and completed the 1,700 miles journey to Manila in 9½ hours at an average speed of 175 miles an hour, a record for the crossing. The plane landed at Manila at 2 p.m.

The plane is bringing a crew of twelve, and twelve technical experts are aboard studying the progress of the flight.

Members of the public who have been invited by Pan American Airways to view the plane have been requested not to reach Kai Tak before 3.30 p.m., as immediately after arrival the plane will be handed over to the mechanical staff.

The plane will leave on the return flight to California at 8.30 a.m. on Saturday.

Reception at Manila

Manila, Mar. 2. Completing the first trans-Pacific crossing, the Boeing Clipper landed here at 1.55 p.m. after circling the city and enabling hundreds on the roof-tops to see her.

Scores of people made the hour's motor trip to Cavite to inspect the world's largest transport plane, which was escorted to the landing area by a squadron of new U.S. Army bombers. The plane leaves for Hongkong to-morrow.—United Press.

Arrival at Manila

Manila, Mar. 2. After flying over the city, the Pan-American Airways' new 64-passenger "Boeing 314" landed at Cavite air base at 2 p.m. to-day on the penultimate leg of the shuttle-down flight from San Francisco to Hongkong, to which place she will take off at dawn to-morrow.

Thousands of spectators were turned away from Cavite and only a few hundred invited were present to welcome the 11 members of the crew and 11 observers. They stated that the ship behaved splendidly, but they were held up two days at Wake owing to the weather.

Bringing mail to the Far East, the Boeing is the first of six 83,000-lb machines shortly to be acquired by Pan-American Airways.—Reuter.

AIR FRANCE ARRIVES

The Air France plane Ville De Hongkong reached Hongkong at 1 p.m. yesterday with passengers, mail and freight from Hanoi.

These aboard the plane included Mme. Syrejo, the arts dealer from Paris, on a return business trip, M. de la Touche and M. Souhalte, business-men from Hanoi.

Outrages

London, Mar. 2. An explosion, audible for a radius of ten miles, occurred early this morning at an aqueduct over one of London's most important arterial roads at Willesden.

The aqueduct carries the Grand Union Canal over the road. A large hole was torn in the aqueduct wall, but the steel casing remained almost intact and prevented a disastrous flood.

Only a slight stream of water is running into the road. No personal injuries were caused. The nature of the explosion suggests another of the series of recent Irish Republican Army outrages.—Reuter.

Spain Developments

Requested By Franco

The rehabilitation of war-torn Spain is receiving the attention of British industrialists who are making preparations to receive big orders from the Franco Government, following the recognition of the regime by Great Britain.

Soviet comment on Anglo-French recognition is made in the Pravda which says that the decision marks a new stage in the development of a second imperialist war directed primarily against Britain, France and the United States.

The insurgent command is finalising the offensive against Madrid, but it is believed in some quarters that the city will surrender.

Following the resignation of President Manuel Azana, Senor Martinez Barrio, President of the Cortes, has been elected President of Loyalist Spain.

London, March 1. British industrialists, hopeful of big orders from General Franco for the rehabilitation of war-torn Spain, are already visiting the offices of Franco's bankers, Messrs. S. Kleinwort & Sons, and the Spanish merchant house next door, the Juan March Co.

In addition, three organisations, the British Federation of Industries, the London Chamber of Commerce and the Institute of Exports, have already assigned experts to study the possibilities and difficulties of a huge expansion of trade with Spain.

Indicative of the feeling of urgency it is announced that the British Federation of Industries will submit specific recommendations in the next few days to the Board of Trade.

The total trade, both exports and imports, with Spain last year amounted to £9,394,000, compared with £13,732,193 before the Spanish war reached the semi-blockade stage, but forthcoming trade should easily surpass this in view of the acute shortage of houses, farm implements and other essentials, as well as the wholesale destruction of factories, shops and other buildings in Catalonia. The obstacles are admitted to be serious. Franco's financial position is considered serious even when the Bank of Spain's gold is restored to him.

There is also the "inside track" enjoyed by Germany and Italy and their willingness to trade on barter terms which are not welcome to British traders.

Already one of the two Chambers of Commerce has drawn the attention of the Government to the necessity of resuming operating of the Anglo-Spanish clearing office, which was suspended in December 1936.—United Press.

RUSSIAN COMMENT

Moscow, March 1. The Pravda, giving the first official reaction to the British and French recognition of General Franco says: "The recognition marks a new stage in the development of a second imperialist war directed primarily against Britain, France and United States capitalist interests. The object of re-creating the world to favour the aggressive countries at the expense of the so-called democratic Powers."

"The world is again witnessing a second Munich agreement, a monstrous go-between for British and French diplomacy and Fascist aggressors, through the mediation of the Burgos government, the adventurer and lackey of the Rome-Berlin axis."—United Press.

ASKED TO WITHDRAW FROM SPAIN

Paris, Mar. 2. General Franco has asked Signor Mussolini to withdraw his Italian legionaries, according to information given to the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber by M. Georges Bonnet. The request is said to have been conveyed to It. Duce by the Italian commander, General Gambara, who flew to Rome from Cadix after the recent victory parade in Barcelona.

Members of the Commission state that M. Bonnet declared Franco had told General Gambara that the Barcelona parade should be considered as the Italians' farewell appearance. They say they gathered from M. Bonnet that the request is opposed by certain Italian leaders who hope the civil war will continue in order to justify keeping their troops in Spain. The French Government, M. Bonnet is said to have added, is re-

Casualties

Chungking, Mar. 2. A Chinese military report states that the total Japanese casualties on Hainan Island since the landing are over 5,000. Battles were taking place every day with guerrillas who have bases in the mountains.

Over 1,000 Japanese troops have been sent to hospital in Hainan owing to the tropical climate to which the Japanese are not accustomed.

The Japanese troops on the island have been reinforced six times.—Trans-Ocean.

New Air Route

Rangoon To
Test Flight

Kunming, Mar. 2. An Imperial Airways plane is expected to arrive here from Burma at 11 a.m. to-day.

This will be the first time a foreign civil plane has flown over Chinese territory.

The plane, an Atlanta type machine, was originally scheduled to fly here from Rangoon to-day. It is, however, embarking on the flight one day ahead and arrived at Lusho at 12.40 p.m. yesterday. It is continuing its journey to Kunming this morning.

No passengers are carried on the plane. Only the captain and three other members of the crew are on board.

The Far Eastern manager of Imperial Airways has arrived here from Chungking to discuss with the local authorities the inauguration of a regular air service between China and Burma.—Central News.

It is learned that Lt.-Commander A. D. S. Murray, Far East Manager of Imperial Airways, left Hongkong on Tuesday, though his name was not included with those of other passengers.

It is understood he has gone to Kunming and Chungking to complete arrangements for the Burma-China service, and to receive the pilot's official report on the completion of the present test flight from Rangoon to Kunming.

Lashio Airport

Chungking, Mar. 2. Aviation circles here say that despite the successful trial flights by the China National Aviation Corporation and Imperial Airways with a small type of plane, the inauguration of the Chungking-Rangoon regular service must be delayed at least until the Lashio aerodrome is completed.

Hundreds of Burmese labourers have been engaged to expand the landing field, which is small and does not permit the manoeuvres of giant transports.—Trans-Ocean.

Palestine

Proposals

London, Mar. 2. It is learned in authoritative quarters that the Arab counter-proposals do not involve rejection of the British Government's suggestion. It is understood that the Arab delegates will accept the idea of an independent Palestine State as the basis of discussion, but criticise the preliminary stages envisaged by the British Government as a means to this end.

It is believed that the delegates of the neighbouring Arab States completely agree with the views of the Palestine Arabs.—Reuter.

New Triple Alliance
Is Rumoured

London, Mar. 2. A number of Japanese Ambassadors and Ministers will meet in Berlin to-morrow to discuss whether the still unsigned triple alliance of Italy, Germany and Japan is to be so framed as to be directed against Britain and France (possibly the United States) as well as against the Soviet, according to the News Chronicle.

The paper says that the Japanese are increasingly active in an effort to protect themselves, from the consequences of the reckless adventure in China, by the formation of an iron front against Russia and the democracies, but the European axis Powers are again wavering on the advisability of an alliance.

As the result of inquiries made by the paper in London, there is nothing to support the idea that a conference, if it is to be held, to have special significance. Neither the Japanese Embassy nor other quarters have knowledge of such a conference, and Mr. Shigemitsu is not going. In view of his importance in the Japanese diplomatic world it is unlikely that

Huge
Increase
RevealedExpenditure Totals
£220,626,700

London, Mar. 2. The air estimates show a gross total of £220,626,700 as against £194,403,000 in 1938.

The net amount is £68,501,000 (a decrease of £6,040,000) reached after taking into account the issues to be made from defence loan as appropriations in aid, namely £142,000,000.

An accompanying memorandum explains that excluding loan elements, the resulting figure is £205,959,000, an increase of over 60 per cent. on the corresponding figure of 1938 when account is taken of the supplementary estimates.

The estimates provide for a subsidy of £2,000,000 for external air services in connection with civil aviation.—Reuter Special.

1,750 PLANES

London, Mar. 2. In a memorandum accompanying the estimates, Sir Kinsley Wood states it is proposed to raise the numerical strength of the air force personnel to 118,000, an increase of 22,000 as compared with last year.

At the close of the financial year 1939-40 the air force stationed in Great Britain will consist of 1,750 front line planes, to conform with the programme drawn up in 1938.

The memorandum confirms that an experimental mail service by means of flying-boats will be organised over the North Atlantic in the summer of 1939.—Trans-Ocean.

CANADIAN DEFENCES

Ottawa, Mar. 2. The Prime Minister, Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, intervened sharply in a protracted defence debate to urge the need for haste.

"We may be called upon at any moment to consider questions far larger than any we have discussed yet," he said.

"I pray that will not come to pass, but every newspaper reader knows of the situation and we would be well advised to get along with our parliamentary business as rapidly as we can."—Reuter Special.

Information

Los Angeles, Mar. 1. During the spy trial to-day it was revealed that the United States Naval Intelligence reports which Milham Gorin is alleged to have stolen dealt with information concerning the reported co-operation of German, Japanese and Mexican agents.

The reports mentioned a powerful German acid which ate through the hull of a Japanese molasses boat in Hawaii before the crew were able to dump it. It described a Japanese fishing craft with a radio so strong that it was able to communicate with Tokyo from California, and which it was asserted, carried acid in glass-lined drums. The acid, when mixed with salt water, was able to eat all metal, such as cables.

The Chief of the Naval Intelligence at San Pedro, Lieut. H. Clayborne, in a written account said that two Japanese arrested in 1937 were caught dumping acid near Terminal Island.—United Press.

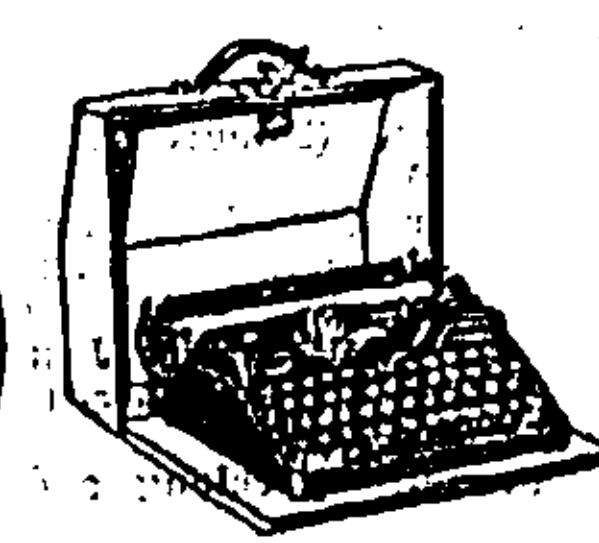

DEPORTED TO GERMANY

Mexico City, Mar. 1. President Cardenas has expelled the Baron and Garbinsky to Germany. An official communique failed to give any explanation, but the Press continued to insist that the men were concerned in espionage.—United Press.

FIRE ALARM

Four fire appliances rushed to Po Leung Kue New Street last night in response to a telephone call. When the engines arrived the officers found out that some clothing in one of the flats had caught fire, and had been extinguished by buckets of water by the inmates of the floor.

ANNUAL RACE MEETING TO TERMINATE TO-MORROW

NINE EVENTS IN AN ATTRACTIVE BUT SHORTER PROGRAMME

(By "Captain Foster")

The Annual Race Meeting of the Hongkong Jockey Club will terminate to-morrow at Happy Valley. Racegoers are reminded that the first saddling bell will be rung at 1.30 p.m., instead of the usual eleven o'clock.

An attractive programme of nine races, including four handicap contests, will be presented to the racing public and chief interest will undoubtedly be centred on the two main events, the Professional Cup and Subscriptions Grifflins' Handicap, and the Australian Ponies' Championship.

It is almost certain that a strong battalion of children will be turning out to-morrow and although they are permitted in either enclosure, they will only be admitted in the company of their parents. Attention of the public is drawn to the fact that no animals will be allowed. Kiddies are reminded that there are several musty kickers among the Australian and China ponies and the Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club will not be responsible for any accidents. As a warning, boys and girls are asked to keep clear of all ponies that are adorned by a piece of red ribbon on the tail near the dock.

MR. EU'S SUCCESS

Congratulations are due to Mr. Eu Tong-sen for capturing the most classic events, the outstanding feature was the brilliant performance of Rose Elect, who annexed the triple crown namely, the Maiden Stakes, the Hongkong Derby and the Champion Stakes. This success was, in certain measure, due to the fine handling of the chestnut mare by Mr. C. Encarnacao.

It was Mr. Eu Tong-sen's first Hongkong Derby.

It is also interesting to reveal that after two years of abortive attempts, Rose Evelyn eventually captured the Garrison Cup for the Singapore millionaires.

The most successful jockey at the Annual Meeting was Mr. C. Encarnacao, who is at the head of the list with nine wins, four seconds and a couple of thirds. Four track records were established and Mr. Encarnacao had the pleasure of piloting all the winners.

UNCHALLENGED

Owing to an attack of colic, Silky-light could not step in the ring to fight it out with Rose Elect in the Champion Stakes to decide whether "Miss Champion of the Carnival" was a better rider. It must have been a bitter blow to Mr. Eric Molter, the Shanghai owner of Silky-light.

The owners of Celtic Star had to share the spoils of the Sports Club and Hongkong Stakes with the owners of Marksmen owing to the fact that the judges could not separate the two ponies after a distance of 1 1/2 miles. However, the spin of the coin gave the Sports Club Cup to the Kong Bros., the owners of Celtic Star and I presume the twin brothers will also make use of the coin.

This was not the first occasion that owners had to toss for a trophy, for in 1935 Mr. T. E. Pearce's King's Jubilee and Mr. Eu Tong-sen's Rose Queen were locked together in the St. George's Plate and the latter called right in the spin.

FINAL CRICKET TEST COMMENCES TO-DAY: PLAY TO A FINISH

Durban, Mar. 2.

Eddie Paynter, the Lancashire left-hander, is fit again and has been included in the M.C.C. team to play South Africa to-morrow in the Fifth and Final Test. But Wilkinson, the young English slow bowler, has not completely recovered and has been dropped from the team.

At one time there was doubt about Paynter's fitness, following his retirement from the game against Natal with a pulled leg muscle, but after running round Kingsmead Ground several times to-day, he declared himself satisfied.

Wilkinson's omission may be due to the recent removal of a boil on his bowling hand, which is still bandaged. Perks, the Worcestershire bowler, has been included and will be playing in his first Test match of the present tour.

The teams, therefore, are as follows:

M.C.C.

W. R. Hammond (Capt.)
B. H. Valentine
P. A. Gibbs
K. Francis
Edrich
Hutton
Paynter
Perks
Verity
Wright
Ames
Twelfth Man:—N. W. D. Yardley

E. A. Rowan
A. B. C. Langton
N. Gordon
E. S. Newson
R. E. Grieverson
A. D. Nourse
E. L. Dalton
F. G. Van Der Byl

There was a steady drizzle this morning, thus preventing practice. It also rained yesterday, but the wicket is protected.

The weather is dull at the moment, but shows indication of clearing up.

The first and second Tests were drawn, the third was won by the M.C.C. and the fourth was drawn. The fifth match will be played to a finish.—Reuter.

The curtain raiser to-morrow will be the Nil Desperandum Stakes, over a mile, for non-winning China sub-griffins of this meeting that have started at least twice, and the Stewards of the Club will determine by lot in which section the ponies will start. At the time of writing I have not a list of the draw but my selections will appear to-morrow.

Attention of owners is drawn to the fact that the result of the draw does not relieve them of the responsibility of declaring their ponies as starters in the usual manner.

The weights for the Grifflins Spring Handicap over a mile have not as yet been announced and in the circumstances I cannot discuss the prospects of any ponies. The conditions of this race are for Derby ponies that have started and have not won and it seems strange to say that only six ponies are barred from the list of 41 entries. They are Conqueror Time, Eve of Harvest, The Heaven, Galaxy, Hyndford Bridge and Navylight. The owner of Blue Express and Rose Elect was so cocksure of the success of his ponies that they were not nominated for this handicap event. A good few nominations are ineligible owing to the fact that they did not weigh out, but from the list of non-winners it looks that we shall see a good contest.

good run and Marksmen will be the other contender ridden by Mr. T. L. Wong. The Professional Cup is to be won two years in succession and the owner, Mr. S. W. Tang, of last season's winner (Louis XIV) has not a candidate eligible to represent his colours. This means that the Law Society will be quite safe for another year.

There is no ban for winners in the Phaethon Handicap for "C" class China ponies and under. This race has attracted no less than 22 entries. The run is over a mile. The allotment of weights will be published by the time these notes appear and without seeing the list of handicaps, I cannot find a pony to beat Tsampa Day, the winner of Curragh Handicap, on the first day. It was running with a limit load of 100 lbs. and can be relied upon to let us have a carbon copy of his success. Rose Evelyn, if started, may prove a danger.

The penultimate event, the Australian Ponies' Championship, will be interesting as it has been represented to me on good authority that Triumphant Day will weigh out for the classic with the same jockey, Mr. B. L. Tao. With due respect to his triumph in the Rooty-Hill Derby, Triumphant Day is up against a tough proposition in Lucky Lad (Mr. V. V. Needa) and Lancashire Chips (Mr. D. Black) in the Australian champions. Lucky Lad has my vote.

The Happy Valley Spring Handicap is for China ponies that have started at this meeting and have not won, and the entries are to be divided into "A" and "B" divisions at the discretion of the Handicapper, Mr. C. M. Alves. With no data available, I cannot therefore make any comments.

Farr To Meet "Red" Burman In London

London, Mar. 2.

Tommy Farr, the Welsh heavyweight boxer and one-time British champion, has signed a contract to fight the American, "Red" Burman, in London during April.

The date is likely to be April 13 or 20. It will be recalled that Burman beat Farr on points recently, the verdict being disputed by Farr and his manager.—Reuter.

Volunteers To Play The Army

There will be two games of Rugby Football on the Hongkong F.C. ground at Happy Valley on Saturday, March 4. At 3 p.m. a Club side will play H.M.S. Birmingham, and this game will be followed at 4.15 by one between the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps and the Army.

Club and Volunteer sides have been selected as follows:—
Hongkong F.C.—M. W. MacGrath; C. J. Powell, H. D. Bidwell (captain); G. S. Wilson, H. van Leeuwen; J. Hutchison, R. Rutherford; E. W. Stout, J. F. Burford, K. A. Watson, C. M. Stark, O. A. Searle, W. B. Richardson, K. H. G. White and H. W. E. Heath.

H.K.V.D.C.—J. G. Day; G. K. Chadwick, M. G. Carruthers, W. E. Grieverson (captain); D. R. Stewart; A. H. R. Butcher, E. Taverner; W. E. Peers, K. W. Smit, J. S. Dunnett, E. A. Bompas, A. F. Walkden, A. G. Dalziel, G. M. Marks and J. Redman.

Seven-a-Side Tournament
The Rugby Football season will close next week with the annual Seven-a-Side Tournament, organised by the Club, part proceeds of which are donated to local Service and Civilian charities. Sixteen teams have entered, and preliminary rounds will be played off on Monday and Wednesday, leaving four quarter-final games, two semi-finals and the final to be decided on Saturday, March 11. The games on Monday and Wednesday will commence at 4.30 p.m., whilst Saturday's play will

KOWLOON C. C. TEAMS

1st XI (home).—F. Goodwin (Capt.), D. J. N. Anderson, K. M. Buxter, R. T. Broadbridge, G. C. Burnett, E. C. Fincher, E. F. Fincher, S. V. Gittins, R. E. Lee, N. A. E. Mackay and G. A. White. Umpire, J. P. Robinson.

2nd XI (away).—W. Muleahy, R. Baldwin, F. A. Broadbridge, G. A. Goodban, S. A. Gray, B. D. Lay, J. R. Luke, T. A. Madar, W. L. McKenzie, R. A. J. Simpson and G. E. Taylor. Umpire, H. Brokenshire.

start at 3 p.m. Admission to all stands on Monday and Wednesday will be 50 cents, and on Saturday the charge for the centre of the Covered Stand will be $1 with the remainder at 50 cents. Service men in uniform will be admitted at half-price.

Seven-a-Side football is a lively, fast and open game, giving spectators plenty of thrills throughout. This year's entries are fairly well matched, and some close games will be seen. The Police have entered a strong "A" team, which stands a good chance of winning the Tournament, but they will have stern opposition from the Fortress R.E.'s, winners of the Army Seven-a-Side Tournament, and the Hongkong Bank team. Many Club players are turning out for Hong and the Police sides, and their "A" seven is in consequence rather weaker than in previous years. They also have the disadvantage of being without a regular scrum-half, as J. R. Henderson injured himself in last Saturday's game and will not be playing any more rugby this season.

The draw for the Tournament will be published to-morrow.

Australia Looking Ahead To The Tests

HEAVY SCORING IN MOST OF MATCHES PLAYED THUS FAR

The Inter-State matches played so far this summer in Australia have been generally of a heavy scoring nature, and while this might suggest a bowling weakness, the greater responsibility must be carried by the run of perfect wickets, which, in Adelaide, Melbourne, and Brisbane, have been of a slow and easy character, absolutely heart-breaking to bowlers of all classes.

In Sydney, however, a most extraordinary wicket prevailed, in that it became better and better as the match progressed, when Queensland and New South Wales fought a low-scoring match, writes C. G. McQuarrie in the Observer. Some months ago the whole of the centre square at the Sydney Cricket Ground was ploughed up, and new soil laid; and on the first day on which a match was played on it the new wicket absolutely favoured the bowlers.

There was no malice in the pitch, however, although an occasional ball rose higher than usual, while, again, an odd one kept low. But it was responsive to spin—an ideal wicket on which to bring the bowler on even terms with the batsman.

But as time goes on, with the attention usually given to it, the pitches on this ground will vie with those heart-breaking sections of turf in the other States, and again become as those which have hitherto prevailed in Sydney.

The wicket on the first day of this recent match reminded me very vividly of the pitch at Leeds, where the Fourth Test was played last July. If we could only depend on wickets of this quality and state of preparation for Test matches, not only in Australia, but everywhere, there would be no need for suggestions as to extension of time for Test matches.

Spin bowlers would quickly answer the question as to whether four days were sufficient or not.

A QUEENSLAND FIND

Through the season here so far, three new bowlers of varying promise have appeared, who may do duty for Australia in the future. It has been said that Australian usually waits for something to crop up in the bowling line of truth in that statement I feel convinced that in one case at least, a bowler has appeared who will grace the Australian eleven, provided he receives the proper encouragement, and is not lured from his natural principles by an overdose of so-called success in Queensland. The bowler in question is C. Christ (pronounced Krist), a medium-slow left-hander, who seems to be one of the best propositions I have seen for some time on the prevailing wickets in Australia.

His resemblance to P. M. Hornibrook, also of Queensland, and who was a member of the 1936 Australian team to England, is most marked. He is built on the same tall and slender lines, while the similarity in the run to the crease, and the delivery, is so great as to make one think that he is a twin brother.

Christ has not the same pace through the air as Hornibrook, nor does he possess the really fast ball which the latter applied with telling effect, but notwithstanding this, he maintains an accurate length over long periods, and can definitely spin the ball and make it bite whenever the slightest assistance is offered by the pitch. He floats the ball quite a lot, and is not afraid to toss it with a high trajectory with the object of luring the batsman to his doom.

SUCCESSOR TO WHITE

Now that E. S. White, a member of the 1938 Australian team to England, has retired from first-class cricket, Christ is his logical successor. But he is a better bowler than White, and would be much more effective unit in an attack, where variety means so much. The Queenslanders is not a batsman of quality, although he is said to meet with reasonable success in Brisbane club matches, but he is a reliable fieldman. One can foretell the future, but I see in this bowler a distinct "find," and one who will improve as he gains experience. Another bowler Queensland has brought into prominence this summer is J. Ellis who, although labelled as right-hand fast, is not more than just over fast-medium. Ellis was brought almost direct from junior cricket into the interstate arena only a month or so ago and has performed with satisfaction considering his lack of experience. He is not built on the lines of a Cotter or a Larwood, being rather slim for fast bowling, yet he has displayed a surprising strength and stamina.

HAS POSSIBILITIES

His direction has to be steered, but in the match against N.S.W. at Sydney he met with success in the second innings on a batsman's wicket, simply through sensible bowling on direction, ably supported by a precious late swing.

In the first innings his direction was erratic. He had the N.S.W. batsmen nibbling at his off-theory, and he continued to induce them to make mistakes by improved bowling. He has possibilities of developing into a useful stock man for his State side, but I would like to see him with more pace.

Australia is in need of a real speed bowler who possesses the necessary control to force batsmen back, but without any suggestion of bumping in order to secure that coveted "lift," which is only commendable for shortage of pace. E. L. McCormick is still the fastest bowler in Australia, but his control and accuracy are not sufficiently convincing to warrant confidence.

GRIMMETT STILL SUPREME

The third bowler appearing on the horizon is D. Ring, of Victoria, who joins the right-hand left-break and googly class, and who has met with fair success on his first appearances.

Ring, like most other slow bowlers, is prone to length weakness here and there, but he gives promise of development along the right lines.

Of the slow bowlers, however, we have none who can yet compare with C. V. Grimmett, who, in his forty-seventh year, has demonstrated that he is far from being a spent force.

There is a dearth of accurate slow bowlers in Australia at present, and as this class is the most effective in an attack on the beautiful pitch surfaces in this country their cultivation is an essential. It would be a serious reflection on our young players if Grimmett, at his age were requisitioned for service in Australia when next England comes here, yet one must be prepared for such a contingency.

TRUSTING TO LUCK

The fact that slow bowlers possessing the confidence, accuracy, the control of flight and spin of an Armstrong, and the penetrative force of a Grimmett, are not appearing, is due largely to the absence of concentration in practice amongst our young bowlers.

There is too much trusting to luck while the conditions in which our club cricket is played are such that young bowlers are quite ignorant of the perfect conditions of first-class cricket, not to mention the experience and calibre of the batsmen opposed to them, so that heavy punishment damps their ardour, as is only to be expected.

The purpose and courage connected with the work of men like Armstrong, Grimmett, and Mailey, for instance, were such that success sooner or later was certain; and it is the evidence of these same characteristics in the Queenslanders Christ which inspires one with bright hopes for his future.

Rifle Shooting

FIVE POSSIBLE RECORDED AT MID-WEEK MEET

No fewer than five possibles were recorded at the mid-week Spoon and Practice Shoot, at which over a hundred members attended. The light was excellent, but the wind was decidedly tricky, especially at 600 yards. Most members' cards were spoilt at this distance after a promising start at 200 and 500 yards. It is worth recording that on one possible board, there were three possibles and one thirty-four!

C/Sgt. Hale won the Nett S.R. (b) Spoon, including a possible at 200 yards. L/Cpl. Hammond took one of the handicap spoons, which included a possible at 500 yards, and C.S.M. Maslen, R.E., the remaining handicap spoon. Inspector Lole, Hongkong Police Reserve, obtained a possible at 600 yards.

In the S.R. (a) Class, L/Cpl. Lufford, Middlesex, won the Nett Spoon with a steady shoot of 88, while three other members of this Club obtained handicap spoons. L/Sgt. Jones and Spr. Rumary, R.E. Rifle Club, took the other two spoons. Cpl. Ferreira, H.K.V.D.C., scored a possible at 500 yards, as also did a new member, Pte. Marques, shooting for the first time.

The programme for the remainder of the season has been altered to assist members to complete their Thirty Roll Cards. Next Wednesday shooting will be at one range 200, 500, and 600 yards, and the long range shooting has been put forward to Wednesday, April 5. Shooting on Sunday April 30 has been cancelled owing to the Volunteer Rifle Meet.

The Sunday Shoot on March 26 will be arranged by the Assistant Honorary Secretary.

STUDY YOUR BACK VIEW

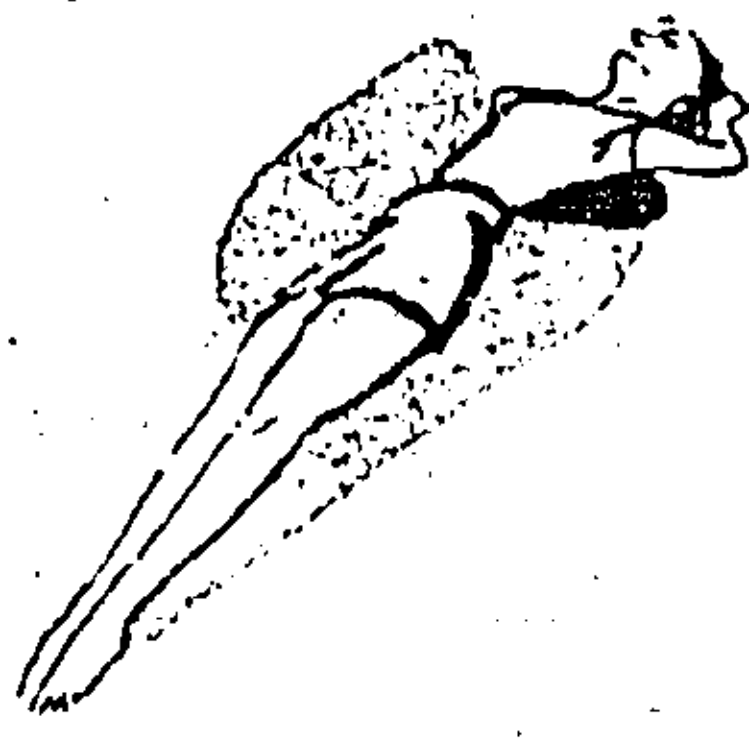

The mirror mostly shows you a smiling face—but the new evening dresses put backs to the fore.

DO you give as much thought to beautifying your poor back as you do to making up your face? Unless you're one of the notable exceptions, you don't. Yet bare back beauty is easy if you're prepared to exert a little patience, spend a little time.

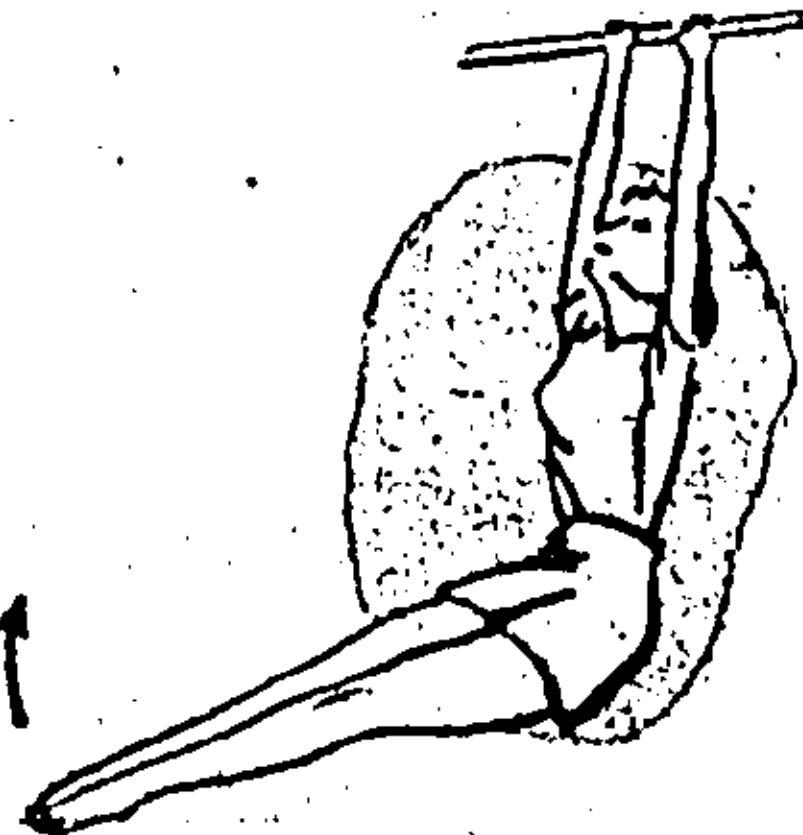

The back in the photograph is lovely because it is neither too podgy nor too muscular, the shoulders are broad, the shoulder blades are well covered, the skin is smooth and satiny and it is a uniform tone all over. That's the ideal to make for. Try out these hints and see how you do.

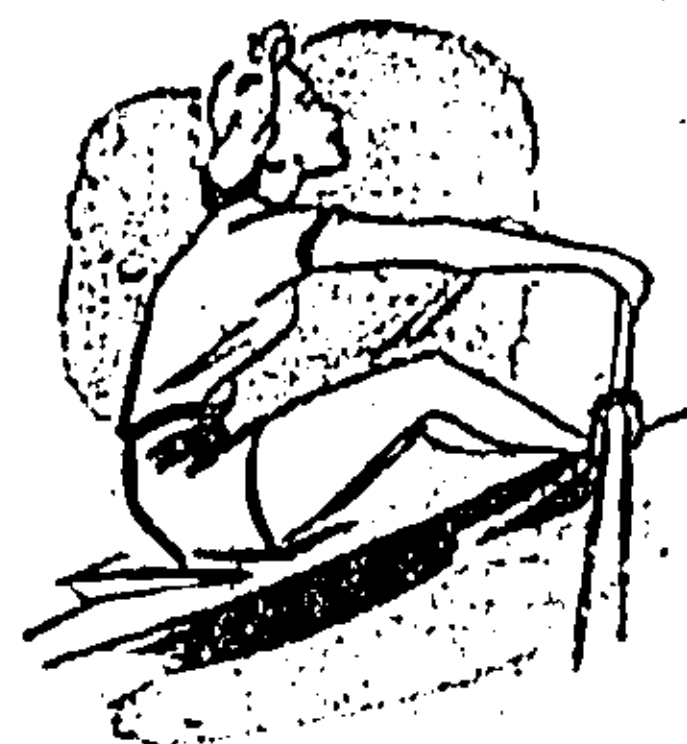

One of the first rules to follow when you want to acquire a lovely back is to sleep flat on a fairly hard mattress, without either a bolster or pillow.

To correct a round back and protruding shoulder-blades, lie stretched out on your back on the floor for a quarter of an hour a day, and slip between your body and the ground—under your armpits—a sausage-shaped pillow.

Instead of doing your "daily dozen" lying on the ground, do them hanging from a bar, which your local carpenter can fix up in your bedroom. Excellent for your back muscles—and you'll be doing your "tummy" muscles some good, too.

If you have protruding shoulder-blades you're sure to be round-chested, too. Insufficient breathing is the chief reason for these two figure faults. Practice breathing exercises regularly, and go in for outdoor sports.

If you're ashamed of the size of your seat, give yourself a sort of vibro-massage every day by wriggling along the floor on your back, legs stretched out in front of you. The picture shows you how.

As well as exercising your back, you must take special care to keep the skin always clean and smooth... and therefore youthful. Stimulate it with a brisk rub with a dry loofah after your bath.

It's Good Fun If A Girl Learns Her Hair Treatment With Resultant Soft Tresses

Footwear Fashions

TWO popular new colours in footwear will be wine and shades of violet.

Very attractive too is marine blue, which tones with many outfits. In fact all shades of blue will be fashionable for footwear during the coming months.

Another useful and quite attractive colour is Cotswold grey, as it acts as a foil to brightly coloured dresses and suits. It is really a much more attractive colour than the name implies.

Shoes modelled on the sandal style will combine two colours such as sunshine yellow and white, or a deep rose and white.

Advance news of styles show that a high cut gusset court shoe, with a cut-out design on the front will be popular. Some have rosettes and swathed trimmings—delightfully feminine touches. The shoes will also be very strongly favoured.

Watch your heels—it is this part of your shoes which will denote whether you are really up-to-date.

What is called the new Dutch Boy heel has appeared. It is comfortable, and is usually featured in suede walking shoes.

Heels, generally speaking, will be lower and larger, and altogether very much more comfortable for women who find it difficult to walk comfortably in the old type of spindle heels.

And by-the-way there will be fewer all-white shoes during the coming seasons; instead we shall have white combined with bright colours. Finally, for warmer days there are wooden soled clogs.

Those present at the meeting were Mr. R. R. Todd, Chairman, Mr. F. C. Hall, Mr. Tang Shu-kin, M.B.E., Dr. S. N. Chu, Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, and Mr. A. el Arculli.

Licences granted by the Urban Council between February 14 and March 1, were 12 in number.

citing and sensational, though politically not very important.

For the Soviet speak Izvestia and Pravda, both voicing merely official opinions—no others allowed, following the German and Italian pattern.

Italy, as a nation, of course, speaks with one voice, although through many well-known newspapers. It issues from the mild, charming, and amiable Virginio Gayda—in the Giornale d'Italia—always quoted as the mouthpiece of Mussolini. Which he is.

Italy, however, has another voice, not directed by Mussolini. It is called L'Osservatore Romano.

That is the voice of the Pope—from Vatican City.

Take it that what these newspapers say is what—within limits—the countries that read them think.

give a definite reply to the Japanese proposals.
It was revealed that the Japanese Consul-General, Mr. Yoshiaki Mura, accompanied by Colonel Hirota of the Japanese Army and Commander Mitunobu of the Japanese Navy, held another interview with Mr. C. S. Franklin at the Municipal Council at 11.45 o'clock yesterday morning.
The Japanese officials pointed out that possible delay in the negotiation would be taken advantage of by disturbing elements and suggested that effective measures for controlling the threatening situation should be taken promptly under co-operation between the Municipal Council and the Japanese authorities.

Following Thursday's negotiations it was believed that a definite reply would be given by the Municipal Council to the Japanese authorities during to-day.—Domci.

Devastation In Poklo

Altogether 930 civilians were killed and 142 others wounded in Poklo, west of Waichow on the East River, Kwangtung, as a result of the Japanese bombing and shelling last year, according to an extensive investigation conducted by the Hongkong Poklo Residents' Refugees Relief Association.

In addition, upwards of 30,000 people have been rendered homeless and destitute and 3,450 others have suffered from various diseases.

A total of 11,204 shops and residences were reduced to ruins either by bombs or fire, amounting to more than $5,000,000 properly losses.

It is stated that at least 2,000 corpses of soldiers and civilians were left unburied in the villages and along the highways in the town. Decomposing bodies of live stock were also found.—Central News.

DETAILED DISCUSSION

London, Mar. 2.
Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Mr. R. A. Butler, and a small committee of Arab delegates comprising two Palestine delegates and representatives of all the other Arab delegations, met for an hour and a half this afternoon, and began a detailed discussion of the British suggestions, which will be resumed on Saturday morning.

British circles emphasize that the Government's suggestions continue to be the basis for discussion with the Arabs, and they have undergone no modification.
Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Butler had a talk in the Premier's room in the House of Commons this evening with Dr. Weizmann and Bengurion Wise.
Dr. Weizmann reported to the Premier the attitude of the Jewish delegation, and to-morrow afternoon there will be a further informal talk between some of the Jewish delegates and the British delegation.

It is understood that Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Butler to-day had a conversation with Viscount Halifax preparatory to to-morrow's talk.
The meeting between the British and Jewish delegates lasted about an hour, and well-informed circles state that the Jewish attitude to the British proposals remained unchanged, namely, that they cannot accept the British suggestions as a basis for discussion.

It is not known at present whether the Jews intend to submit counter-proposals, but if they do, it is believed the British Government will give them full consideration.
It is now stated that the White Paper embodying the MacMahon correspondence will be distributed on Saturday morning.—Reuter.

POLICE ACTION IN COURT CASES: MAGISTRATE'S SENSATIONAL PROTEST

WOMEN RELEASED BY COURT RE-ARRESTED AND BANISHED

CRITICISM OF the methods adopted by the Police in re-arresting women and having them banished after they had been cautioned by him in Court were made by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest, Senior Magistrate, at the Central Magistracy this morning, when a woman, Leung Suet-ying, appeared before him on a charge of soliciting in Des Voeux Road Central yesterday for an immoral purpose.

Mr. Forrest asked the prosecuting officer, Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham: "I understand that some of these girls arrested for soliciting and cautioned by me were subsequently re-arrested and scheduled for banishment. Do you know if that is correct?"

Seven Re-arrested

Sub-Inspector Cunningham left the Court to make inquiries, and on the return said that seven of the girls had been re-arrested and scheduled for banishment.

"I think that procedure is most improper, the Magistrate said.

"Whatever one may think about banishment in normal times—when it is perhaps possible to hold that it is a punishment—there can be no question but that, in the present circumstances, it operates as a very heavy punishment indeed, one which causes far more severe hardship to the persons banished than the heavy penalty which I have power to inflict for this offence.

FURTHER PENALTY

"It is therefore improper, when the Court has, after mature consideration, imposed what it considers an adequate penalty, that a further penalty should be inflicted in this way.

"As I understand that these girls are banished on the grounds that they have been convicted of this offence before me, there will be no further convictions until I am assured that this practice has been abandoned, and I have no alternative but to dismiss the case as trivial."

Defendant was then discharged.

COMPARATIVE COSTS OF JAPAN'S TWO WARS

TOKYO, Mar. 3.

IN COMPARISON with the military and naval expenses incurred by Japan in connection with the Russo-Japanese War, which amounted to 1,700,000,000 yen, the expenses of the China Incident will be at least seven times larger.

Soviet Ice Breaker Due

THE SOVIET ice breaker Kaganovich will pass through Hongkong shortly on its way to the Arctic Circle.

This modern ship which can crush its way through ice 12 feet thick at a speed of eight knots, has just left Singapore on its way to the north.

She carries five stewards and one woman doctor, in addition to a crew of nearly 150.

The captain in a newspaper interview recently said: "The presence of women aboard the ship acts as a restraining influence on a long voyage."

Remembering that the crew has to spend about four months of each year aboard the ice-breaker in the Arctic circle, the Soviet shipbuilders at Nikolai, on the Black Sea, have paid particular attention to the provision of comfortable accommodation.

Some of the living rooms aboard the vessel are specially heated. Spacious dining saloons and reading rooms ensure comfort that is seldom seen in non-passenger carrying merchant ships.

Typifying the Russian love of music there is a grand piano in one saloon and an upright piano in the crew's reading room.

The master of the ice-breaker, Captain Nikolai, who has been on many Polar expeditions, knew the late Sir Ernest Shackleton, at Archangel.

The Sino-Japanese War of 1894 required a total of 250,000,000 yen. Wars of that scale could be staged 48 times with the sum needed to cover the cost of operations in China.

Since the outbreak of the China Incident, 7,000,000,000 yen has already been appropriated for military expenditure.

With the additional sum of over 4,600,000,000 yen for the 1939-40 fiscal year required for military expenses, the total cost of the current hostilities will reach 11,900,000,000 yen.—Domei.

Dublin's Move To Suppress Sedition

Dublin, Mar. 2.

Moving the second reading in the Dail of the Offences Against the State Bill, designed to deal with the Irish Republican Army, Mr. Rutledge, Minister of Justice, said that it was well-known that the I.R.A. possessed arms, and were trained to use arms, and got money from outside the country.

The country was quiet now, but in view of past history, and certain evidence they had, it might not remain quiet, and whilst the Government did not fear that force, they wanted to deal with it—should the necessity arise.

They would permit nobody to use force to secure political or social aims, and the Bill was aimed at preventing the country from drifting into civil war.—Reuter.

Devastation In Poklo

Altogether 930 civilians were killed and 142 others wounded in Poklo, west of Waihow on the East River, Kwangtung, as a result of the Japanese bombing and shelling last year, according to an extensive investigation conducted by the Hongkong Poklo Residents' Refugees Relief Association.

In addition, upwards of 30,000 people have been rendered homeless and destitute and 3,456 others have suffered from various diseases.

A total of 11,201 shops and residences were reduced to ruins either by bombs or fire, amounting to more than $5,000,000 property losses.

It is stated that at least 2,000 corpses of soldiers and civilians were left unburied in the villages and along the highways in the town. Decomposing bodies of five dead were also found.—Central News.

ANOTHER PROTEST

LONDON, Mar. 2.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT has instructed its Consul-General in Tientsin to lodge a protest with the Japanese authorities against the erection of barbed wire fences, charged with electricity, around the international concession.

It is stated that similar protests have been made by the United States and French governments.

The British Consul has also been instructed to ask for information concerning the reason for this measure.

Reports from Tientsin have created a certain amount of nervousness in political circles, which believe it possible that the alleged flight of certain anti-Japanese elements into (Continued on Page 4.)

FLYING HOTEL LANDS AT HONGKONG AIRPORT

DELAYED BY WEATHER an hour between Manila and Hongkong, the Boeing Clipper, world's largest aeroplane, flew over the Colony at 1 p.m. to-day and alighted at Kai-Tak ten minutes later.

The plane made a perfect landing from the south-west, skimming the houses near the rocks area.

"We had a wonderful trip," said Captain Bill Cuthe. "We averaged about 165 miles an hour and I am very satisfied with the plane."

A PARTY OF thirty-nine foreigners from Kuling arrived in Shanghai on February 27, aboard the Japanese Army transport Omi Maru. Remaining at Kuling were 47 others, including an 81-year-old British woman. Special arrangements for their transportation to Shanghai in Japanese military transports are being made.—Press Union.

Japan Starts Campaign To "Clean Up" Canton

CANTON, Mar. 3.

A VIGOROUS campaign against the "lawless element" in Canton has been launched by the Japanese authorities, who have strengthened military street patrols, intensified the searching of pedestrians, and are conducting surprise raids in various parts of the city.

Over 100 arrests have been reported during the past few days, and nearly half of these people have been executed.

After a parade of military trucks through the main thoroughfares, 41 of those arrested were subsequently found guilty, either of armed robbery, or looting, and were shot a few days ago in the first mass execution since the occupation.

"POLICE TAX" IMPOSED
Meanwhile, the authorities announce the imposition of a "police tax" for the maintenance of the city's growing police force. Each store will have to pay according to the nature and volume of its business. The larger the turnover, the heavier the tax.

According to figures issued, payments will range from 20 sen a month to several yen.

Chinese women are receiving no more consideration than their men-folk in the present Japanese drive, for they are being as thoroughly searched by Japanese sentries as the males. Some of them can often be seen forced to empty their pockets for inspection.

In order to cope with the increasing demand, transportation facilities in the city are to be considerably increased in the near future.

RICKSHAW MONOPOLY

The only bus company now in operation, a Sino-Japanese concern, has already engaged several foreigners to help increase its fleet of rickshaws. The main task of the foreigners is to supervise repair work on the numerous damaged machines in the city.

At the same time, four hongs engaged for business, but owing to the high tariff of $5 per hour, very few people use its cars. Several other taxi companies, however, are said to be preparing for early operation.—Reuter.

Britain's Bid In The Air

LONDON, Mar. 2.

Sir Kingsley Wood, in a memorandum to-day, states that orders have been placed for three large long-range land planes.

Two will have speeds of 240 m.p.h., and one will be specially designed for high altitude flight at 270 m.p.h. The machines are intended to transport passengers and mails across the North Atlantic, and to accelerate the Empire services by the introduction of long-range flying.—Reuter Special.

PRINCE FRANZ JOSEPH SEES HITLER

Berlin, Mar. 2.

Prince Franz Joseph of Liechtenstein arrived to-day and was received at the Chancellery by Herr Hitler.

It is understood they discussed purely private matters, leaving talks of an economic nature to take place between the Prince's Prime Minister and German officials.—Reuter.

vehicles on the streets for the convenience of the public.
At present there are only about 1,500 rickshaws serving the entire city.

Hitherto, only one garage has been opened for business, but owing to the high tariff of $5 per hour, very few people use its cars. Several other taxi companies, however, are said to be preparing for early operation.—Reuter.

Admiral, General Hold Conference

THE "TELEGRAPH" is informed that a conference was held on board H.M.S. Kent at 10.30 a.m. to-day to discuss matters relating to Hongkong's position vis-a-vis South China.

There were present: Major General K. Tanaka, Lieut-Col. Ohira, Mr. T. Oda, Acting Japanese Consul General in Hongkong, and Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble; Major General A. E. Grasett and Col. A. G. Neville.

General Tanaka was the guest of Admiral Noble on board H.M.S. Kent toiffin to-day. He will prolong his stay in Hongkong until Sunday or Monday before returning to Canton.

£250,000 MINING DEAL IN H.K.

ENQUIRIES BY the "Telegraph" confirm the report, cabled by "Reuter" this morning, that a Pekin Syndicate has bought up practically the entire supply of wolfram ore in Hongkong.

Since the outbreak of hostilities, Hongkong has been the principal distributing centre for China's wolfram ore. China is the world's greatest supplier of this metal.

The "Telegraph" enquiries indicate that the deal is in the neighbourhood of $1,000,000.

In addition to this deal, the National Resources Committee of the Chinese Government has granted its wolfram agency right to the Pekin Syndicate.

This Syndicate is an old British concern, the head of which is Mr. H. G. Bell, now in London.

The Syndicate is interested in several railways now in Japanese-occupied territory and is also understood to be interested in the Kailash Mining Administration, another British concern.

TOPIC OF CONVERSATION
According to "Reuter," rumours of the negotiations are the chief topic of conversation among London dealers.

The arrangement strikes them as being of particular interest in view of the fact that Japan openly avowed last August her intention of pressing on to China's antimony mines.

It is understood that the German Government was a contender against the British interests for the purchase of the wolfram stocks in Hongkong.

Hongkong city circles do not believe that the British success will mean that wolfram has been "cornered," although the Pekin Syndicate can undoubtedly demand a better price than that previously offered by German or other competitors.

STILL REACHES COLONY
Despite conditions prevailing in Kwangtung, the ore is still able to reach Hongkong by various and devious routes, and it is stated that ore to the amount of 25 to 30 tons can be obtained here at any time for immediate delivery.

Independent merchants have, it is understood, access to about 300 tons per month outside the total controlled by the Chinese National Resources Committee.

Owing to the Pekin Syndicate's coup, demand for the ore at current prices is not strong.

"Reuter" states that the opinion in London is that reports that the Chinese are producing ore in areas which have passed under Japanese control are believed to be erroneous. The belief is also expressed that transport to Hongkong will probably prove difficult.

No More Czech Arms For Russia

Prague, Mar. 2.

Arms and munitions are not allowed to leave Czechoslovakia for Soviet Russia after April 1, according to reliable information.

Czechoslovakia is at present sending supplies to the Soviet under contracts concluded before September last.

Armaments factories are working at great pressure day and night, and even on Sundays, in order to fill the contracts as completely as possible.—Reuter.

Mrs. Harrison Passes Away

The many friends in Hongkong of Mrs. W. G. Harrison will learn with regret of her death which occurred at 1.30 p.m. to-day at the Queen Mary Hospital.

BIG LOAN FOR CHINA IS SEEN

LONDON, Mar. 2.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE far advanced for a substantial enlargement of the £500,000 credit which Britain granted to China in January.

Under a special Parliamentary Bill, the Government's export credits guarantee department is authorised to dispose of an additional £10,000,000, and it is authoritatively learned that most of this may be made available for Chinese purchases.

The Bill allows credits to be used for arms and munitions, in addition to peaceful commodities. However, it is understood that China's desire for British planes and anti-aircraft guns has met with

FLYING PALACE COMPLETES PACIFIC FLIGHT

40-Ton Clipper Lands At Kai Tak Shortly After Noon To-Day

DELAYED BY WEATHER an hour between Manila and Hongkong, the Boeing Clipper, world's largest plane, flew over the Colony at 1 p.m. to-day and alighted at Kai Tak ten minutes later.

The plane made a perfect landing from the south-west skimming the houses near the rocks area.

"We had a wonderful trip," said Captain Bill Cuthe. "We averaged about 165 miles an hour and I am very satisfied with the plane."

There were nearly 2,000 spectators at the marine terminal to watch the plane come in. Most of them had been waiting from noon when the plane was expected to arrive.

Heavy mists and low clouds overhung the surrounding hills and harbour and a great cheer arose when the huge plane burst through the clouds over Hongkong.

The traditional bell was rung as the Clipper came in sight. She taxied down in half a mile and swung round, coming alongside the terminal where a small army of mechanics and staff officials moored the giant plane.

The Superintendent of Kai Tak, Mr. A. J. C. Moss, congratulated the captain on his flight, and the 24 men aboard the plane alighted amid cheers from the crowd.

The flight from Manila took 5½ hours. H. E. the Governor went aboard the plane at 2.45 p.m. and other members of the public followed. The plane will leave at 6.30 a.m. to-morrow.

Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong, Calling Kai Tak, Hongkong.

In this dramatic fashion and with all the elements of a Hollywood aviation picture, one man to-day is telling the world of one of the most amazing flights of all time.

J. E. Weesner, First Radio Officer of the Boeing Clipper, flashed out news from the 40-ton steel monster as it chartered its way through the air towards Hongkong at 176 miles an hour.

The plane hopped off from Manila at 7.30 a.m.

The world's largest commercial transport plane will leave Kai Tak to-morrow on the return flight to San Francisco.

On completing its 11,000 mile test flight from the Treasure Island base in San Francisco the Clipper will be handed over to a small army of mechanics, experts, greasers. Careful checking and calculating will be made of the plane's performance.

The following is a list of the crew and technical experts, who arrived aboard the machine, there being no passengers.

Captain W. A. Cuthe, Captain F. J. Leland as First Officer, Second Officer E. C. Bierer, Third Officers S. T. Peters and R. C. Howard, First Engineer J. E. Prunty, Second Engineer J. E. Weesner, First Radio Officer S. C. Smyser, Second Radio Officer S. Cummings, First Steward R. Donham, Second Steward I. Tier, Third Steward H. Chance.

Technical Experts: Mr. H. D. Poncet, Boeing Service Representative, W. E. Beall, Boeing Project Engineer, F. W. Weigand, Wright Aeronautical Company Engineer, J. Caffrey, Wright Service Engineer, A. Gray, Pan American Airways Communications Officer, T. Ramsey, P.A.A. Assistant Operations Manager, Pacific Division, Andre E. Priesler, P.A.A. System Chief Engineer, W. Miller and J. Boudwin, Civil Aeronautics Authority, and Messrs. F. Stephani and J. G. Lesow.

None other than the 250 invited guests were allowed to look over the plane this trip, though opportunity will always be available for members of the public to see over the machines at the end of other flights.

GOVERNOR TO SEE PLANE

The Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, and other government officials were shown over the plane at 2.45 p.m. and invited members of the public were shown through afterwards.

CARPETED FLOORS

The new Clipper, with its two decks and eighteen separate rooms, its soft carpeted floors, its davenport-type lounging chairs and its modern styling is like a "hotel of the air", writes a Telegraph representative who inspected the plane shortly after its arrival.

One board the silvery giant by a gangplank that leads to the broad upper surface of one of the hydro-stabilizers, which is actually a 1,500-gallon fuel reservoir but serves for passengers as a landing deck. Entering the passenger deck by a side door, the passengers step down three steps into the dining saloon, the largest room in the plane with the exception of the control room on the upper deck.

The 10½ by 12-foot dining room is gaily coloured, with a stippled blue pattern on furniture upholstery, rich terra cotta carpeting, and walls of silvery-beige. Double windows on either side of the room have modern Venetian-type blinds, as do the windows of all other passenger compartments in the ship.

DINING ROOM

There are five dining tables of polished black walnut, and deeply upholstered armchairs for the fourteen persons who may dine in the room at one time.

For long ocean hops when the maximum seating capacity of the ship will not be used, this room will remain available at all times as a social centre for passengers. For shorter passenger loads it can be furnished as a lounge with standard passenger seats for day-time occupancy, convertible into upper and lower berths at night. When this arrangement is used the Clipper has berth accommodations for a total of 40 persons.

Arched doorways at either end of the central lounge lead to passenger compartments fore and aft. If you choose first to look over the after sections of the ship, you pass successively through three standard passenger compartments, all identical except for alternate colour styling in adjoining cabins.

For these rooms, soft restful colour schemes have been chosen. Seats are upholstered in a beige wool tapestry, tailored with leather trimmings.

AUSTRALIAN MATERIAL

Each compartment has accommodations for ten persons. Daytime port-type triple seats face each other on the starboard side and double seats are similarly located on the port side. They are made up of Australian horse hair, curled and rubberized. Between the seats there is a bridge table fastened to special brackets and readily removable.

As a sample of what may be expected in night accommodations aboard the new Clipper, you find one of the passenger compartments made up into berths. They are closed off by heavy curtains in deep rich Pan American Airways blue, while blankets and interior berths have a light blue tint. Each fitting has a light blue tint. Each fitting has a light blue tint. Each fitting has a light blue tint.

Leaving this room and proceeding forward toward the stern, one enters a fore-passenger port side compartment opposite which is a door to the women's dressing room. Large and tastefully styled, the women's room has a grey linoleum floor. To the left just inside the door is a wash basin with hot and cold running water, a large mirror and a dental lavatory. Along the outer wall is a long double dressing table, with two plate glass mirrors and modern lighting fixtures.

HONEYMOON SUITE

Beyond the women's dressing room, in the aft-most section of the passenger deck, one enters the Clipper's much-talked-of de luxe compartment, or "bridal suite." The colour plan is like that of the dining saloon, with a lively blue tone in upholstery and furniture. Over by the starboard windows is a "love-seat" beside which is an end table. Along the adjacent wall is a davenport-style triple seat that converts into berths, and another end table. In an opposite corner there is a combination dressing table and writing desk, while the fourth corner has a folding wash-stand cabinet. An occasional chair and a coffee table complete the furnishing of this self-sufficient cabin.

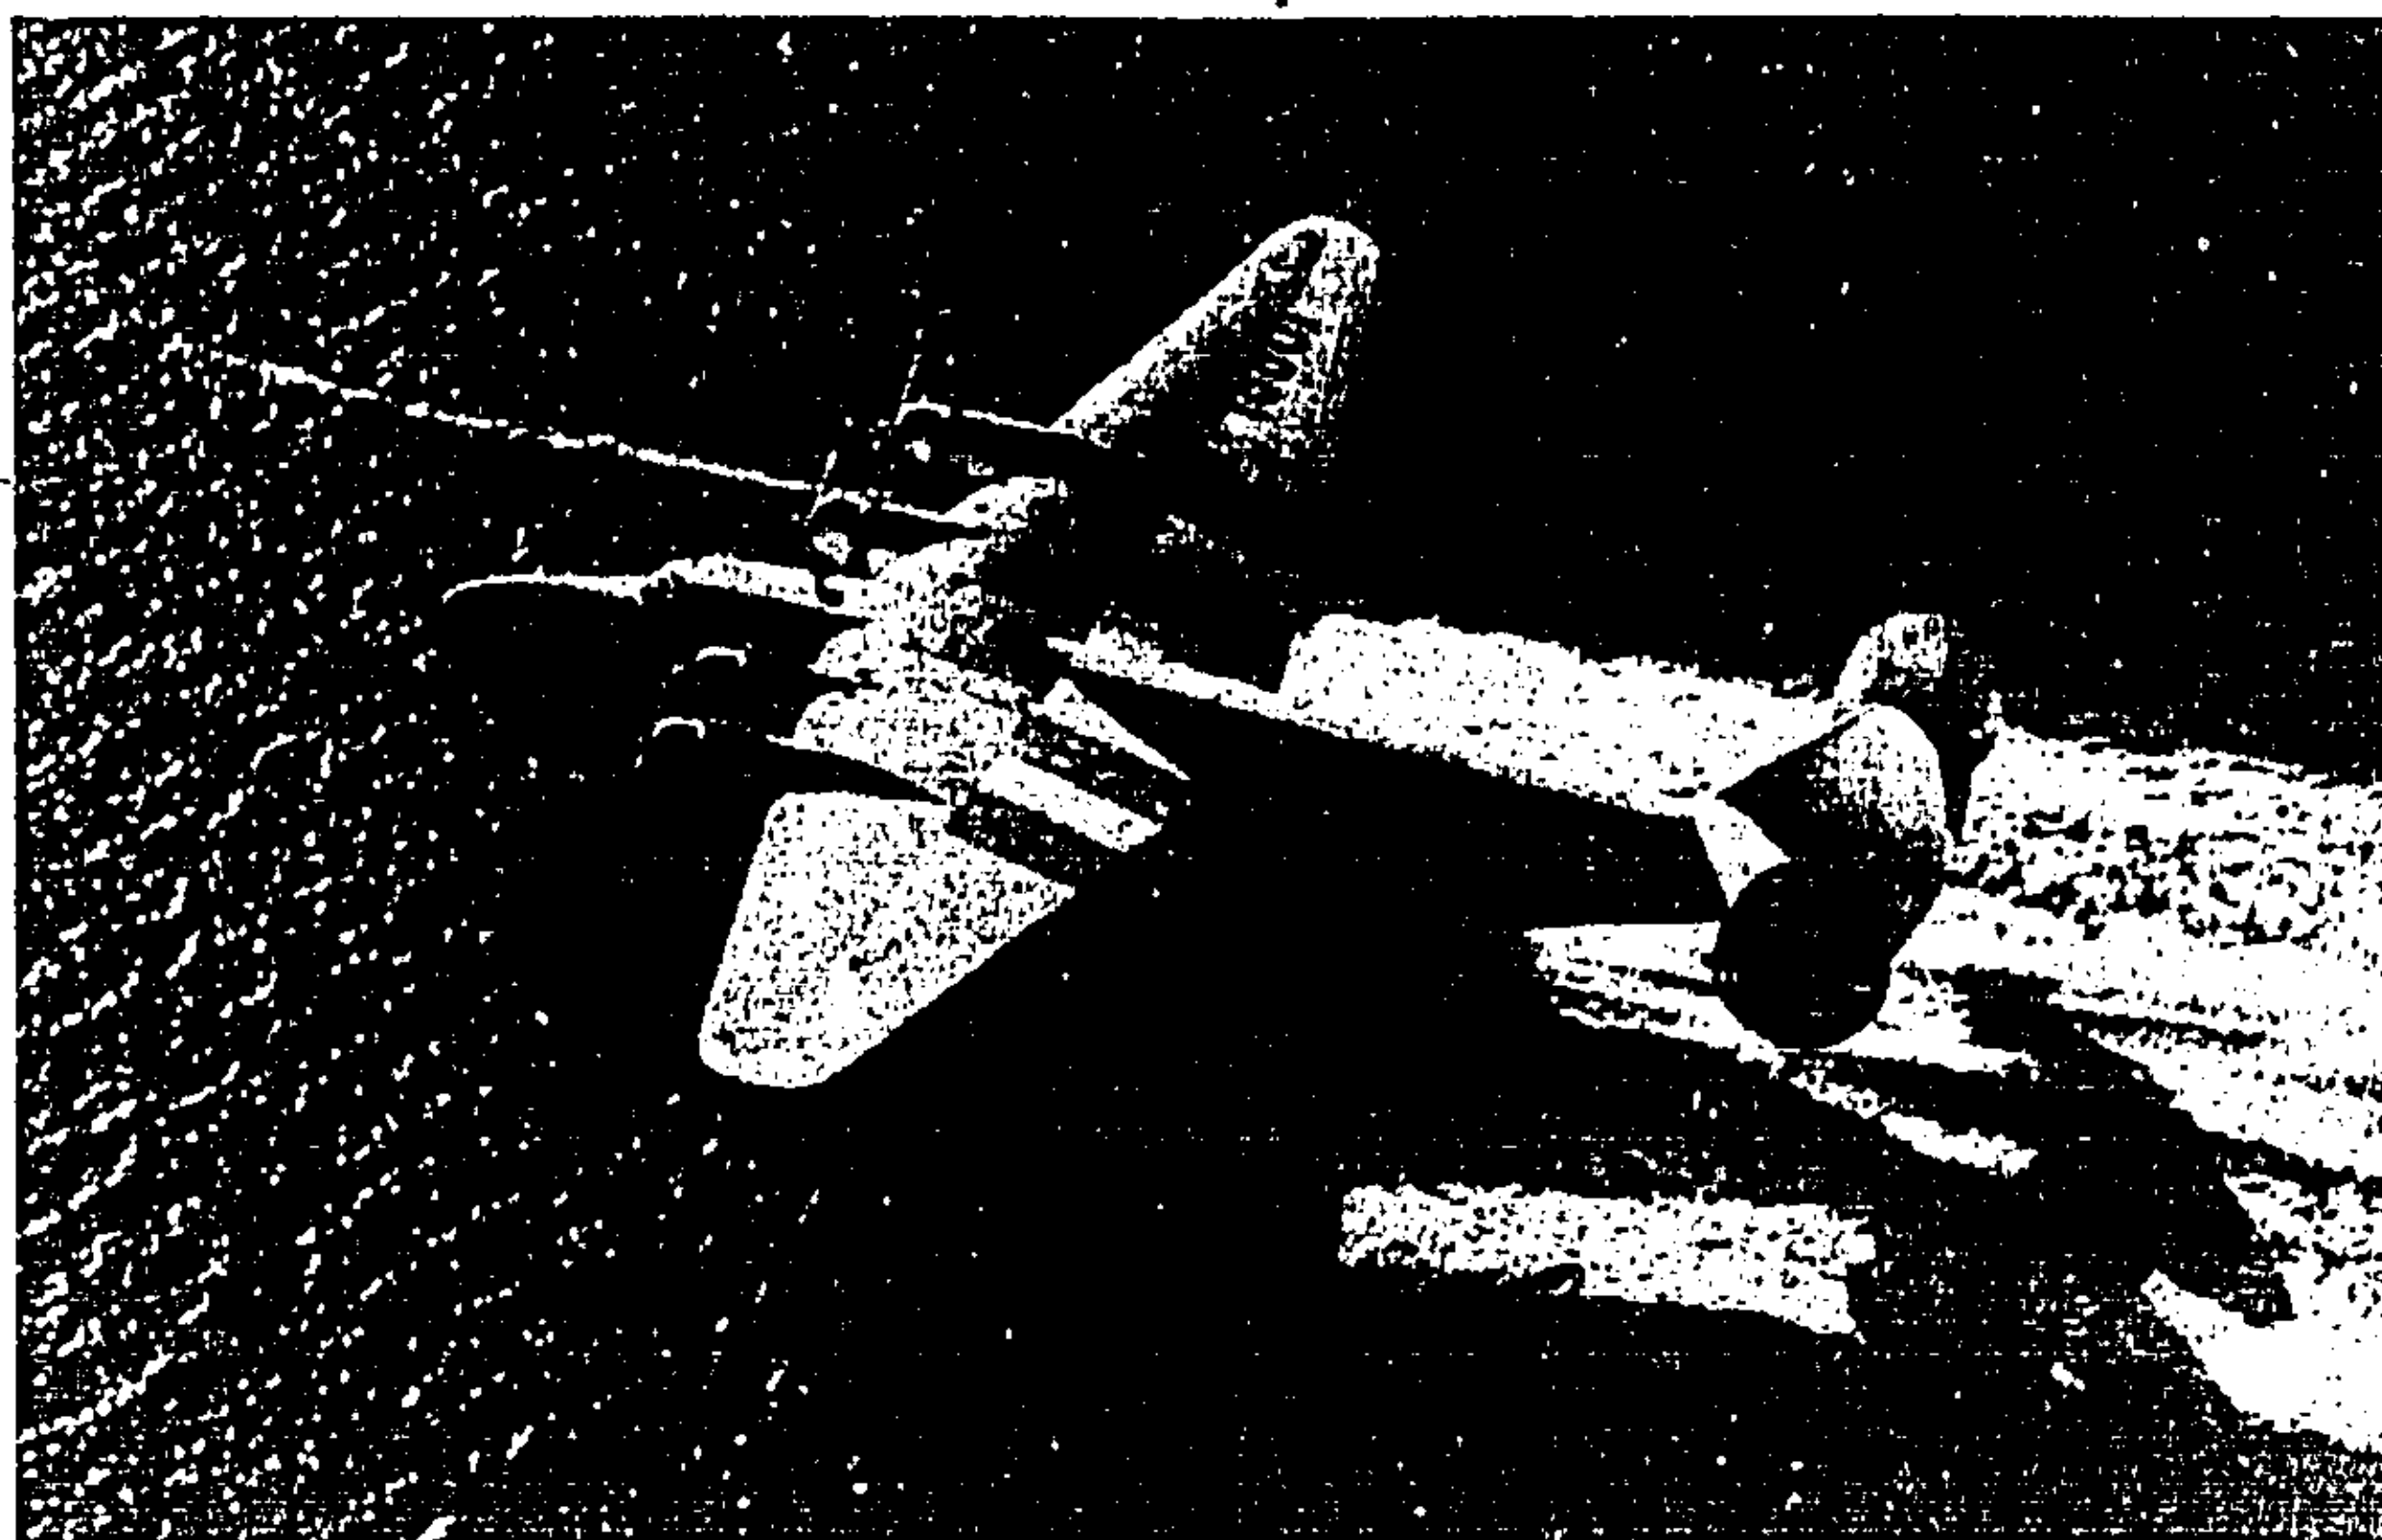

Retracing steps to the central lounge and beyond, to reach the forward end of the passenger deck, one enters the standard ten-passenger compartments, then a section containing a galley, to the port and a men's dressing room to the starboard, beyond which is still another standard compartment. There is a drinking fountain at this end of the passenger deck, and another at the stern.

EXTENSIVE GALLEY

The galley contains an ingeniously compact arrangement of equipment designed for serving full-course meals. Not only are there the necessary cupboards, drawers, containers, etc., but an ice refrigerator and a steam table. Between meals a cocktail bar may be set up in this area.

The men's dressing room is finished with grey linoleum on the floor, maroon vinylite sheet plastic wall-covering on the lower part of the walls, and beige fabric above. Its furnishings include a dental lavatory, two wash basins with hot and cold running water, and two plate glass mirrors.

In the hallway between the galley and men's room there is an interphone with which the steward may call various officers on the flight deck above, and a 50-station annunciator panel with signal lights for the steward, individually connected to each of the many call-buttons throughout the ship. Nearby is a

WHEN IS A WAR NOT A WAR?—COURT QUERY

LONDON, Mar. 2.

"IS THERE A WAR between Japan and China?" The question was raised by a case in which the Court of Appeal gave its decision.

Last May, Mr. Justice (now Lord Justice) Goddard, held that a state of war existed in the sense in which the ordinary commercial man would use the word war, "without going into the niceties of international law."

The court heard an appeal by the Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, of Kobe, against the judgment of Lord Justice Goddard that the Banham Shipping Company of Cardiff was entitled to cancel the chartering of the steamship Nailsea Meadow to the Japanese company in September, 1937, because a clause in the charter-party permitted cancellation "if war breaks out involving Japan."

NO WAR, SAYS BRITAIN

Sir Stafford Cripps, for the Japanese company, said that the Foreign Office, in a letter answering a query by the company's solicitors, declared that "His Majesty's Government was not at present prepared to say that in its view war exists."

In giving judgment for the respondents and dismissing the appeal, the Master of the Rolls said that Lord Justice Goddard was manifestly right.

"War might break out without the British Government recognising it," he said.

Papal Secretary Of State Takes Highest Office In Roman Church

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2.

CARDINAL EUGENIO PACELLI, former Papal Secretary of State, has been elected Pope in succession to the late Pius XI. It is announced that he will be called Pope Pius XII.

His election to-day was announced by Caccia Dominioni, one of the Curial Cardinals.

POPE PIUS XII

A few minutes later, Cardinal Pacelli himself appeared on the balcony to the sound of the Papal March played on silver trumpets, while the crowd in the square shouted "Long Live The Pope."

Three lines of soldiers kept the crowd away from the steps of St. Peter's, but there were several accidents, and in the rush many women fainted and were lifted to the back over the shoulders of the crowd.

FIRST BENEDICTION
The new Pope imparted his first Papal benediction and the crowd cheered him wildly. As he retired from the balcony, the great bell of St. Peter's began to peal, the lights in the square were lit, and the crowd began to disperse. The conclave of 62 Cardinals had elected the Pope with their third ballot.—Reuter.

EXCITED CROWD
VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2. White smoke, indicating the election of a new Pope emerged from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel at 5.30 p.m. to-day, and caused tremendous excitement among the huge crowd which had gathered on Piazza San Pietro, more so since it was without precedent that a new sovereign Pontiff had been elected on the first day of the conclave, and such an early result was wholly unexpected.

The announcement of the name of the new Pope was awaited with intense eagerness, but over half an hour elapsed before Cardinal Caccia Dominioni, in his capacity as senior Cardinal, appeared on the balcony of St. Peter's to proclaim the election of Cardinal Pacelli.

The announcement was received with thunderous applause by the dense crowds in the square.

INVESTING NEW POPE
As soon as the necessary two-thirds majority had been obtained in the Vatican Conclave, the ceremony of investing the new Pope with his robes of office began.

Cardinal Decan Grani di Belmonte advanced to the throne occupied by Cardinal Pacelli, and asked him in Latin whether he accepted the election to which Cardinal Pacelli replied in the affirmative.

Cardinal Pacelli was then asked what name he had selected, to which the Cardinal replied without hesitation that it was Pius Twelfth, and presented, in a short Latin address, his reasons for choosing this name.

In the meantime, two Cardinals on either side of him had withdrawn from the throne as a sign of reverence, and at the conclusion of the Pope's address, the Cardinals left their places to group themselves around him and to offer congratulations.

BURNING THE BALLOT
Cardinal Decan then opened the door of the Sistine Chapel and admitted the Secretary of the Sacred College, Monsignor Santorio, and the Prefect of Ceremonies, Monsignor Resplighi, who accompanied the new Pontiff to the sacristy of the Chapel, where three sets of white robes had been laid out.

During this time the balloting cards and straw were being burned in the Chapel to announce that a new Pope had been chosen.

Returning to the Sistine Chapel, Pope Pius XII was conducted to the provisional altar beneath the central tapestry where he ascended to the Papal throne. Led by Cardinal Decan, the Cardinals then filed past him each kissing his right foot, and then embracing him, this being the first act of veneration for the new Pontiff.

This concluded, Cardinal Caccia Dominioni preceded with two Masters of Ceremony to the Benediction Loggia of St. Peter's to announce the name of the new Pope.

APOSTOLIC BLESSING
The Papal cross was borne at the head of a small procession.

Fifteen minutes later Pope Pius XII himself appeared in the Loggia and bestowed an apostolic blessing on the crowds beneath.—Trans-Ocean.

NEW POPE'S CAREER

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, born of a simple middle-class Roman family March 2, 1876, six years after the Italians had captured Rome ending the temporal power of the Church, rose to be Papal Secretary of State before his election as Pope yesterday. He was educated in the Eternal City. At the age of 18 he was put through the hard school of diplomacy at the Pontifical Academy of Rome where he was graduated at 24. He immediately started to work as a clerk in the Holy Congregation of Ecclesiastical Affairs and steadily rose through the ranks until he was finally promoted general secretary of that important Catholic congregation.

His brilliant career had been carefully watched by Pope Benedict XV and when the Papal Nuncio in Bavaria died in 1917 the Pontiff first made him titular Archbishop of Sardi and then appointed him to that important pontifical post.

SENT TO SEE KAISER

It was Archbishop Pacelli who presented to the Kaiser of Imperial Germany the famous "Peace Plan" of Pope Benedict XV which never brought about concrete results and remained an effort of the Vatican's desire for peace.

Pope Pacelli held his important German post during the troubled after-war days of Bavaria and even succeeded in negotiating a long series of concordats with Germany and Prussia. In June, 1920, he was transferred to Berlin as Papal Nuncio. In 1925 he was also accredited to the Prussian Government and negotiated an important concordat with that government which was signed June 14, 1929.

After 12 years of successful diplomatic work in Germany, Pope Pius XI called Pacelli back to Rome and after elevating him to the purple in the consistory of December, 1929, substituted the aging Cardinal Gasparri with the youthful cardinal in the most important post of the Catholic Church, that of Papal Secretary of State.

DELEGATE ON MISSIONS

Cardinal Pacelli was chosen by the Pontiff to travel to Buenos Aires as non-official legate to the Eucharistic Congress of 1934. He also was sent by Pius to Lourdes, France, in April, 1935, for the ceremony of the closing of the Holy Year.

After Pacelli was appointed to the Papal post, the church encountered difficult times in Germany, Spain, Mexico and Soviet Russia. But the frail secretary of state carried on. Whenever possible he journeyed to Switzerland for vacations. There, high in the dry, bracing air, Cardinal Pacelli gathered strength anew to face the arduous problems arising.

The Pope strictly observes a carefully planned diet. He never smokes. Pacelli is an author. His logical writings are used as textbooks in many courses of the Holy See.

QUICK RECOVERY AFTER ILLNESS

Very often a period of convalescence is much more critical than the actual illness that preceded it. Your whole body is left in a state of complete exhaustion. You have no strength to combat any renewed attacks.

Doctors and nurses realize the importance of a speedy recovery after illness. In Horlicks they have found a highly nourishing food that can be easily digested when all other foods cause nausea.

Horlicks rebuilds your exhausted body. Convalescence is shortened. You feel full of vigour and vitality. Always keep Horlicks ready at hand.

In these difficult times of carrying on and doing work which must be done is a doubly difficult one which must tend to exhaust one's nervous energy.

Horlicks builds up strength, vitality and prevents that listlessness and tiredness caused by constant nervous strain. H. M. Hodges, 400-408, Asia Life Building, Hong-kong.

WORLD REACTIONS

Political Pontiff, Says Berlin

A "TRANS OCEAN" (German News Agency) message received at 10 a.m. refers to the new Pontiff as "a political Pope."

"Trans-Ocean" adds that the election of Cardinal Pacelli has been received in political circles with considerable surprise.

"The impression gained was that the Sacred College would not elect a political Pope, but one who would concentrate on the spiritual aspects of the Faith," the message adds.

"The new Pontiff is regarded as definitely a political personality, and the fact that he was so closely associated with his predecessor, as well as his action in choosing the name Pope Pius XII, is regarded as an indication that he will continue the policy of Pope Pius XI, particularly in connection with the Totalitarian States."

"Trans-Ocean" adds that the appointment has made a deep impression in Paris, where Cardinal Pacelli is highly regarded, while in Washington Mr. Cordell Hall, in commenting on the election, declared that he was highly pleased. Mr. Hall extended his congratulations to the new Pontiff.

REACTIONS IN CAPITALS
Reactions in the various capitals to the election of Cardinal Pacelli as the new Pope are given in Reuter messages as follows:

Paris: The election of Cardinal Pacelli is welcomed in France where he had many friends and is generally admired for his strong character and tactful handling of many difficult situations.

A Papal Secretary of State is most unusual and is regarded as indicating continuance of the late Pope's firm and independent policy. The choice is also regarded as excellent in view of the necessity of having at the helm of the church in the present difficult times, a man well-versed in the international situation, and who is regarded here as the Church's best diplomat. Political circles believe that Cardinal Pacelli is anti-Fascist, and his election is regarded as a setback to it.

Rome: Romans are particularly delighted that the new Pope was born in Rome, where they hail as a Roman Pope. As a recent article in the "Relazioni Internazionali" said that it would appear difficult for Cardinal Pacelli to receive the votes of the Italian Cardinals, it is not certain whether Pacelli's election is entirely gratifying in Fascist circles. It is believed that Cardinal Pacelli obtained nearly enough votes to give him a two-thirds majority in the first ballot.

Washington: Cardinal Pacelli's visit to the United States, and the friendships he made at Washington will ensure the popularity of his election here. It is felt that Cardinal Pacelli's diplomatic skill will be employed in the critical tasks confronting the Church in Spain, Germany, and particularly Austria.

Berlin: The election of Cardinal Pacelli has given satisfaction in Spain. His wide experience of international politics is considered here to be a great asset at a time when the Church is involved in politics in so many fields.—Reuter.

BERLIN REACTION

All comment on the election of Cardinal Pacelli as the new Pope was withheld in authoritative circles tonight, it being merely declared that the result was no sensation, although surprise was expressed that tradition should have been broken to the extent that a Vatican Secretary of State should be elected.

The general inclination here seems to be to regard the election as an incident of religious significance, and not to associate it with politics unless the new Pontiff delves into political matters in a manner that affects Germany.

The German press also reflects this neutral attitude, revealing at the same time, some slight shade of coolness.

Catholic circles are inclined to welcome the election of Cardinal Pacelli, because he was active in Germany from 1917 to 1929, first in Munich and then Berlin, and is thoroughly conversant with the German language and country.

Hope is expressed that during his regime, he will guard against a further increase in tension between the Vatican and the Reich, and that his knowledge of German conditions will be utilized for smoothing out present difficulties.—Trans-Ocean.

Table money, $8.18, was picked up, and this sum was contributed to the Poor Box.

Two boatmen, a tallyman and a coxswain were charged with gambling but as they did not attend Court, their bail of $3 each was estreated.

DOCUMENTS FOUND

During the raid, it was alleged, a number of documents were found. A small rattan basket contained a number of documents relating to a Hongkong branch of the Chinese Seamen's Union.

Other important papers were found in a small cupboard. The defendants were arrested in the flat. Wong Nga-lun said that he was formerly a member of the Kuomintang and had for many years worked for that party.

The head office of the Union was in Chungking and was under control of the Central Government. The Union was first established in 1932, and the founder was General Xiang Jui, who was a member of the committee of the Central Government.

Wong then said that the aims of the Union were to prepare the Chinese for war and better communications on sea and co-operation among the crew and firms.

The Central Government was very much concerned, said Wong, that there should be no breakdown in shipping. The Union was formed to prevent strikes.

Wong claimed that the present Union had no connections with the union proscribed by the Government. The present Union he declared, had the connection with the illegal union.

Wong first came to Hongkong in October, 1938, for an inspection of shipping conditions in South China, and later he had instructions to establish an information office here for the Union.

The information office were to prevent crews from making any attempt to stop communications.

128 TAKEN IN RAIDS

Nearly All Women And Married, Too

ONE HUNDRED and twenty-eight gamblers were rounded up by police squads in a series of raids on various parts of the Colony yesterday.

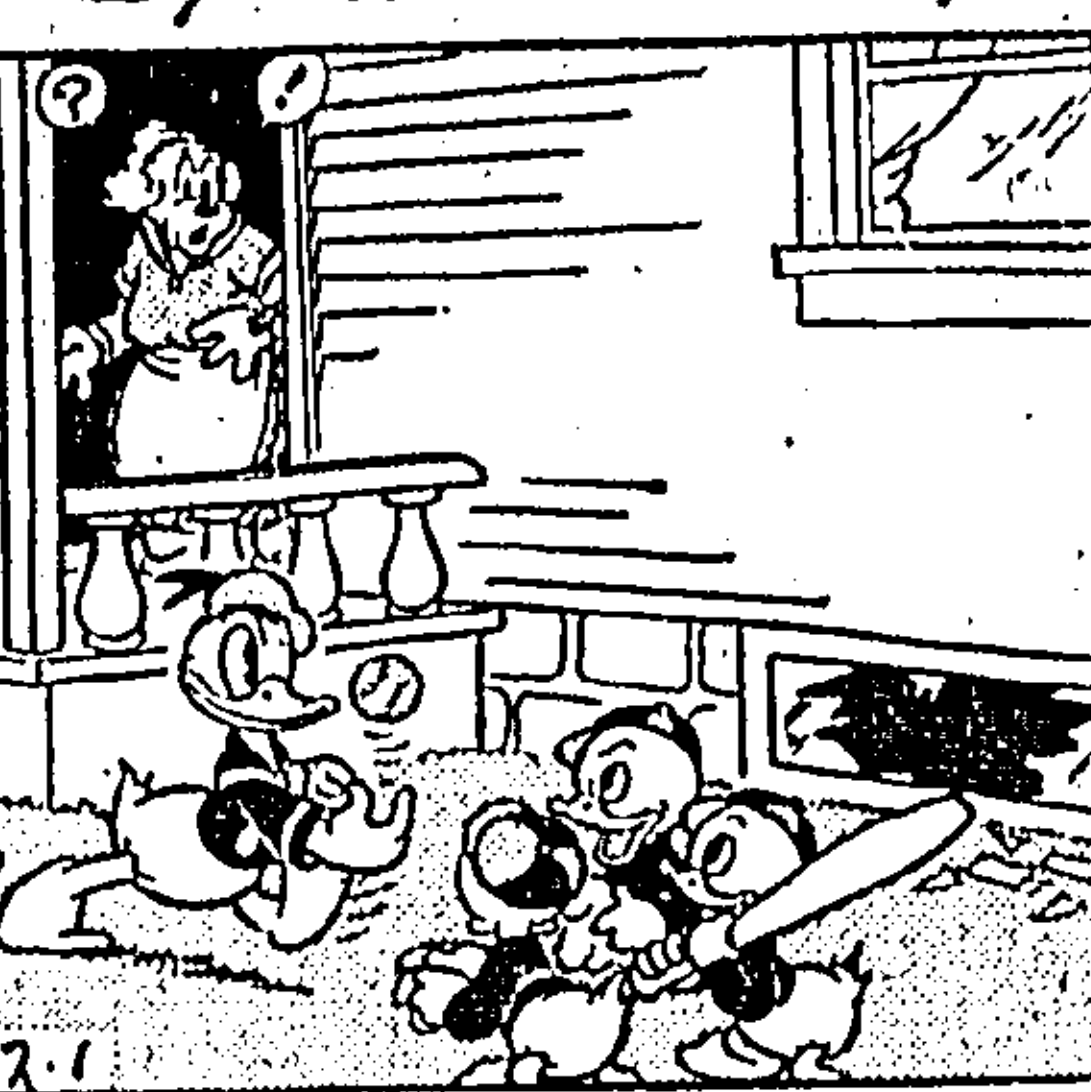

In Court this morning, the remarkable revelation was made that nearly all the gamblers were married women.

Thirty-two persons were arrested in a house in Main Street, Shaui-kuan, 54 at Kennedy Town and over forty at a house in Po Tak Street, West Point.

A total of $247.37 was seized at two of the schools. At the third school only $3.12 was taken, the gamblers there taking the precaution of gambling with counters.

Fines of $5 each were imposed by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest on the thirty-five persons who showed up in Court this morning. The remainder had their bail estreated. The money found in the raids was donated to the Poor Box.

To The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph

Sir,—I shall be very grateful if you will publish the following letter which I have to-day received from the Organising Secretary, Appeal Department of the British Legion in London:

"I beg to acknowledge with very grateful thanks receipt of the sum of £1,118.14.10d. representing the very excellent and record result of the 1938 Remembrance Day Appeal and sale of Poppies in Hongkong and Districts for the benefit of the War Fund, and send my warmest congratulations to the Members of your Committee on this magnificent effort."

"This very welcome contribution provides the clearest possible proof that the sacrifices of the Great War, even after the passing of twenty years, are still remembered fully and the generosity with which Poppies have again been bought is, I can assure you, of the greatest encouragement to the British Legion in its work for War's survivors."

"I shall be glad if you can find some means of expressing our gratitude to all who have supported our Appeal so generously, particularly considering the difficult conditions through which you are all passing and the many calls which must be made on your individual purses at the present time, and of assuring these valued contributors that the means of bringing added comfort and happiness into the homes of many of these ex-Service men and their families who are still, so unfortunately, in need."

"May I, in conclusion, express my own very sincere thanks to all Members of your Committee, and all other helps for the important work of local organisation which has again been so ably carried out."

Britain Has Her Tail Up Again

London, Mar. 2.
 "I think we have got our tails up. We are reverting to our old position of influence which we ought never to have abandoned," declared Mr. R. S. Hudson, Secretary to the Department of Overseas Trade, in a speech at the British Industries Fair to-day.

He added: "Our people are beginning to feel that they have the strength necessary to assume responsibilities and to enjoy prestige. I am sure that in proportion as realisation of the changes that has lately taken place here spreads among the peoples of the world, so will the chances of peace be improved and the prospects of real and rapid recovery of trade be accelerated."—Reuter Special.

RUBBER GROWING IN BRAZIL

Washington, Mar. 2.
 Mr. Henry Wallace revealed that he had a second conference with Senator Aranha on the question of rubber-growing in Brazil.

He said that an American technician will be sent to Brazil to aid the Brazilian programme to develop agricultural products which are not competitive with American commodities.—Reuter.

Oil Companies Seek Mexican Concession

Mexico City, Mar. 2.
 Mr. Donald Richberg, representing the Standard Oil Corporation, arrived here to-day to begin talks with the Government with a view to settling the oil crisis resulting from the expropriation of the property of foreign oil companies.

It is reliably learned that Mr. Richberg has also been retained by British interests.

Pessimism prevails here regarding the outcome of the talks, as it is considered that a solution of the points at issue between the parties is unlikely.

According to latest indications, Mr. Hurley, another representative of the oil companies, will not participate in the talks.—Reuter.

Malta Starts Recruiting

Malta, Mar. 2.
 The recruiting list for the Maltese Artillery has been opened. A certain number of Maltese recruits will be accepted for absorption in British overseas forces.

The Malta garrison is being brought up to full strength, and two new barracks are being erected.—Reuter Special.

TOKYO, Mar. 3.

Three children were killed and 10 injured, eight of them seriously, but all others were safely extricated, the message adds.—Domei.

Garden Rd. Mishap Holds Up Traffic

A line of more than half a dozen trams were held up at the busy hour of 8 a.m. to-day through a mishap between one of their number and a car driven by Mme. C. Rennet at the bottom of Garden Road.

Mme. Rennet was driving from the left of Queen's Road Central across the road to Garden Road and the tram, the conductor of which apparently thought she was continuing along Queen's Road, collided with the back of the car.

Little damage was done and no injuries were caused but traffic was considerably delayed.

White Man in Africa

"HISTORY looking back in retrospect on the part played by Imperial Powers in Africa will be more concerned with the nature of the contribution which the European occupation will have made to the future of the African peoples, than with the profit or loss which the African connection may have brought to Europe."

These words appear in a comprehensive study of African conditions written by Lord Hailey, a distinguished ex-Indian Civil Servant, under the auspices of those authoritative institutions, the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London. They are words which have special application to Germany's now pressing demand for colonies in the African continent. They suggest a criterion that has not always been remembered by white folk in their relations with the 150,000,000 Africans.

This criterion is how would any concession to the Reich of the kind that is asked for, affect the people who would thereby be placed under German guardianship?

It may be that what has happened to the Jews in Germany is not a standard whereby to judge the issue involved. Nevertheless, expectation of the future can only be based upon consideration of what is past. In considering the future of races which have not yet reached the stage of ability to rule themselves, all applicable facts no doubt will be taken into account by those responsible for colonial readjustments.

Language and Learning

SPEAKING recently at a meeting in London, Mr. L. A. G. Strong, author, put forward reasons for more and better teaching of English. It is a plea that one hopes will not go unheeded by those concerned; for it happens too frequently in the schools that the child's mother tongue is not regarded as the chief foster parent of his learning; and that there is a tendency to see in the classic, or the foreign language, in natural science, or "maths," or history, a fairy godmother who is able, somewhat inexplicably, to do more for him.

It is understandable that there should be controversy over the relative emphasis to be laid on the various aims of education, and, consequently, over the relative importance of the subjects on the syllabus; but it ought to be recognized that the study of English transcends such controversy. For the English-speaking child can reach the Persian spring only through a well of English unclouded. If he has inadequate command of his native tongue, he cannot express his thoughts clearly, and will find it difficult to progress in nearly every subject; while what knowledge he does acquire must remain, for the most part, as "loads of learned lumber in his head."

IS NOT BEATEN

FOR more than 30 months the people of Spain have endured a ruthless war of invasion, designed by tyrants to wrest from them such democratic liberties as those which we enjoy as a matter of course.

For more than 30 months the people of Spain, abandoned by those who, for no more than selfish reasons, should have succoured them, have stayed the march of tyranny. And they have stayed it at a cost in human life and human suffering which no man can yet compute.

THE war is not yet ended. Over and over again in the last 30 months it has seemed as though nothing could prevent a final subjugation of that proud people; and over and over again, drawing strength from the spiritual certainty that their cause is just, the Spanish people have renewed their strength to resist; and have made their enemies to halt. Because they have done that, the rest of Europe is at peace.

In July, 1936, upon the suggestion of Leon Blum, then Socialist Prime Minister of France, the system of so-called "non-intervention" was adopted, although it must have been obvious to all the Governments who subscribed to it that no more powerful weapon could have been placed in rebel hands.

From the beginning of the conflict, which, without intervention, the Spanish Government could soon have ended, of right and justice sent them Italy and Germany laid their military resources at the disposal of the rebels, demanding comrades.

At no time throughout the whole war did their number ever exceed 36,000; and for the greater part of the time their maximum strength was 10,000. How many gave their lives we do not yet know; but when they were finally withdrawn from battle, under the auspices of a League of Nations commission, it was found that out of about 2,000 men who went from Great Britain 543 had given their lives.

In Great Britain, as in other democratic countries, popular feeling throughout the war has been at variance with Government policy, just as to-day the "jitter-bugs" are to be found not among the common man but in the ranks of the governing classes and the Cabinet.

But because of Government policy it has been possible for the British people to do no more than send food to Spain.

More than 130 British ships carrying food to the women and children of Spain have been attacked by German and Italian airmen, flying in the service of their rulers. Such attacks, many of which an impartial commission has written down as deliberate, have drawn from the British Prime Minister the statement that "it is not nice" to hear of such attacks on the British flag and on British subjects, but nothing more vigorous than that.

TO-DAY the greater part of Spain is under German and Italian control; but the spirit of those who still defend the country is as strong as ever.

"No one would help them." From Goya's "Disasters of the War," which illustrate what he saw during Napoleon's campaign in Spain Goya (1746-1828) was one of Spain's greatest painters and cartoonists

With fortitude the Spanish people endure the tribulation which the policy of non-intervention has brought upon them. But it would be sentimental folly to close our eyes to the fact that courage alone cannot prevent the passage of a mercenary army equipped with all that is best from the factories of Germany and Italy.

Death rains from the skies upon the civilians who flee before the advancing troops; and it rains because the Spanish people have no means of preventing it from so raining. Rebel troops enter Spanish towns because there are no weapons to bar their way.

ITS population, swollen by refugees who prefer the discomforts and near-starvation of Government Spain to the "Christian" nobility of Franco, central Spain still remains intact, beneath the leadership of Mija, its popular commander-in-chief.

Appeals to "save democracy" will avail nothing with the present rulers of Britain: it is not ideology but hard facts that might yet make the British Government see sense.

More and more people in this country—Tories, Service men, reactionaries and Imperialists—are coming to see the imminent peril of letting Franco win.

The sacred farce of "non-intervention" has brought the guns and aeroplanes of the dictators into positions of deadly danger to the democracies of Britain and France.

The French now have a third frontier to defend—the Pyrenees. Their communications with their African armies are threatened from Barcelona and Majorca. Their camps and industries in the south of their country have come within easy reach of totalitarian bombers operating from Spanish aerodromes.

AS for Britain and the Empire, a glance at the map indicates the tremendous threat to our communications: a Fascist regime in Spain must mean—both in the Mediterranean and even on the long sea route.

The safety of the British people is quite literally at stake in the Spanish struggle, and the British people are being forced by their Government to stand by impotently while that safety is destroyed.

Closing Down

"SAYS the Berliner Tageblatt . . . You won't see that in the news columns again, for the famed, much-quoted German newspaper has gone off the news stands in Berlin."

So the second best known newspaper in Germany ceases publication. Perhaps you have already forgotten the other one—Vorwärts, once, quoted throughout the world as the mouthpiece of German democratic opinion. Then Hitler came.

It was with Hitler, too, that there came really the end of the Berliner Tageblatt. Under its famous editor, Theodor Wolff, the newspaper was the champion of Liberalism in Germany, quoted nearly every day in Britain as the expression of opinion in the old German Republic.

In 1933 it ceased to be important and was brought into the line with the Nazi point of view. So the old newspapers go, others take their place. Most quoted now of the German newspapers are you know is the Volkischer Beobachter, because it is the official paper of the Nazi Party. Do you know who its first editor was? Adolf Hitler.

Next in importance now stands the angry Angriff, which is smartly written, but extravagant in tone and opinion. It is important because it is the mouthpiece of Dr. Josef Goebbels, Hitler's strident Minister of Propaganda.

In France there have been changes too, but there it is the newspapers which continue and the proprietors who change. Paris has about 40 newspapers, and of 30 of them you may say that nobody knows who is paying them to express the opinions they do.

In the United States we can recall two or three well-known names now among the dead, such as the World, the New York American, and the New York Herald.

Most quoted New York newspapers are now the Herald-Tribune and Times, both expressing balanced opinions on foreign affairs. But among the most widely read New York journals are the News and Mirror, small sized newspapers, ex-

Wonderful Response To National Service Call

100,000 VOLUNTEERS VISIT 5,000,000 HOUSES

Huge Evacuation Plan Now Ready To Be Put Into Operation

LONDON, Mar. 2. THE STORY OF the Government's measures for civil defence, begun yesterday by the Lord Privy Seal, was carried further to-day by the Minister of Health.

Continuing the adjourned House of Commons Debate, Mr. Walter Elliot gave details of plans for an emergency in respect of medical services, the casualty stations evacuation scheme, and other matters. He mentioned that 300,000 beds could, under arrangements already in existence, be made available for casualties within the present hospital system, and 200,000 of these would be available within the first 24 hours.

The Exchequer was undertaking the major part of the cost of the protection of hospitals, and first aid posts from blast and splinter.

Turning to the evacuation problem, the Minister explained on the provisional allocation, the total population of evacuable areas was about 11,000,000, spread over the London area and eighteen other large congested industrial cities and towns, while the total population of neutral areas was about 12,000,000. The total population of reception areas was about 16,000,000. Within evacuable areas the population of what might be called priority classes, for whose evacuation, plans were being prepared, represented something between 20 and 25 per cent, and their evacuation would therefore result in an average addition of something like 15 to 20 per cent, to the population of the reception areas.

WELL-ORGANISED PLAN

He controverted the idea that evacuation meant indiscriminate and unorganised movement of all sorts, sizes, and characters. The plan was an ordered evacuation of groups selected in advance, and selected because, both on national and humanitarian grounds, they would be better out of large and crowded cities. The evacuation movement was intended to be predominantly a movement of children. Priority classes were school children, young children, and mothers of young children.

A census of billeting possibilities in the reception areas, which was now nearly finished, had involved visits by 100,000 volunteers to 5,000,000 houses, and Mr. Elliot considered that enrolment of an army of volunteer helpers on such a scale at short notice was a great testimony to the spirit of national service. Returns so far to hand, showed a splendid response on the part of householders in the reception areas, who had shown a ready desire to help children who would be exposed to the serious effects of an air attack if left in the crowded areas of large cities.

Already he thought they might say that in two months, householders of the country, without any compulsion, had shown that the most difficult of the evacuation problems—that of the unaccompanied child—could be, and had been, solved. The survey and response already known, gave good grounds for believing there would be little, if any, need to appeal to the compulsory powers of billeting which the Government had announced they would assume in an emergency.

ECONOMIC CRISIS PREDICTED

Mr. Henry Morgenthau Warns Senate

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2. PREDICTING A "RECURRENCE of the international crisis" in the international monetary field during 1939, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Secretary to the Treasury, to-day urged the Senate Bank Committee to prolong the Government's $2,000,000,000 stabilisation funds as a weapon against the possibility of foreign currency devaluation.

He also asked for an extension of President Roosevelt's power to devalue the dollar if he deems it necessary.

The Republicans launched a concerted opposition to such extensions while Senator Glass heatedly opposed extension of the President's power to devalue the dollar, stating: "I am opposed to giving anyone the right of taking up on this course by further devaluation of currency."

Uttering a warning that "economic confusion and chaos may ensue" unless Governmental spending was reduced, Representative Pat Harrison to-day demanded congressional leaders to unite immediately to reduce federal expenditure by ten per cent. He said he would oppose the Government's proposals to raise the

PALESTINE PARLEYS

Arab Proposals Examined

LONDON, Mar. 2. A CLOSER EXAMINATION of the Arab counter-proposals indicates that far from being a compromise, they constitute a re-assertion of the original Arab demands at the opening of the talks, and there is little hope of their acceptance by the British Government.

Their practical effect would be to create immediately an independent State in Palestine, with an Arab majority in complete control.

The procedure suggested is that a constituent assembly, consisting of both Arabs and Jews proportionately to the population would elect a Government to take over immediate control of Palestine, and to draft a scheme for the election of a legislature in which the Arabs undoubtedly would have a majority.

It is proposed that the constitution should be drafted and adopted in Palestine by Arabs and Jews, and then probably submitted to the British Government, not for approval or amendment, but in connection with the Anglo-Palestine treaty, which it is hoped would follow the formation of an independent State in Palestine.

COUNTER-PROPOSALS

The counter-proposals constitute a rejection of the main British proposals for a round-table conference, which the Arabs regard as unnecessary and dilatory.

There is considerable interest in the attitude of the neighbouring Arab States, whose delegates actively participated in the drafting of the counter-proposals, but it is thought significant that none of them participated in the formal conference yesterday when the Palestine Arabs submitted the counter-proposals.—Reuter.

DETAILED DISCUSSION

LONDON, Mar. 2. Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Mr. R. A. Butler, and a small committee of Arab delegates comprising two Palestine delegates and representatives of all the other Arab delegations, met for an hour and a half this afternoon and began a detailed discussion of the British suggestions, which will be resumed on Saturday morning.

British circles emphasise that the Government's suggestions continue to be the basis for discussion with the Arabs, and they have undergone no modification. Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Butler had a talk in the Premier's room in the House of Commons this evening with Dr. Weizmann and Dengurion Wise. The meeting between the British and Jewish delegates and the British delegation, and to-morrow afternoon there will be a further informal talk between some of the Jewish delegates and the British delegation.

It is understood that Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Butler to-day had a conversation with Viscount Halifax preparatory to to-morrow's talk. The meeting between the British and Jewish delegates lasted about an hour, and well-informed circles state that the Jewish attitude to the British proposals remained unchanged, namely, that they cannot accept the British suggestions as a basis for discussion.

It is not known at present whether the Jews intend to submit counter-proposals, but if they do, it is believed the British Government will give them full consideration.

It is now stated that the White Paper embodying the MacDonald correspondence will be distributed on Saturday morning.—Reuter.

N. CHINA 'PUPPETS' SLAM SHUT THE OPEN DOOR

PEIPING, Mar. 2. THE PROVISIONAL Government to-day officially announced that imports and exports would be controlled from March 11, when the export of specified products only would be authorised by the Customs on production of an "Exchange selling certificate", showing that the necessary exchange at the rate of 1s. 2d. had been sold to the Central Reserve Bank.

This applies to goods going to Central and South China as well as to foreign countries except Japan and Manchukuo, when the rate would be paid dollar for yen.

The controlled merchandise is eggs, pig products, walnuts, ground nuts, ground nut oil, tobacco leaf, vermilion, coal, woollen carpets, cotton carpets, straw, bread, and salt. Cotton is not included, but this at present is controlled by Japanese regulations.

The new regulations will apply to all ports from Tsingtau northwards. A spokesman, when questioned, said that imports could be financed out of exchange gained from exports.—Reuter.

NORTH CHINA JOINS YEN BLOC

PEIPING, Mar. 3. North China is definitely joining the "Yen Bloc" with Japan and Manchukuo on March 10, this year, when the Provisional Government enforces its act to control foreign exchange business in North China. The old legal tender issued by the National Government is outlawed from North China on and after March 10, business in North China.—Domest.

JEWISH INTERNEES REVOLT

Hunger Strike In Dutch Concentration Camp

AMSTERDAM, Mar. 2.

CONFLICT BROKE out to-day between the inmates and management of a camp at Hoek Van Holland, where many Jews are interned, having entered Holland illegally.

The internees complained about the food, and demanded the privilege of having food brought from outside the camp.

When the management refused, some of the inmates went on a hunger-strike. The ringleaders were taken by the police to a fortress at Hoek Van Holland and are now confined there. It is understood that the authorities intend to take stronger action against the internees. In particular the camp will be more closely guarded to prevent the increasing attempts to escape.—Trans-Ocean.

Unemployed Demonstrate In Commons

LONDON, Mar. 2. A new unemployment demonstration occurred in London to-day, this time in the ante room at the House of Commons, where about 50 workless gained access to the building, and laid themselves upon the floor. Members of the House and visitors had to work their way around the demonstrators, or to step over them. Police detachments were immediately summoned and they cleared the room in a few minutes.—Trans-Ocean.

NINE EVENTS IN AN ATTRACTIVE BUT SHORTER PROGRAMME

(By "Captain Foster")

The Annual Race Meeting of the Hongkong Jockey Club will terminate to-morrow at Happy Valley. Racegoers are reminded that the first saddling bell will be rung at 1.30 p.m., instead of the usual eleven o'clock.

An attractive programme of nine races, including four handicap contests, will be presented to the public and chief interest will undoubtedly be centred on the two main events, the Professional Cup and Subscription Griffins' Handicap, and the Australian Ponies' Championships.

It is almost certain that a strong battalion of children will be turning out to-morrow and although they are permitted in either enclosure, they will only be admitted in the company of their parents. Attention of the public is drawn to the fact that no animals will be allowed. Kiddies are reminded that there are several nasty kickers among the Australian and China ponies and the Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club will not be responsible for any accidents. As a warning, boys and girls are asked to keep clear of all ponies that are adorned by a piece of red ribbon on the tail near the dock.

MR. EU'S SUCCESS

Congratulations are due to Mr. Eu Tong-sen for capturing the most classic event, the outstanding feature was the brilliant performance of Rose Elect, who annexed the triple crown namely, the Maiden Stakes, the Hongkong Derby and the Champion Stakes. This success was in certain measure, due to the fine handling of the chestnut mare by Mr. C. Encarnacao.

It was Mr. Eu Tong-sen's first Hongkong Derby.

It is also interesting to reveal that after two years of abortive attempts, Rose Evelyn eventually captured the Garrison Cup for the Singapore millionaire.

The most successful jockey at the Annual Meeting was Mr. C. Encarnacao, who is at the head of the list with nine wins, four seconds and a couple of thirds. Four track records were established and Mr. Encarnacao had the pleasure of piloting all the winners.

UNCHALLENGED

Owing to an attack of colic, Silky-light could not step in the ring to fight it out with Rose Elect in the Champion Stakes to decide whether "Miss Champion of the Carnival" was a better racer. It must have been a bitter blow to Mr. Eric Molter, the Shanghai owner of Silky-light.

The owners of Celtic Star had to share the spoils of the Sports Club and Hongkong Stakes with the owners of Marksman owing to the fact that the judges could not separate the two ponies after a distance of 1 1/2 miles. However, the spin of the coin gave the Sports Club Cup to the Kong Bros., owners of Celtic Star and I presume the twin brothers will also make use of the coin.

This was not the first occasion that owners had to toss for a trophy, for in 1935 Mr. F. E. Pearce's King's Jubilee and Mr. Eu Tong-sen's Rose Queen were locked together in the St. George's Plate and the latter called right in the spin.

FINAL CRICKET TEST COMMENCES TO-DAY: PLAY TO A FINISH

Durban, Mar. 2.

Eddie Paynter, the Lancashire left-hander, is fit again and has been included in the M.C.C. team to play South Africa to-morrow in the Fifth and Final Test. But Wilkinson, the young English slow bowler, has not completely recovered and has been dropped from the team.

At one time there was doubt about Paynter's fitness, following his retirement from the game against Natal with a pulled leg muscle, but after running round Kingsmead Ground several times to-day, he declared himself satisfied.

Wilkinson's omission may be due to the recent removal of a bolt on his bowling hand, which is still bandaged. Perkins, the Worcestershire bowler, has been included and will be playing in his first Test match of the present tour.

The teams, therefore, are as follows:

M.C.C.

W. R. Hammond (Capt.)
B. H. Valentine
P. A. Gibbs
K. Farnes
Edrich
Hutton
Paynter
Perks
Verity
Wright
Ames
Twelfth Man:—N. W. D. Yardley

E. G. Viljoen
E. A. Rovan
A. B. C. Langton
N. Gordon
E. S. Newson
E. E. Grieverson
A. D. Nourse
E. L. Dalton
P. G. Van Der Byl

There was a steady drizzle this morning thus preventing practice. It also rained yesterday, but the vice is protected.

The weather is dull at the moment, but shows indication of clearing up.

The first and second Tests were drawn, the third was won by the M.C.C. and the fourth was drawn. The fifth match will be played to a finish.—Reuter.

Chess Club Revises Its Rules

An extraordinary meeting of the Kowloon Chess Club was held at the Peninsula Hotel yesterday, in the course of which resolutions were passed that a revised form of rules and bye-laws be adopted and issued to the members in printed form; that the committee consider the holding of a ladder tournament; and that a vote of thanks be offered to the special sub-committee responsible for the revision of the rules and bye-laws. Thus sub-committee comprises Messrs. J. S. Smith, K. M. A. Burnett, and A. Kurrik.

The President of the Club, the Rev. G. E. S. Updell, was in the chair.

The Senior Championship of the Kowloon Chess Club is in its concluding stages, and D. E. de Carvalho is the winner with nine points out of a possible ten. A. Kurrik is second with 5 1/2 points, and the other participants in the tournament, who have not concluded their games, are B. D. Evans, F. B. White, M. Oxford, and P. E. Pogodin.

B. S. Litvin won the Club Junior Championship with 6 points out of a possible 8. J. R. Hill is second with 3 points, A. C. Mitchell third with 2 points, and F. A. Fabel fourth with one point.

"CAPTAIN FOSTER" GOES OVER PROSPECTS IN EACH RACE

The curtain raiser to-morrow will be the Nil Desperandum Stakes, over a mile, for non-winning China sub-griffins of this meeting that have started at least twice, and the Stewards of the Club will determine by lot in which section the ponies will start. At the time of writing I have not a list of the draw but my selections will appear to-morrow.

Attention of owners is drawn to the fact that the result of the draw does not relieve them of the responsibility of declaring their ponies as starters in the usual manner.

The weights for the Griffins Spring Handicap over a mile have not as yet been announced and in the circumstances I cannot discuss the prospects of any ponies. The conditions of this race are for Derby ponies that have started and have not won and it seems strange to say that only six ponies are barred from the list of 41 entries. They are Conqueror Time, Eve of Harvest, Eve of Heaven, Galaxy, Hyndford, Bridget, and Navylight. The owner of Blue Express and Rose Elect was so cocksure of the success of his ponies that they were not nominated for this handicap event. A good few nominations are ineligible owing to the fact that they did not weigh out, but from the list of non-winners it looks that we shall see a good contest.

The first leg of the "Daily Double" is on the Flemington Plate, confined to Australian ponies, over a scramble from the 1 1/2 mile post (about half mile 170 yards). Australian subscription griffins of this meeting, that have started and won, are ineligible and we shall therefore see a good tussle between the non-winners and those old timers classified as "C" class. I have my doubts as to whether the youngsters of this season will have a show in the scurry as we have a good number of speedy merchants such as a Great Time, Bredon, Macquaire River, Stratherrick and Violet Queen.

The best, in my estimation, is Bredon who will be ridden by the star short distance jockey, Mr. Proulx.

The Professional Cup and Subscription Griffins' Handicap over 1 1/4 miles will draw a good field, but we need not go very far to look for the winner. On his performance, Celtic Star, the property of Kong Bros., must pass the post first provided of course the jockey will not try another stunt of only making a run in the home stretch. It is reported that Musketeer is under a cloud, but I cannot get this confirmed and furthermore I do not think that the pony has a chance of turning the tables on Celtic Star over a distance trip. Orange Boven, with Mr. Encarnacao in the saddle, will no doubt give Celtic Star a good run and Marksman will be the other contender ridden by Mr. T. L. Wong. The Professional Cup is to be won two years in succession and the owner, Mr. S. W. Tang, of last season's winner (Louis XIV) has not entered. This means that the Law Society will be quite safe for another year.

There is no ban for winners in the Pinetown Handicap for "C" class China ponies and under. This race has attracted no less than 22 entries. The run is over a mile. The allotment of weights will be published by the time these notes appear and without seeing the list of handicaps I cannot find a pony to beat Tampa Day, the winner of Curragh Handicap, on the first day. He was run with a limit load of 103 lbs. and can be relied upon to let us have a carbon copy of his success. Rose Evelyn, if started, may prove a danger.

The penultimate event, the Australian Ponies' Championships, will be interesting as it has been represented to me on good authority that Triumphant Day will weigh out for the classic with the same jockey, Mr. B. L. Tao. With due respect to his triumph in the Roxy-Hill Derby, Triumphant Day is up against a tough proposition in Lucky Lad (Mr. V. V. Needa) and Lancashire Chips (Mr. D. Black) in the Australian champions. Lucky Lad has my vote.

The Happy Valley Spring Handicap is for China ponies that have started at this meeting and have not won, and the entries are to be divided into "A" and "B" divisions, at the discretion of the Handicapper, Mr. C. M. Alves. With no data available, I cannot therefore make any comments.

Farr To Meet "Red" Burman In London

London, Mar. 2.

Tommy Farr, the Welsh heavyweight boxer and one-time British heavyweight champion, has signed a contract to fight the American, "Red" Burman, in London during April.

The date is likely to be April 13 or 20.

It will be recalled that Burman beat Farr on points recently, the verdict being disputed by Farr and his manager.—Reuter.

Rugby Volunteers To Play The Army

There will be two games of Rugby Football on the Hongkong F.C. ground at Happy Valley on Saturday, March 4. At 3 p.m. a Club side will play H.M.S. Birmingham, and this game will be followed at 4.15 by one between the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps and the Army.

Club and Volunteer sides have been selected as follows:—
Hongkong F.C.—M. W. MacGrath; C. J. Powell, H. D. Bidwell (captain); G. S. Wilson, H. van Leeuwen; J. Hutchison, R. Rutherford; E. W. Stout, J. F. Burford, K. A. Watson, C. M. Stark, O. A. Searle, W. B. Richardson, K. H. G. White and H. W. E. Heath.

H.K.V.D.C.—J. G. Day; G. K. Clindwick, M. G. Carruthers, W. E. Grieve (captain); D. H. Stewart; A. H. R. Butcher, E. Tavernier; W. E. Peers, K. W. Satter, J. S. Dunnett, E. A. Bompas, A. F. Walkden, A. G. Dalziel, G. M. Marris and J. Redman.

Seven-a-Side Tournament
The Rugby Football season will close next week with the annual Seven-a-Side Tournament organised by the Club, part proceeds of which are donated to local Service and Civilian charities. Sixteen teams have entered, and preliminary rounds will be played off on Monday and Wednesday, leaving four quarter-final games, two semi-finals and the final to be decided on Saturday, March 11. The game will commence at 4.30 p.m., whilst Saturday's play will

KOWLOON C. C. TEAMS

1st XI (home)—F. Goodwin (Capt.), D. J. M. Broadbridge, G. C. Baxter, R. T. Pearce, W. L. McKenna, E. C. Fincher, E. F. Fincher, S. V. Gittins, R. E. Lee, N. A. E. Mackay and G. A. White. Umpire, J. P. Robinson.

2nd XI (away)—W. Mulcahy, R. Baldwin, F. A. Broadbridge, G. A. Goodban, S. A. Gray, B. D. Lay, J. R. Luke, T. A. Mador, W. L. McKenna, R. A. J. Simpson and G. E. Taylor. Umpire, H. Brokenshire.

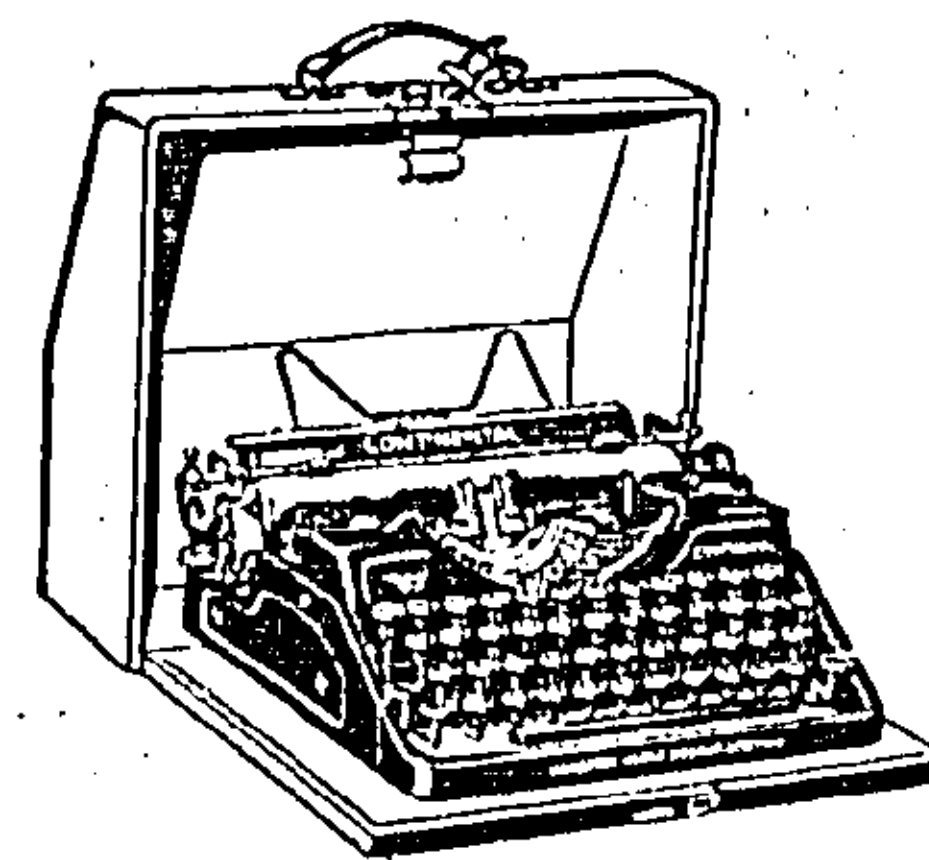

start at 3 p.m. Admission to all stands on Monday and Wednesday will be 50 cents, and on Saturday the charge for the centre of the Covered Stand will be $1 with the remainder at 50 cents. Service men in uniform will be admitted at half-price.

Seven-a-Side football is a lively, fast and open game, giving spectators plenty of thrills throughout. This year's entries are fairly well matched, and some close games will be seen. The Police have entered a strong "A" team, which stands a good chance of winning the Tournament, but they will have stern opposition from the Fort St. J. R. Henderson position from the Army Seven-a-Side winners of the Army Seven-a-Side Tournament, and the Hongkong Bank team. Many Club players are turning out for Hong and the Police sides, and their "A" seven is in consequence rather weaker than in previous years. They also have the disadvantage of being without a regular scrum-half, as J. R. Henderson injured himself in last Saturday's game and will not be playing any more rugby this season.

The draw for the Tournament will be published to-morrow.

Australia Looking Ahead To The Tests

HEAVY SCORING IN MOST OF MATCHES PLAYED THUS FAR

The Inter-State matches played so far this summer in Australia have been generally of a heavy scoring nature, and while this might suggest a bowling weakness, the greater responsibility must be carried by the run of perfect wickets, which, in Adelaide, Melbourne, and Brisbane, have been of a slow and easy character, absolutely heart-breaking to bowlers of all classes.

In Sydney, however, a most extraordinary wicket prevailed, in that it became better and better as the match progressed, when Queensland and New South Wales fought a low-scoring match, writes C. G. Macartney in the Observer. Some months ago the wicket of the centre square at the Sydney Cricket Ground was ploughed up, and new soil laid; and on the first day on which a match was played on it the new wicket absolutely favoured the bowlers.

There was no malice in the pitch, however, although an occasional ball rose higher than usual, while in the match against N.S.W. it again, an odd one flew low. But it was responsive to spin—an ideal wicket on which to bring the bowler on even terms with the batsman.

But as time goes on, with the attention usually given to it, the pitches on this ground will vie with those heart-breaking sections of turf in the other States, and again become as those which have hitherto prevailed in Sydney.

The wicket on the first day of this recent match reminded me very vividly of the pitch at Leeds, where the Fourth Test was played last July. If we could only depend on wickets of this quality and state of preparation for Test matches, not only in Australia, but everywhere, there would be no need for suggestions as to extension of time for Test matches.

Spin bowlers would quickly answer the question as to whether four days were sufficient or not.

A QUEENSLAND FIND

Through the season here so far, three new bowlers of varying promise have appeared, who may do duty for Australia in the future. It has been said that Australia usually waits for something to crop up in the bowling line, and while there is a certain amount of truth in that statement I feel convinced that in one case at least, a bowler has appeared who will grace the Australian eleven, provided he receives the proper encouragement.

He is a bowler who came from an overseas of so-called instruction. Queensland has given us in C. Christ (pronounced Krist) a medium-slow left-hander, who seems to be one of the best propositions I have seen for some time in the prevailing wickets in Australia.

His resemblance to P. M. Hornibrook, also of Queensland, and who was a member of the 1930 Australian team to England, is most marked. He is built on the same tall and slender lines, while the similarity in the run to the crease, and the delivery, is so great as to make one think that he is a twin brother.

SUCCESSOR TO WHITE

Now that E. S. White, a member of the 1930 Australian team to England, has retired from first-class cricket, Christ is his logical successor. But he is a better bowler than White, and would be much more effective unit in an attack. The Queenslanders are not a batsman of quality, although he is said to meet with reasonable success in Brisbane club matches, but he is a reliable fieldman. One can foresee the future, but I see in this bowler a distinct "and," and one who will improve as he gains experience.

Another bowler Queensland has brought into prominence this summer is right-hand fast, is not more than just over fast-medium.

STUDY YOUR BACK VIEW

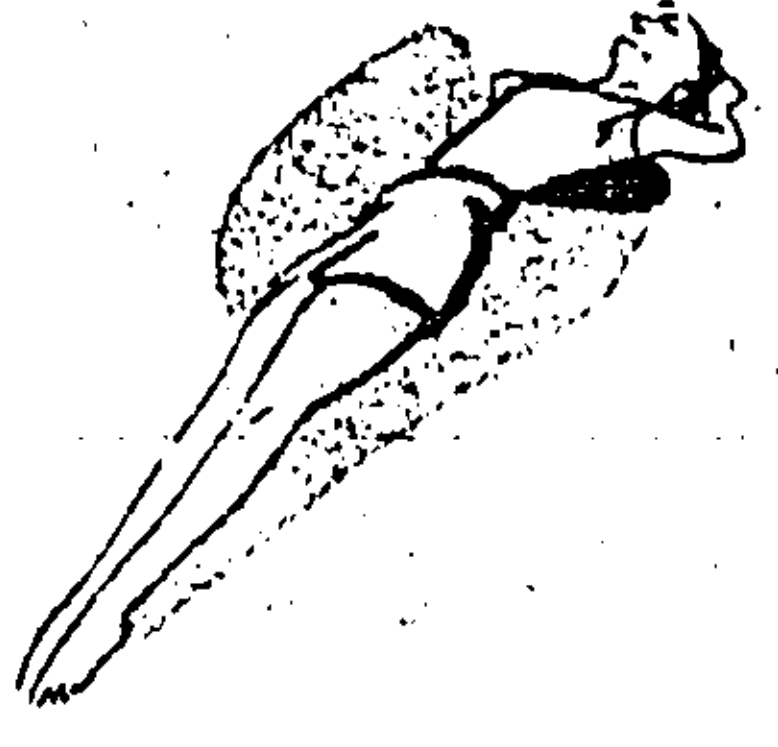

The mirror mostly shows you a smiling face—but the new evening dresses put backs to the fore

DO you give as much thought to beautifying your poor back as you do to making up your face? Unless you're one of the notable exceptions, you don't. Yet bare back beauty is easy if you're prepared to exert a little patience, spend a little time.

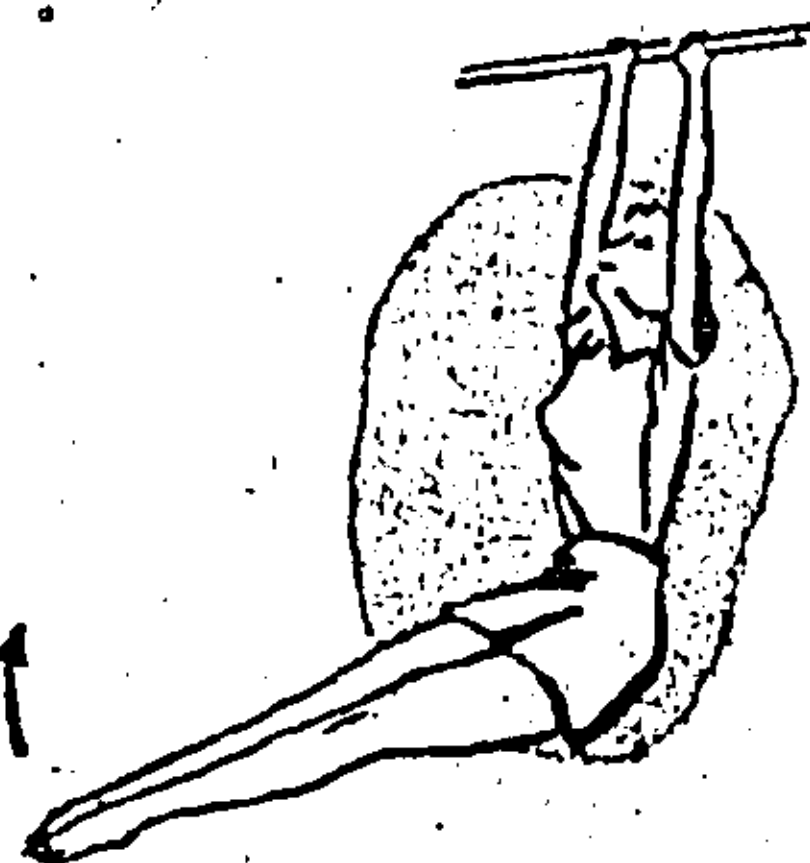

The back in the photograph is lovely because it is neither too podgy nor too muscular, the shoulders are broad, the shoulder blades are well covered, the skin is smooth and satiny and it is a uniform tone all over. That's the ideal to make for. Try out these hints and see how you do.

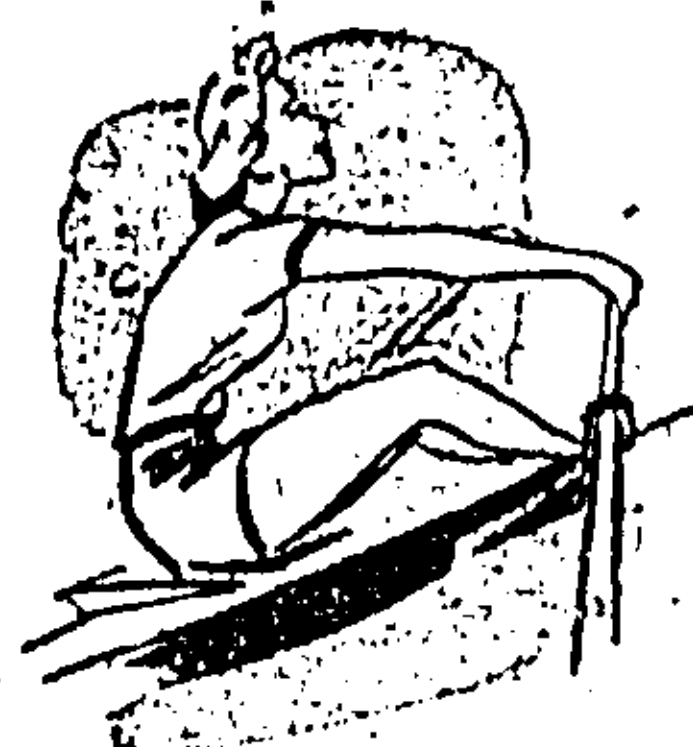

One of the first rules to follow when you want to acquire a lovely back is to sleep flat on a fairly hard mattress, without either a bolster or pillow.

To correct a round back and protruding shoulder-blades, lie stretched out on your back on the floor for a quarter of an hour a day, and slip between your body and the ground—under your armpits—a sausage-shaped pillow.

Instead of doing your "daily dozen" lying on the ground, do them hanging from a bar, which your local carpenter can fix up in your bedroom. Excellent for your back muscles—and you'll be doing your "tummy" muscles some good, too.

If you have protruding shoulder-blades you're sure to be round-chested, too. Insufficient breathing is the chief reason for these two figure faults. Practice breathing exercises regularly, and go in for outdoor sports.

If you're ashamed of the size of your seat, give yourself a sort of vibro-massage every day by wriggling along the floor on your back, legs stretched out in front of you. The picture shows you how.

As well as exercising your back, you must take special care to keep the skin always clean and smooth . . . and therefore youthful. Stimulate it with a brisk rub with a dry loofah after your bath.

Footwear Fashions

TWO popular new colours in footwear will be wine and shades of violet.

Very attractive too is marine blue, which tones with many outfits. In fact all shades of blue will be fashionable for footwear during the coming months.

Another useful and quite attractive colour is Cotswold grey, as it acts as a foil to brightly coloured dresses and suits. It is really a much more attractive colour than the name implies.

Shoes modelled on the sandal style will combine two colours such as sunshine yellow and white, or a deep rose and white.

Advance news of styles show that a high cut guest court shoe, with a cut-out design on the front will be popular. Some have rosettes and swathed trimmings—delightfully feminine touches. The shoes will also be very strongly favoured.

Watch your heels—it is this part of your shoes which will denote whether you are really up-to-date.

What is called the new Dutch Boy heel has appeared. It is comfortable, and is usually featured in suede walking shoes.

Heels, generally speaking, will be lower and larger, and altogether very much more comfortable for women who find it difficult to walk comfortably in the old type of spindle heels.

And by-the-way there will be fewer all-white shoes during the coming seasons; instead we shall have white combined with bright colours. Finally, for warmer days there are wooden soled shoes.

URBAN COUNCIL

Routine Business At Regular Meeting

At a meeting of the Urban Council yesterday, correspondence relative to the appointment of the officers to act under Ordinance 8 of 1935 (section 2), and to act as Food Officers under Ordinance 13 of 1935 (section 2) was considered.

An application for an eating house licence for No. 452, Prince Edward Road, ground floor, was refused.

Those present at the meeting were Mr. R. B. Todd, Chairman, Mr. F. C. Hall, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, M.A.S., Dr. S. N. Chau, Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, and Mr. A. el Arculli.

Licences granted by the Urban Council between February 14 and March 1, were 12 in number.

Upper left—A ready prepared shampoo combining an olive oil treatment with a thorough cleansing is easy for the child to use.
Upper right—A simply tailored bow and loose brushed-in curls supply the "party touch" every young girl loves.

For the Soviet speak Izvestia and Pravda, both voicing merely official opinions—no others allowed, following the German and Italian pattern.

Italy, as a nation, of course, speaks with one voice, although through many well-known newspapers. It issues from the mild, charming, and amiable Virginio Gayda—in the Giornale d'Italia—always quoted as the mouthpiece of Mussolini. Which he is.

Italy, however, has another voice, not directed by Mussolini. It is called L'Osservatore Romano. That is the voice of the Pope—from Vatican City.

Take it that what these newspapers say is what—within limits—the countries that read them think.

The western quarter of the island is to-day celebrating the marriage of the Emperor of China in great style. At the Man Mo Temple and elsewhere arches have been erected, lighted with numerous lamps, and decked with flowers, images, &c., whilst in every street thousands of crackers have been going off all day.

Mr. Chamberlain delivered a speech on the federation question. He admitted that the federation of the Empire was not beyond the reach of statesmen, and would be the first step towards perfecting the means of mutual defence. If it was understood that any insult or attack upon any other member of the federation should be resisted by all, it would tend to greater security and the maintenance of peace than all the arms and forts now supporting the Empire.

Shanghai Explosion

Four Japanese Killed And Two Injured

Shanghai, Mar. 2.
The Japanese press to-day reports that four Japanese were killed and two others seriously wounded in the explosion of a Japanese ship in the harbor of Shanghai, five miles north of the city.
Six Japanese adults and two children were touring the battlefields when a 15-year-old Hiroshi Tshikawa picked up an explosive missile of an undetermined type which exploded when he threw it on the ground after examining it. Some people who happened to pass by saw an unusual volume of black smoke, and when they came near they saw the victims on the ground with gaping wounds.
Japanese naval men arrived later and rushed the victims to Foomin Hospital where three died, in addition to one killed on the spot.
It is believed that the missile was a trench mortar shell or hand grenade.—United Press.

THREE DEAD PIGS

Two Men Fined for Having Possession of Carcasses

Two men, Tsang Yuen, 30, and Chan Chai, 31, were charged separately before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday with unlawful possession of dead pigs. Both men were fined $100, or two months' hard labour.
Tsang was arrested in Argyle Street when carrying three dead pigs. Sanitary Inspector Frost said Tsang stated that he had been employed to carry the pigs to an address in Portland Street from the pig pen at Yau-matli Railway Station.
Inspector Frost: "I saw the carcasses of the three pigs and formed the opinion that they had died as the result of disease."
Chan Chai was arrested when his house in 257 Portland Street was raided. One dead pig was found on the premises.

Peace Time Budget Record

LONDON, Mar. 2.
SIR JOHN SIMON, the Chancellor of the Exchequer will be faced with an unprecedented peace-time total expenditure exceeding £1,250,000,000 to be found in the coming year when he introduces the budget next month.

As the Government has decided to raise £350,000,000 of the sum under the Defence Loans Act, the amount for which the taxpayers will be responsible will be reduced to something over £900,000,000, or, in all probability, rather less than the total ordinary expenditure for the current year, which is estimated at £945,000,000.

For this reason, it is regarded as certain that there will be

London, Mar. 2.
There were an unusually large number of questions on the House of Commons order paper to-day. Moreover, comment was occasioned by the fact that out of the 100 questions down for answer, 109 were addressed to the Minister of Labour. When Mr. Ernest Brown rose to answer the first question, he was greeted with humorous cheers.—British Wireless.

income-tax increase in 1939.
With the Royal Air Force estimates published to-day, the total for the fighting services has reached £516,000,000, but the total for defence services, including civil defence for the coming year is estimated in a White Paper on defence at £580,000,000.

Civil expenditure totals £535,000,000, or about £445,000,000 after half-balancing items have been excluded, while an additional £10,000,000 may be required for supplementary civil estimates.

If to this is added debt charges, which may total £230,000,000, the total budget of £1,265,000,000 is reached.—Reuter.
